SINCLAIR MUST GO TO JAIL

Today

Prosperity and People. Airplanes and Our Blessings. Better Life for R. R. Men. One Horse Saves 500.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

START the working week in a thankful mood, even though call money may cost you 30 per cent before you know where you are.

Everything is going well with this fine country. Truly, "he hath not dealt so with any nation, and as for his judgments they have not known them. Praise ye the Lord."

ON THE radio, by courtesy of Mr. Hill, and of the American Tobacco Company, you frequently hear the song, "I'm a Lucky Boy."

Uncle Sam might make that his national anthem.

THIS country's population is growing at the rate of 1,400,000 a year, one new American every twenty-three seconds. Our population has doubled since 1890.

NEW YORK CITY will have, in its metropolitan area, 30,000,000 population before 1950.

Wealth is accumulating, in a way to make Croesus feel like a gypsy.

We should be grateful, and prepared to defend what we have.

IF YOU think the native born are better than others, which is not so, note that of 1,400,000 each year, 1,150,000 are born here.

Not even the Federal Reserve Board can hold back a nation such as this.

AMERICANS are beginning to own the outside world. Before the war, Britain controlled some of our railroads. Now Americans own more than fifteen billions of foreign securities. In South America before the war, American investments amounted to one hundred millions. Now they have risen to twenty-five hundred millions.

Uncle Sam is rich. When everybody owes you billions, you should invest a billion or two in national safety.

IT IS good news that more than 700 airplanes will be added to the national fleet this coming year, at a cost of $30,000,000. Money could not be better spent.

OUR Canadian friends, by the way, are included among "Americans" that know how to invest in good securities.

The biggest stockholder of record in the American Telegraph and Telephone Company is Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada. If you do not think that is wise investing, you're mistaken.

THE Cheshire cat, in the "Alice" story, gradually disappeared, until only the smile was left.

Railroad owners fear that railroad labor is tending in the same direction, soon to disp[illegible] all except the payroll.

UNIONS demand a six-hour day and a five-day week.

There are limits to the speed of progress, you can not go up stairs a whole flight at a time.

But the suggestion of the union, which shocks railroad owners now, will be reality before long, if prosperity continues.

THE five-day week, giving men a day in which to spend what they earn, is a good idea. Some big industries are testing it satisfactorily.

Our wealth is small outside of what the workers earn and the factories produce.

Sixty billions is the annual payroll, fifteen billions more than it costs the workers to live. That surplus of $15,000,000,000 requires careful attention for the good of the country.

Five days to work, one day to spend and enjoy, with Sunday to do as you please, would be a good American program.

RAILROAD workers say they are entitled to part of the extra profit from improved machinery, and that is true. Last Wednesday, the Baltimore and Ohio locomotive, President Pierce, broke the record, hauling a fast passenger train 786 miles from Chicago to Washington. Four engines, in relays, are needed for that run ordinarily. Until three years ago, five were needed.

MEN should earn more and have more leisure when the machinery they manage produces more. A woman running a sewing machine should get better pay than her grandmother, who pushed a needle and thread.

Besides, the more the workers get, the greater general prosperity. Let powerful men remember that for their comfort. If they doubt it, let them try to accumulate a billion dollars in China, where men work for 25 cents a day.

THE steel industry expects its biggest year in 1929. And copper men are cheerful, with copper at 24 cents a pound.

That will cost the big power concerns alone $25,000,000 a year extra, for the increase in cost of raw copper.

COTTON is lower. Perhaps disorganized cotton growers might learn from well organized copper men.

Without organization, not much is accomplished in modern business.

NEW YORK, trying to wipe out diphtheria, employs many horses, producing protective antitoxins. That marvelous efficiency saves children from horrible deaths and mothers from dreadful suffering.

ONE horse produces every week enough serum to protect 500 children, and scientific treatment enables the horse to absorb for serum purposes enough of the diphtheria poisons to kill 12 horses ordinarily.

THERE are, doubtless, kind hearted persons that object to this use of horses and would prefer that thousands of children take their chances.

Such individuals count for little. Especially as the horses do not suffer or object.

RACKETEER CASES PUT OFF AGAIN

Trials of two alleged racketeers were postponed today, in one case because important witnesses were missing and in the other because the defendant failed to appear.

In Federal Court Judge Nelson McVicar granted a postponement until Thursday in the case against Joseph Engelsberg, Hill politician, charged with conspiracy to violate the liquor laws, on the plea of government attorneys that two prosecution witnesses had disappeared.

Engelsberg is accused of conspiring with Charles Berger to violate the liquor laws by the sale, manufacture and possession of liquor from November 8, 1925, until December 31, 1927.

Engelsberg is the only defendant. Berger was released from the government penitentiary at Atlanta recently, where he had been serving a sentence for another liquor violation.

The trial of William Hanson, alleged slot machine racketeer, which was scheduled for Criminal Court was postponed until next week.

Hanson, reputed to have amassed a fortune in the same racket in which the missing Alfred W. Forney is alleged to have grown wealthy, is being held up on a motor trip from Florida by southern floods, according to Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, who asked Judge James H. Gray for the postponement.

Hanson is charged with maintaining gambling devices. The address with which he is identified in the court papers—128 Ormsby avenue—is that of a lodge.

HEAT RECORDS SHATTERED

Slightly cooler temperatures prevailed this morning after the record breaking day of real summer weather which visited Pittsburgh yesterday.

The high temperature of 83.2 degrees yesterday broke the record for this date here and also shattered records in New York, Boston, Washington, Philadelphia and Harrisburg.

The previous record in Pittsburgh was 80 degrees in 1922, 1893 and 1921. Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman predicted light thunder showers to reach here before nightfall

ELOPES TO WHEELING

MRS. HARRY DANGERFIELD, JR.

Elizabeth A. Keeble, 21, 424 South Lang avenue, former student in Carnegie Tech art school who eloped to Wheeling, W. Va., and married the 20-year-old student son of the secretary of Reymer and Brothers following a three-year school romance.

FIND NEWSGIRL SLAIN IN CREEK

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 8.—(AP.)—A country school principal's search for wild flowers resulted yesterday in discovery of the body of Edith Mae Dierdorf, 10-year-old West Terre Haute newsgirl who disappeared January 27.

Lodged against a log in Busseron Creek near Paxton, Ind., hands and feet wired together and a deep hole in the top of the head, the body was found by Nimrod Slaven, Pleasantville (Ind.) school principal who with his wife and four children was picking spring wild flowers in the woods.

SHERIFF SWIMS TO BODY

The body was too far out in the creek for Slaven to reach but Deputy Sheriff H. H. Harvey whom he called to the scene, swam out and retrieved it.

It was taken to Sullivan where Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dierdorf, parents of the girl, identified it as their daughter's from a cignet ring, shoes and a striped coat.

ONLY ONE CLUE

From the date of Edith Mae's disappearance until yesterday, just 10 weeks later, but one clue to her fate had been uncovered. That was the finding near a highway bridge over Busseron Creek of the girl's newspaper bag, blood-clotted and with hairs adhering to the cloth. It was about six miles from this bridge that the body was found today.

Officers expressed belief the girl had been murdered and tossed from the bridge into the creek which was flood-swollen at the time of her disappearance.

STORY OF SLAIN GIRL UNTRUE

The report of a crime that would have attracted national attention was furnished George W. Morren, chief of county detectives.

It had one weakness: it wasn't true.

The body of a 15-year-old girl was supposed to have been discovered in a potato sack a few feet off the McKeesport-Pittsburgh road near Bettis Field. Joseph Simon, 15, of Port Vue, was supposed to have seen it.

County detectives investigated Joseph's story and charged the case to imagination.

Pilot for Wilkins Awarded Air Trophy

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP.)—Carl B. Eielson, who piloted the plane in which Capt. Hubert Wilkins flew across the polar regions from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, received from President Hoover today the Harmon trophy, awarded annually for outstanding feats of aviation.

The trophy was first awarded to Shirley Short, of the air mail service, and last year it was given to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Auto Leaps Bank, 2 Die, 2 Injured

IRONTON, O., April 8.—(AP.)—Fred Hill, 35, and Mrs. Minnie Pennington, 56, both of Pine Grove, O., near here, were killed yesterday when their automobile ran down a 20-foot embankment on the New Castle Pike, just outside the city limits.

BOY, 3, FALLS TO DEATH UNDER UNCLE'S TRUCK

Playtime for 3-year-old Bobbie McIntyre ended today under the wheels of his uncle's truck. All time ended for him a few minutes later in his mother's arms.

They tell of him that a year ago he fell off an ice truck and suffered a bruised face.

As recently as last Saturday he fell off another truck.

Bobbie was in an alley in the rear of his home at Heidelberg today when he saw his uncle, Edward McIntyre, of Carnegie, starting his milk truck.

Bobbie, it seems, jumped onto the running board as the auto moved into reverse. The sudden jar threw the child under the front wheels.

The uncle was arrested pending the coroner's inquest.

Bobbie was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James McIntyre. There are two other McIntyre children, James, 5, and a baby, two months.

ELOPERS WEDDED IN W. VA.

Parental forgiveness was freely extended today to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dangerfield, Jr., on their return to Pittsburgh from an adventurous week-end elopement to West Virginia.

Dangerfield, 20, is a son of Harry Dangerfield, 1046 South Negley avenue, secretary and treasurer of Reymer & Brothers, and until a few days ago attended Arnold School. The bride, former Tech art student, was Miss Elizabeth Allen Keeble. She is 21 and is the daughter of Mrs. Donald G. Keeble, of 424 South Lang avenue.

CAMPUS ROMANCE

Apple blossoms, balmy breezes and caroling birds, with their proverbially provocative effect on young people's hearts, sent the pair to Gretna Green Saturday. But their's was no sudden romance, it was explained today, and the opposition of their families to the marriage was based on nothing but their youth. They had been engaged for some time, and the engagement had the approval of the parents.

The elder Dangerfield desired that the son complete his school work before marrying. The bride's mother thought, too, that it would be well to wait.

But the impetuous pair thought otherwise. The influence of spring was not to be resisted. Without consulting their elders they went to Wheeling, outwitting Dangerfield, Sr., who, it is reported, learning of their intention, surmised they would go to Wellsburg and notified officers there to watch for them and prevent the wedding.

MOTHER FORGIVING

If the parents were nettled over the elopment, they did not harbor resentment long. Mrs. Keeble said, smilingly:

"They will be at our home for dinner tonight. They are young, but with a little help I think they will be able to work things out. They are going to live at 5220 Ellsworth avenue, where they have rented rooms."

There were none but servants at the Dangerfield home today, but they hinted that the bridegroom had been there early this morning.

Germany's President Recovers From Grip

BERLIN, April 8.—(INS.)—President von Hindenburg has completely recovered from his recent attacks of grip and stomach trouble, it was stated at his office today.

The aged President of Germany remains confined to his room, however, as a precautionary measure.

Strengthened

FRANK S. COCHEU

Brig. Gen. Cocheu, who led Western Pennsylvania's 319th Infantry in the World War, is in command now at Naco, Ariz. He has received reinforcement, and U. S. planes there have been ordered to bring down Mexican planes flying over U. S. territory. He attended a soldiers reunion here last fall.

CARNEGIE PARTNER'S SON DIES

Son of the man who started Andrew Carnegie on his career to millions as world's greatest steelmaster, Anthony :. Kloman, 79, was found dead, almost penniless, today, in a rooming house at 8 Fernando street.

His father, Andrew Kloman, was Carnegie's first partner in the steel industry, the firm being known as Carnegie, Kloman & Co. The two quarreled, according to the story that has been handed down by Carnegie's early associates. Kloman broke away from his alliance with Carnegie and started in business for himself, but the venture failed after his death.

LIVED SECLUDED

The aged man had lived a secluded life at the rooming house for about a year, Mr. and Mrs. John Vandergrift, who conducted the place, told Deputy Coroner W. M. Jackson. He had been suffering from asthma and this was believed to have caused his death.

At the morgue the body was identified by C. A. Kloman, of 99 South Harrison avenue, Bellevue, son of the dead man. He told morgue attaches his father at one time had been a mechanical engineer in Carnegie Steel Company blast furnaces.

Police Lieutenant Hugh Lavery reported that he found a letter among the aged man's effects showing that he recently had been granted a pension by Mrs. Carnegie, widow of the steelmaster, of $50 a month, through Attorney John F. Tim.

PATENTED ROLLER

This pension had enabled the aged man to emerge from dire circumstances and take a room in the Hill district. For many years he had stayed at the old St. Charles hotel, Third avenue and Wood street. When that hostelry closed he was virtually without a home, until Mrs. Carnegie came to his aid.

Anthony Kloman, in his earlier years, was known as an inventor of steel processes. He patented the first universal steel rolling mill and aided in erecting steel plants here and in the South. The former Kloman mill, in the Manchester district, rolled the bars and steel work of Western Penitentiary.

Kloman was a close friend of Mark Hanna, an Ohio political and industrial leader of 30 years ago.

DETROIT, April 8.—(AP.)—James Frederick Smith, 9-year-old adopted son of the late Mrs. Hattie B. Smith, became heir to $2,000,000 through a decision handed down today by Judge Arthur Webster, of Circuit Court.

Mrs. Smith's will left her estate of $3,000,000 to the adopted boy, but it was contested by relatives, including Mrs. Sarah E. Smith, aged mother of the late James W. Smith, pioneer truck body operator and husband of Hattie B. Smith.

GOLDIE DOBOSH

GIRL WINS SUIT FOR $10,000

Goldie Dobosh, 20, a student at California (Pa.) State Teachers' College, won a verdict of $10,000 and her father Stephen Dobosh, of Monessen, was awarded $2,500 against the Bell Telephone Company in Common Pleas Court today.

The jury felt that Goldie was entitled to such damages for the broken leg she suffered when she was struck by a wheel from a Bell truck in Speers, Washington County, in 1926. The truck had collided with a railroad train and the wheel hurled against the girl, who was standing nearby, according to testimony. Attorney W. L. Jacob represented Miss Dobosh.

NEW AIR MAIL SCHEDULE DELAYS PROTESTED HERE

Under the recently announced schedule for night air mail flights between Cleveland and Pittsburgh, postal matter mailed here and intended for points east and west on the transcontinental airways would be delayed 24 hours at Cleveland, it was revealed here today.

A revision in the schedule announced by the Postoffice Department at Washington last Thursday has been asked by local postal officials, and business interests here have termed the proposed service "disappointing and unsatisfactory."

The schedule, originally intended to be put into effect May 1, provides that planes leave here at midnight, arriving in Cleveland at 1:30 a. m., which would be an hour and a quarter after the departure of through east and west transcontinental planes.

The revision asked in this schedule would permit the departure of the northbound airmail at 10:30 p. m., arriving in Cleveland at midnight.

The southbound flight, scheduled to leave at 12:15 under last week's announcement, would not leave Cleveland until 3 a. m., if the revision is granted. Uninterrupted service would be had from Albany, Schenectady, Utica, Rochester, Syracuse and Buffalo on the New York state feeder lines and through east and west deliveries connecting large cities on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Southbound mail would arrive here at 4:30 a. m. and would be ready for distribution in the first morning delivery, according to local officials.

OIL BARON LOSES IN APPEAL

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS.) — Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil magnate and central figure in a number of trials growing out of the Teapot Dome oil lease, must serve 90 days in jail and pay a fine of $500 for contempt of the United States Senate in refusing to answer questions propounded to him five years ago, the U. S. Supreme Court decided today.

Unless the wealthy oil man's expensive battery of legal talent can perform a legal miracle, there seems no escape for Sinclair from serving this three-months' sentence, in view of today's decision.

ANOTHER PENDING

This is the first one of Sinclair's convictions upheld. There is another now pending before the Supreme Court against Sinclair, growing out of the jury-shadowing in his conspiracy trial with ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall some months ago. That contempt sentence is for six months.

The assumption is that Sinclair will have to serve his 90 days in the District of Columbia jail, inasmuch as the contempt of the Senate for which he was convicted took place here.

The indictment grew out of a session of the Senate Public Lands Committee on March 22, 1924. Sinclair declined to answer any questions on advice of counsel.

CLAIMED POWER ABUSE

He contended in the trial that the Senate committee was abusing its power to compel testimony to aid in legislation, and was engaged in a judicial inquiry to obtain evidence for use in criminal cases.

Sinclair at that time was under fire for the Teapot Dome oil lease.

Justice Butler delivered the court's opinion. He reviewed the entire history of the "oil scandal" cases and to the court's action in

NEWYORK BEATS 7-CENT FARE

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(INS.)—The City of New York and its transit commission today won the fight in the Supreme Court to halt a 7-cent fare on subway and elevated lines of the Inter-Borough Rapid Transit Company.

Justice McReynolds delivered the opinion of the court.

The decision followed an appeal from the order of a three-judge Federal Court in New York, which issued an injunction prohibiting the city authorities or transit commission from interfering wth the company's proposed increase from 5 to 7 cents pending a final hearing in the case.

In an extraordinary proceeding the Supreme Court some weeks ago issued a stay of the 7-cent order pending a final decision.

Sen. Allen Visits Hoover and Curtis

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP.)—Henry J. Allen, newly appointed senator from Kansas, to succeed Vice President Curtis, called today upon President Hoover and the Vice President. Although Mr. Allen and Mr. Curtis were political foes in Kansas, both described the meeting today as "most enjoyable." "Mr. Allen called to pay his respects and the meeting was most enjoyable," said the Vice President.

WOMAN KILLED AS CAR OVERTURNS AFTER COLLISION

TUBE PLANS IN COUNCIL TODAY

President James F. Malone of City Council late this afternoon was to present plans to Council for a downtown subway, which would extend under Grant street and eastwardly under Penn avenue to a point west of Twenty-seventh street. The plan is worked out in connection with the plans of the Pennsylvania Railroad for its new passenger terminal.

President Malone was also expected to offer a resolution which will empower a special committee appointed some time ago, to confer with the City Transit Commission and the City Planning commission, relative to obtaining their approval of the plans. Although representatives of the three bodies have indorsed the plans, no official action has yet been taken by these organizations. The resolution will also instruct the committee to confer with the Pittsburgh Railways Company to learn the company's attitude to such a tube.

The subway would have entrances at Grant street and Water street to receive the present surface car traffic. There would be an underground oval at Liberty avenue and Grant street. The Penn avenue cars would enter at Twenty-seventh street and also turn at the oval.

A. F. L. TO WAR ON KIDNAPERS

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., April 8.—(AP.)—The influence of the American Federation of Labor and all its allied organizations was pledged yesterday by William Green, president of the federation, to the prosecution of alleged kidnapers of two labor organizers who charge several Elizabethton citizens with forcing them to leave town. Green's promise was made in a speech to more than 3,500 persons.

Six Elizabethton business men have been charged with felonious assault in connection with the incidents.

"They will be prosecuted to the fullest extent in criminal and civil courts," the labor leader said while the crowd cheered.

Workers from nearby Rayon plants packed the auditorium, many only recently returned to their jobs after a brief strike which was the reason for the organizers' presence here.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 8.—(AP.)—More than 5,000 mill employes were on strike in five textile centers of the Carolinas today and the threat of additional walkouts hung over this section.

Walkouts have taken place during the last 10 days at Greenville, Union Woodruff, Gastornia and Anderson, all in South Carolina. All the strikes were in protest against the multiple-weave or "stretch-out" system installed for the purpose of increasing efficiency.

RENEW BATTLE TO OUST LONG

BATON ROUGE, La., April 8.—(INS.)—A dead silence that precedes a storm was impinged against the ancient walls of Louisiana's state capitol today as battle lines were drawn taut for another round in the sensational impeachment case against Gov. Huey P. Long.

The next development in the attempt to oust the 36-year-old chief executive from office will come tomorrow night when the House reconvenes after a week-end recess to consider 18 additional impeachment charges against the Governor.

The Lower House already has impeached Long on the first charge, that of attempting to suppress the freedom of the press by threatening a local publisher. The other charges range from an alleged plot to murder to a number of official irregularities.

PLANES, TROOPS OF U. S. GUARD BORDER

Associated Press.

Eighteen American airplanes were ready to guard the Arizona border today in the event of further fighting in the Mexican revolution, while strong forces of American infantry and cavalry were prepared for any eventualities.

Opening of the sixth week of the insurrection found the rebels on the defensive, pinched more and more steadily into the three northwestern states, Sonora, Chihuahua and Sinaloa.

In the five weeks of open warfare, the rebels have been driven out of six other states in which they had obtained footholds and suffered serious reverses in a major three-day battle around Jimenez and La Reforma. Vera Cruz was long since lost to them.

RETREAT IN ALL ZONES

Both Sinaloa and Chihuahua have seen rebel retreats with the possibility that the insurgents will be shortly forced out of Sonora.

Signs of disintegration of the rebel movement along the border were in evidence. At Ojinaga across the border from Presidio, the rebel garrison revolted and took over the town in the name of the government, killing their insurgent commander.

The rebel garrison at Palomas, Chihuahua consisting of 60 men evacuated the town to two Americans representing the federals.

At Naco, the loyal garrison awaited further attacks by the rebels encamped three miles from the town after withdrawing from an assault on Saturday. The rebel commander declared that protests by the American authorities against bullets and airplane bombs falling on American soil caused cessation of the attack.

COCHEU ON BORDER

Brig. Gen. Frank S. Cocheu, commanding United States forces at Naco, organized the Three Hundred and Nineteenth Infantry of the Eightieth Division at Camp Lee in 1917. He took the Western Pennsylvanians to France, leaving them upon his promotion to brigadier general at the close of the first phase of the Meuse-Argonne battle. He attended the Eightieth's reunion in Pittsburgh last fall.

Fifteenth Engineers Plan Ninth Reunion

TWO PITTSBURGH FLIERS ESCAPE OHIO PLANE CRASH

Pilot M. E. Grevemberg, of Rodgers Field, and H. T. Mench, a local businessman, had narrow escapes from serious injury yesterday when a plane in which they were riding crashed and was demolished at Magnolia, Stark County, O. The men were returning to Pittsburgh from Cleveland and had made a forced landing near Magnolia.

Grevemberg and Mench left here Saturday and started back from Cleveland the same day. Forced down at Magnolia, they remained there over night and yesterday, when taking off, the mishap occurred. The plane was rising from a muddy wheat field when a wing struck a tree branch. The ship pancacked into a ravine and buried its nose in the earth.

When a large tri-motored airplane from Bettis Field swooped suddenly behind a hill near Homestead late yesterday, many residents of that borough and of Squirrel Hill believed the plane had crashed. Scores of calls were received by Homestead police, Bettis Field and newspaper offices. However, the plane had returned safely to the field and reports of the "crash" caused no excitement.

HEAD OF TECH GIRLS' SCHOOL RESIGNS

Dr. Mary Bidwell Breed has resigned as director of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College. This and the appointment of Dr. Charles Watkins, professor and head of the department of science as her successor, with the title of chairman of the faculty of the college, were announced today by Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Miss Breed's resignation is effective at the end of the present college year.

Miss Breed, it is announced, retires from her duties at Carnegie with no definite plans except to rest and eventually to devote some time to writing.

16 YEARS' SERVICES

She retires after 16 years of service as directing head of the Margaret Morrison College. A native Pittsburgher, she is the daughter of Cornelia Bidwell Breed and the late Henry A. Breed. She studied at private schools in Pittsburgh and the Pennsylvania College for Women, where she graduated in 1889, and at Bryn Mawr, where she received her A. B degree in 1894, her A. M. degree in 1895 and her Ph. D in 1901. At the University of Heidelberg, Miss Breed was one of the first women to be admitted to that institution and the first to be permitted to pursue scientific courses in the chemical laboratory.

In 1913 Miss Breed was called to Carnegie Institute of Technology to assume active charge of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College. A year before, the women's college had undergone an important transition from a trade school rank to an institution of higher learning, with the privilege of granting the bachelor degree.

SCHOOL GROWS RAPIDLY

During Miss Breed's administration, the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College has grown from a student enrollment of 250 to approximately 500. The graduating class now averages about 100 each year. Following the construction in 1914 of the additional wing of the college, Miss Breed directed a careful reorganization of the curriculum in accordance with the demands for college trained women.

When she took charge, the college was offering courses in secretarial studies, science and home economics. In 1914 she organized the Department of Social Work and in the same year the course in general science was substantially reorganized to cover a wider field of activities. In 1918, a course in library work was established in cooperation with the Carnegie Library.

Dr. Watkins has been a member of the faculty of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College since 1915. He is a native of Morristown, Tenn., where he attended high school.

WINS DEGREES

He is a graduate of Washington and Lee University with a B. A. degree received in 1909 and later he studied at Vanderbilt University, where he was graduated with the M. S. degree in 1911 and at Johns Hopkins University, where he received his Ph. D. in 1915.

He began his teaching career at Washington and Lee University, where he was instructor in analytical chemistry from 1912 to 1913. Following the completion of his studies at Johns Hopkins he came to Carnegie Institute of Technology as associate professor of chemistry on the staff of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College. Two years later he was appointed head of the department of general science.

ESCAPE DELAYS MURDER TRIAL

BATON ROUGE, La., April 8.—(AP.)—A scheduled murder trial was turned into a manhunt today by the escape of four convicts from the Louisiana state penitentiary.

They made their get-away from the penitentiary receiving station early yesterday by overpowering guards and fleeing in a prison automobile.

Later in the day one of them was captured after a gun battle on the main street of Magnolia, Miss., and early today the other three were reported surrounded near Magnolia by a posse.

Two of the convicts, Steven J. Beck, bank robber, and Jim Heard, burglar, were scheduled to go on trial at St. Francisville today for murdering a trusty in an attempt to escape the prison last September.

The other two were Adam Webster, serving a sentence for breaking and entering, who was captured, and Fred Wilson, purse snatcher. All were sentenced from New Orleans.

He also reviewed the Mal Daugherty case, in which the court held that while the Senate has wide powers to compel testimony, but the testimony must be pertinent to the inquiry and to aid in enacting legislation.

No congressional committee, Justice Butler held, has power to pry into private affairs of an individual unless it aids in enacting legislation.

SENATORS PLEASED

International News Service obtained the following comment from senators who have followed the case closely:

Senator Norbeck (Rep.), of South Dakota—"The way of the transgresser is hard."

Senator Steiwer (Rep.), of Oregon—"It is a vindication of established law and is an answer to those critics of our government who a few months ago were saying Sinclair never would be punished because of his wealth."

Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska—"It's a vindication of the law and I'm glad to hear of it."

Senator McNary, (Rep.), or Oregon:—"That goes for me, too."

Senator Capper, (Rep.), of Kansas:—"Its a righteous decision. It will have a very wholesome effect."

GOT OFF EASY

Senator Caraway, (Dem.), of Arkansas:—"It goes a long way toward clarifying the powers of the Senate. Sinclair, himself, escaped lightly indeed in view of his being guilty of so many crimes against his Government."

Senator King, Dem.), of Utah:—"The decision is right. I never had any doubt as to the Senate's powers, but for the Supreme Court to uphold them is satisfying."

Senators Walsh, (Dem.), of Montana; Nye, (Rep.), of North Dakota, and Wheeler, (Dem.), of Montana, who were the principal investigators of the oil scandals, were all out of the city today and could not be reached for comment.

BLUE LAW BANS LOOSENING IN MANY STATES

By REPRESENTATIVE M. A. MUSMANNO.

Written Exclusively for International News Service.

HARRISBURG, April 8.—From the letters and telegrams I have received from the attorney generals of the various states, I am convinced that no state has stricter Sunday laws than Pennsylvania. Of course, some states are not outwardly any stricter than Pennsylvania, but their laws permit, and thus legalize, what is universally done in Pennsylvania contrary to law.

LIBERAL IN WEST

As you travel westward the Sunday laws become more and more liberalized until when you reach California you find that the only sport or entertainment prohibited there on Sunday is boxing. This liberalization is, however, far from being confined to the West. Neither are violations of strict Sunday laws exclusive to Pennsylvania.

Thus Charlie C. McCall, attorney general of Alabama, writes:

"This state, like many others, has statutes prohibiting open shop on Sunday, but like all the rest the people pay very little, if any, attention to the statutes."

Mr. McCall goes on further and gives his opinion about unreasonable Sunday restrictions and says: "Personally, I am not in favor of mixing religion and politics, and I don't see how refraining from playing a game of tennis or round of golf on Sunday will get anybody to heaven any quicker."

RELAX IN NEW ENGLAND

In the New England states, where the Sunday laws first found root, having been transplanted there from England, relaxation is steadily creeping in. Last year Massachusetts, by a state-wide referendum, voted for Sunday sports. In Rhode Island the local authorities can license moving picture exhibitions and other public entertainments as well as amateur and professional athletic exhibitions.

On June 7, 1927, Connecticut passed an act permitting local option on Sunday sports. In Maine those "conscientiously believing that the seventh day of the week ought to be observed as the Sabbath" are permitted to observe Sunday as they please, provided they "disturb no other persons."

The danger of a too austere Sunday law is evident from the letter of R. D. Cox, Jr., assistant attorney general of Texas, which state is now considering a bill modifying it. Mr. Cox writes:

LAW IGNORED

"Some of the arguments offered by the proponents of this bill are that the law is continuously ignored in one-half of the state; that out of 896 theaters, 427 operate in violation of the statute by common consent of the people. In some localities juries are reluctant to convict where offenders are brought to trial."

Attorney General L. D. Simth, of Tennessee, also writes:

"We have in this statute only a general statute which prohibits work on Sunday, and that has been held to include such amusements as you refer to. Generally speaking, the statute is observed, except that in some cities they play baseball and have theaters open as on any other day. Our legislature has not progressed along this line very much."

MALONE TO RUN FOR MAYOR

James F. Malone, president of City Council, admitted today that he is a candidate for mayor. No formal statement was issued by Malone, but he confirmed what practically all the voters have known for the past two years, that he aspires to the city's chief magistracy, at the next election.

During a meeting of the city and county committeemen and women of the Fifth ward last Thursday evening, in Y. M. C. A. hall, Center avenue and Francis street, political leaders attending the meeting boosted Malone's candidacy. Henry O. Evans, city controller, Joseph N. Mackrell, register of wills, and Councilman R. J. Alderdice promised support for Malone.

When it came time for Malone to speak, his statement left no argument as to what he intended, although those in attendance say he did not make a direct announcement. Today, Malone in commenting on his speech said, that in view of the tenders of support received at the meeting and the tenders of support from thousands of representative citizens, he will become a candidate for mayor. He said a formal statement would be issued later, but set no time.

Less Tax

H. C. M'ELDOWNEY

UNION TRUST'S HEAD FAVORS TAX CUT

H. C. McEldowney, president of the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, favors a reduction of the tax on earned incomes.

With other leading executives of Pittsburgh's largest banking institutions, Mr. McEldowney believes that the movement sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers, will aid the country's prosperity through lightening the burden of taxation on the wage earners

He agrees with President Hoover that a reduction of taxation should come as soon as the government's finances warrant the stop.

TO ENCOURAGE EARNER

Mr. McEldowney today voiced the expressions of many other of the district's leading bankers in declaring that Congress should recognize a difference between the tax on earned income and income derived from invested capital. The point is made that the wage earner is to be encouraged to become a home owner and assisted in his thrifty motives so that he will acquire property and create new capital.

New capital is conducive to individual independence and is enumerated in the growth of community and national wealth. It becomes also an index to progress. Property and wealth properly may be taxed without being burdensome to the owner, the financial men say. New wealth brings public improvements, increases land values and creates new industry. A revival of industry, in turn, benefits both capital and the wage earner.

THREE STATES JOIN

Since the movement was inaugurated here by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph about a month ago, it is spreading throughout Pennsylvania and is gaining support in Ohio and West Virginia, where the paper has a host of readers, and is declared to wield wide influence.

Prominent residents of the state and in the adjoining states are coming forward with statements favoring the income tax reduction on all workers. In this respect, Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia are keeping step with other sections of the country where Hearst newspapers have aroused public opinion to the necessity of prompt action by Congress for the downward revision of the tax on earned incomes.

CLUB TO DISCUSS DRIVE

The Henry George Club of Pittsburgh, at its meeting Friday in the Chamber of Commerce, will devote its discussion to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph campaign. P. R. Williams, secretary of the national organization, has arranged for speakers and a round table presentation of the subject.

Individual petitions which have been in circulation in the various residence communities of the city and the outlying towns are coming in in large numbers. These will be forwarded next week with the first lot of signatures to be sent to Congress.

Both drivers were arrested.

The two women Mrs. Lee named as Mrs. Mary O'Connor, 53 and her daughter, Mary, 17, of 5403 Butler street. They were discharged by Magistrate A. D. Brandon but William O'Connor, 51, husband and father, was held for court on a charge of violating the Snyder Act after he admitted having sold moonshine for a year.

Two male visitors were fined $10. Husband Lee wasn't in the O'Connor establishment when police arrived.

Mysteriously Shot, Farrell Man Dies

VITAL ISSUES FACE HOOVER FOR ACTION DURING WEEK

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP.)—President Hoover today faced one of the busiest weeks he has encountered since his inauguration. He entered it refreshed by his outing Saturday, which took him 90 miles away to his cool mountain retreat on the Rapidan River in Virginia and enabled him to escape part of the record-breaking heat wave endured by the capital over the week end.

With only a week remaining before the new Congress is convened in special session, one of the principal tasks confronting the President was the completion of his message. He finished the first draft several days ago and immediately began the work of revision. The message is expected to be in its final form in a few days, but the chances are that it will not be transmitted to Congress until April 16, leaving next Monday free for the Senate and House to organize.

SPECULATE ON MESSAGE

Now that the farm relief hearings are out of the way and the Senate and House Agriculture committees have turned to the task of writing their bills, many members have been given time to speculate on the recommendations which the message will contain.

That it will deal primarily with the problem of assisting agriculture through revision of tariff rates on commodities competing with its products and by setting up a Federal Farm Board and subsidiary agencies with broad powers, is taken for granted, since that is what Congress was called to consider.

MEXICO GETS ATTENTION

Whether it will contain other recommendations, including postponement or repeal of the national origins provision of the immigration law, has not been disclosed, although the President's opposition to the provision was made known when he issued his proclamation declaring the new basis of immigration quotas effective July 1.

In addition to the work on his message and many conferences incident to the approach of a session of Congress, together with the usual heavy duties of his office, recent developments in the Mexican revolution which have threatened the safety of American border towns also will claim a good deal of the President's attention. He called upon Secretary Stimson to go over this situation with him today, including the steps taken by the State and War departments to protect American lives and property.

WHOLE OFFICE STOPS FOR TEA EVERY DAY

It's "tea for two and two for tea" for everybody every day at 4 p. m. at the offices of the Townsend Company, at Fallston, near Beaver Falls. Executives, stenographers, bookkeepers, telephone operators, some 50 of them, drop their work 10 to 15 minutes of an afternoon to imbibe a cup of England's national beverage. The custom of serving tea to employes has been in vogue at the plant for many years, according to J. M. Townsend, vice president.

"It is just one of our many social and recreational activities by which we try to make our employes contented and appreciative of their jobs," Townsend explained.

There is an air of genuine good-fellowship among the Townsend employes during tea time. They get together in groups of two and three, discuss family affairs or tell Scottish jokes over a cup of English tea.

BRITISH NO END

If a stenographer is taking dictation from an executive at tea time, the former drops her pencil and the latter interrupts his train of thought for a few moments while tea and crackers are being served.

The executive dictates a better letter, and his stenographer can read her notes better afterwards.

Luncheon service at the Townsend Club House, at New Brighton, is another social feature. Every day a bus takes the hungry employes to the clubhouse and back to the offices. Social and recreational activities of all sorts are held at the clubhouse.

ALSO ATHLETIC

The Townsend employes also excel in athletics.

Their baseball team won the Beaver Valley industrial championship last year.

Employes also won the golf, rifle and "500" championships in the Beaver Valley industrial competitions last year.

Family of Raid Victim to Ask State Aid

AURORA, Ill., April 8.—(AP.)—Proceedings which it is thought may result in the state attorney general taking over prosecution of Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, for the slaying of Mrs. Lillian De King during a liquor raid on her home, will be instituted in court at Geneva today, attorneys for the De King family announced.

The attorneys will present a petition for the ousting of State's Attorney George Carbary as prosecutor on grounds of prejudice. The petition will recite, the attorneys said, that Carbary has admitted giving a legal opinion that the dry raider was justified in killing the woman and thus disqualified himself.

In declining to intervene Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom last week said it was Carbary's duty to proceed with the case.

Dr. Rodzinski said that he was leaving on the "best of terms" with Dr. Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the orchestra, and the management.

THRIFT HABIT BRINGS REWARD TO DEPOSITORS

It is easy to get money by doing something for someone else. Most of us do that in our daily work.

But how many receive cash for doing something for themselves? Not many, you may say.

If you hold that opinion, you are mistaken. The Sun-Telegraph, during the past six weeks, has rewarded scores of persons for helping themselves on the way to prosperity.

A multitude of readers have visited this office and received checks for amounts ranging from $50 to $5, paid them just because they had opened savings accounts to assist them to financial independence.

Believing that thrift is one of the most important of virtues, and should be encouraged and rewarded, this newspaper has been calling attention every day for weeks to the desirability of having a savings account. To focus public interest on this subject, it has been distributing money among bank depositors.

The bank book numbers of the thrifty folk who have been rewarded were printed in the Sun-Telegraph, and the possessors of the books were invited to come in and receive their checks, with no string of any sort attached to the offer.

Today the Sun-Telegraph lists 10 more bank book numbers and offers $10 to each of the depositors.

2 WOMEN HURT AS ONE-MAN CARS CRASH

Two women are confined to their homes today suffering injuries received in a head-on collision of two one-man street cars at Highland, Center and Ellsworth avenues, East Liberty, last night. A score of persons riding on the cars were shaken up in addition to the two women who suffered cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Helen Stahl, of Paulson avenue, and Mrs. Bertha Wilson, of 367 Meyran avenue, were those injured. Disregard for a traffic signal light by one of the motormen is said to have caused the accident.

An outbound East Liberty-Wilkinsburg car was crossing Highland avenue when a Highland Park car crashed into it. Passengers told police the motorman of the Highland Park car ignored the traffic lights, police say. Both cars left the tracks and traffic was tied up a half hour.

Co-ed Identifies Suicide Suitor

CHICAGO, April 8.—(AP.)—A youth who wrote of unrequited love for a Northwestern University co-ed, and then ended his life on the University campus by drinking poison was identified tonight as Timon De Coston, 27, a graduate of the Sorbonne in Paris and the son of a French ambassadorial attache at Constantinople.

The identification was made by the co-ed, Margaret Walker, a sophmore, with whom De Coston had been acquainted for three years.

'Tomatoes' Ooze Out, Choice Booze Found

RICHMOND, Va., April 8.—(AP.)—An accidental discovery in local railroad yards yesterday led to the seizure of approximately 4,000 quarts of alleged bottled in bond liquors, which were being shipped in 417 boxes labeled "tomatoes" from Hollywood, Fla., to Newark, N. J.

A cracked truck on the box car led to the liquor discovery. Trainmen had begun to transfer the tomatoes when they noted the odoriferous dripping and called the police.

Monaco Citizens Win All Demands

MONTE CARLO, April 8.—(AP.)—The citizens of Monaco yesterday claimed to have won by bloodless revolution all demands made of Prince Louis but many believed that the real test would come on April 18 when the casino shareholders select new officers. Everything is expected to be quiet until the proxies start flying in this financial revolution.

Prince Louis was reported to have agreed to holding election without delay and to revision of the constitution.

ATTACK ON TREATY SEEN IN RUM SINKING PROTESTS

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP.)—Formal representations on the sinking of the rum-runner I'm Alone by a coast guard patrol boat in the Gulf of Mexico have been received from Ottawa by the Canadian legation for presentation to the State Department.

Except for the brief announcement by the Canadian prime minister, Mackenzie King, that the sinking of the vessel, which was of Canadian registry, would be the subject of formal discussions between the American and Canadian governments, both Ottawa and the legation have been very reticent regarding the content of the note.

Unofficial views of the matter, however, are to the effect that the Canadians are more interested in the points at issue between the two governments over the anti-rum smuggling treaty of 1924 between the United States and Great Britain—which binds Canada as a dominion of the British commonwealth—than they are over the actual sinking.

FREIGHTER UNDER FIRE

BALTIMORE, April 8.—(AP.)—Chief Boatswain Michael Michaelson, in command of coast guard patrol boat CG-189, which Friday halted the Norwegian steamship Juan in Chesapeake Bay to search her for liquor, said yesterday that he had fired his guns only "as a signal" and that none of the shells landed nearer than 1,200 feet of the steamer.

His statement was made to Capt. Philip H. Scott, commander of the Norfolk division of the coast guard, and disagrees with the story of the shelling as told by Capt. Karl Anderson, master of the Juan, and Pilot E. Kesterson, who boarded the boat to bring it up the bay.

No liquor except that in medical stores and noted on the ship's manifest was found.

Charles C. Schroeder, secretary to the Norwegian vice-consul here said that reports of the incident made to him by both Capt. Anderson and Kesterson, would be forwarded to the Norwegian consulate in New York. The Norwegian embassy in Washington is also expected to receive official reports.

Rebels Bar Border Against Americans

NOGALES, Ariz., April 8.—(AP.)—Mexican revolutionary leaders tightened up immigration rules here today, barring all Americans without passports. The move admittedly was in retaliation for an order by United States immigration authorities denying the rebel officers permission to enter this country. The first pinch of the rebel order was felt by newspapermen covering the revolution at this point. Their usual credentials were refused last evening and they were asked to present passports.

Widow's Alleged Slayer Faces Trial

Dominick Paolini was scheduled to go on trial today in Criminal Court, charged with the murder of Jennie Schott, 50, widow, of 357 Omega street. The woman died in the Pittsburgh Hospital last November 23. Police allege her skull was fractured when she was beaten by Paolini. Assistant District Attorney Meredith Reid will prosecute the case. Paolini will be represented by Attorney Joseph A. Robb.

18 Air Passenger Lines to Be Opened

CHICAGO, April 8. — (AP.) — Eighteen air passenger routes covering more than 14,500 miles will be opened during the spring and summer months, according to a survey of the American Air Transport Association.

The opening of the new lines will have a lowering effect on air passenger rates, the association report said.

Judge Misses Traffic Stop; Fines Self $5

EUGENE, Ore., April 8.—(AP.)—E. S. Bryson, municipal judge and recorder, fined himself $5 for failure to stop at a through street.

The Judge, not noticing until too late, that he had come to a through street, applied the brakes to his car, but they slipped and the car crashed into a stop sign. Without a murmur, the Judge handed himself a ticket, ordered himself to appear in court and fined himself $5, the customary penalty for failure to stop at through streets.

FAULKNER SORE OVER RELEASE BY BRANDON

Police Inspector Charles Faulkner today declared he was preparing a letter to Judge James B. Drew, reporting to the presiding judge of Criminal Court the action of Magistrate A. D. Brandon, who Sunday morning discharged Mrs. Pearl Kanarak, 53, of 1925 Beaver avenue, although officers had testified that she had violated the parole of one year on which she was placed February 4 by Judge Drew.

Patrolman W. D. Daly appeared in Morals Court against the woman and testified that six gallons of moonshine had been found in her store in Beaver avenue. The officer also reported to Magistrate Brandon that the woman was one of the large number of violators paroled last February by Judge Drew. A raiding squad led by Lieut. Jacob Isler, arrested the woman in her store Saturday night.

Inspector Faulkner said he cannot understand Magistrate Brandon's action, inasmuch as the woman has been arraigned before Brandon on several previous occasions. Magistrate Brandon had held the woman for court on charges of violating the Snyder Act last June, Faulkner said.

LINDY TO WED AFTER NEXT FLIGHT TO MEXICO CITY

CUERNAVACA, Mexico, April 8.—(AP.)—On Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's next trip to Mexico City—probably the last before his wedding in June—announcement probably will be made as to the date and place of his impending nuptials with Miss Anne Morrow.

It is learned here that the trans-Atlantic aviator plans one more trip to Mexico as the guest of the Morrows before the wedding. On the occasion of this next visit there is likely to be an embassy statement announcing when and where the wedding will take place.

Col. Lindbergh, his fiancee, Ambassador Morrow, Mrs. Morrow and Elizabeth Morrow, attended by members of the embassy staff, spent a quiet week-end here, preparatory to return to the embassy today. Although there was no telephone at the Morrow country home, the ambassador had arranged to keep in constant touch with the Mexican revolutionary situation. Little happened, however, to disturb the peace of his holiday.

The party was accompanied from Mexico by four truck loads of soldiers, an impressive reminder of the turmoil which exists in other parts of Mexico, and which might, conceivably, endanger the ambassador and his family.

Gale Rips One Side Of Street, Other Stays Calm

CHICAGO, April 8.—(AP.)—A storm of tornadic character, lasting less than a minute and whirling along a 100-foot path five blocks long, did $50,000 damage in Chicago's South Shore district last night.

Eighty-fifth street was the road the twister followed, from Dante avenue to East End avenue. Roofs were ripped from buildings on the north side of the street, trees were uprooted, and several garages were blown down, but on the south side of the thoroughfare not even a bush was damaged.

Numerous storms were reported in the Chicago district last night. At Hammond, Ind., lightning struck an oil tank of the Roxana Petroleum Company refineries, killing a workman, J. E. Pemberton, and igniting 4,000 gallons of oil.

GALES IN WEST INJURE MANY

DARLINGTON, Wis., April 8.—(AP.)—Several persons were injured, buildings on 50 farms were wrecked, and at least 100 head of cattle were killed by a tornado which struck northeastern Lafayette County and Northwestern Greene County Saturday night.

Severed telephone and telegraph lines and blocked roads made the territory almost inaccessible.

Herbert Einerson told of how he was picked up by the wind and carried nearly half a mile before he was dropped to the ground, breaking several ribs.

Other towns in the storm area were Monroe, where a boy was injured, probably fatally;; Argyle, Blanchardville, Lamont and Woodford.

INDIANOLA, Ia., April 8.—(AP.)—Seven persons were injured, one critically, in a wind storm which demolished buildings near Medora late Saturday night.

TORONTO, April 8.—(AP.)—For the second time in three days Southern Ontario was swept by severe thunderstorms and a heavy downpour yesterday which greatly hampered the work of repairing the damage caused by Friday night's disastrous storms.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 8.—(AP.)—Steps to rehabilitate the storm-swept sections of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa where 20 persons lost their lives Friday night, were under way today. Property damage, it was estimated, will total more than $1,500,000.

Girl's Mother Beats Teacher in Street

KANSAS CITY, April 8.—(AP.)—A year ago Mrs. Charles Woodside, of Kansas City, Kan., a former circus lion tamer, was fined $100 for beating her 16-year-old daughter, Lorene, with a clothes hanger. Lorene fled to the home of her teacher, Inez Mackinnon.

Mrs. Woodside yesterday met the teacher at a busy downtown street intersection and pounced upon her with a vicious play of fists. Miss Mackinnon received a black eye, scratches and bruises, and it was feared her nose was broken. The assailant was arrested.

WOMAN CHOKED TO DEATH IN STOLEN CAR

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP.)—Fingerprints on the steering wheel of a stolen automobile were clues police had today in a search for the slayer of a woman whose body was found in the car.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Linda Beggins, 35, mother of three children.

The crime was discovered yesterday after a group of women informed Lieut. Arthur Coy, of the fire department, that they thought a woman in a car parked in West Thirty-sixth street was dead. Coy investigated and notified police.

The body bore marks of violence and indications that the victim had been strangled.

Police Commissioner Grover Whalen, after viewing the body, said he believed the killing was the work of a maniac because of the bruises on the body and the torn clothing.

Tammany Leader To Be Named

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP.)—Returning to the city after a two weeks' vacation spent with his family at Absecon, N. J., former Gov. Alfred E. Smith last night found himself the center of discussion as to the selection of a new leader for Tammany Hall. The committee appointed by the Tammany executive committee to meet with the "big four" of the Hall—Mr. Smith, United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, Mayor James J. Walker and Surrogate James A. Foley—has been forced to mark time, awaiting Smith's return. Peter J. Dooling, chairman of the executive committee, said he hoped to have the "big four" meet his group Tuesday or Wednesday.

Actresses' Apparel Stolen Second Time

Rosetta Conn and Gussie Karp, appearing at a city theater with a Jewish stock company, reported to city detectives last night that their dressing rooms had been looted of stage apparel valued at $1,000. This is the second time within two weeks that they have been robbed. A week ago thieves stole every garment in the dressing rooms and the actresses were forced to buy new outfits. The second robbery was discovered yesterday.

RUM SHIP CASE WORLD COURT FIGHT FACTOR

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Internationally-minded prohibitionists are finding food for thought about the new scheme to slip the United States into the world court in a statement just made by Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, of California.

The Californian, who is taking the lead in the fight against the ratification of the Root-Hurst formula by the Senate, cites the I'm Alone case to hammer home his arguments for America remaining aloof from the League of Nations tribunal.

His statement was in the nature of a reply to the "internationally-minded press," which Johnson said "swiftly and contemptuously" met his recent statement that the United States "would find little support or sympathy" if the sinking of the Canadian rum-runner were submitted to the League court by saying that "we did not need to submit any case to the court."

WALSH FOR SUBMISSION

Dismissing that statement with the assertion that the "answer is obvious," the Californian pointed out that Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, an ardent advocate of the League court, has said that "not only is it appropriate that the I'm Alone case should be submitted to the court, but it ought to be."

In a speculation on the situation, which is bound to be one of the talking points in the fierce fight that will take place in the Senate if President Hoover asks ratification of the Root-Hurst proposal, Johnson said:

"First, the United States would be before a foreign court, with 14 foreign judges, all of them doubtless opposing what we have made a national policy, and in a case involving prohibition, especially if of serious import like the sinking of the I'm Alone, the atmosphere of this foreign court would be so freezing as to chill even the American representative.

WHAT WOULD WE DO?

"Moreover, the case might be brought into court, were the United States a member, by either Great Britain or France or Canada.

"Sir Cecil Hurst demands separate representative upon the court for the British dominions, as well as for Great Britain herself, and in thi sdemand he has the enthusiastic support of Mr. Root. Only the timid voice of a small nation in Europe is heard in opposition.

"If the United States were a part of the court, when Great Britain or France or Canade demanded the submission of the I'm Alone case, what would we do?

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN

"We know Great Britain and France control the League, and that the court is but a part of the League. The embattled editorial exhorters of the League of Nations court say, in substance, we would not submit the case. We would then be in the position immediately after joining the court, of at once repudiating it a role, of course, which no self-respecting nation would desire.

"If, on the other hand, we submitted ourselves and the case to the court, Great Britain, France, Canada and foreign judges bitterly opposed to our policy, would pass upon it. Even an internationalist can understand what would happen."

Radio to Aid Fish Ships Spot Schools

BOSTON, April 8.—(INS.)—Gloucester fisherman may still be "old salts" but they are taking advantage of any modern device which will help them corral the finny tribe.

Radio Station WHDH, soon to be in operation at West Gloucester, will broadcast reports of the movements of the large mackerel schools at stated times daily, it was learned today. This will help the captains of the Gloucester fleet to head off the rapidly-moving quarry with a resultant increase in the catch.

U.S. REPORT ON DRY LAW KILLINGS BRANDED FALSE

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Seething warfare over the prohibition situation broke out anew last night when Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, charged Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman with deceiving the public in his report last week on killings of citizens by prohibition agents.

"It is a serious matter when our Federal Government ignores or makes light of its own outrages in official reports," declared Curran in demanding that Lowman tell, "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

Almost simultaneously Representative George Holden Tinkham, Republican, of Massachusetts, calling attention to the lack of laws to enforce the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments, demanded that President Hoover submit the enforcement of them along with the Eighteenth to his national investigating committee, yet to be named, or recommend to Congress the passage of laws to enforce them.

WOULD CURB ENVOYS

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal church issued a demand that foreign diplomats here refrain from serving liquor at public dinners or other entertainments. They should import only the amount of liquor intended for their personal use, insisted the board.

DEATHS POINTED OUT

In denouncing Lowman, Curran said:

"Take for example this statement by Mr. Lowman: 'During the calendar year 1928, and the calendar year of 1929 to date, no persons have been killed by customs officers.'

"That statement is untrue.

"Leo Boice, a longshoreman and the father of three children, was shot in the groin by James MacGuckin, a United States customs guard, at Pier 2, Hoboken, N. J., July 24, 1928. He died two days later.

"MacGuckin, indicted by a Hudson County grand jury, brooded over the affair until he committed suicide.

"Jacob Hansen, a reputable citizen of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was shot by a United States coast guardsman when he was driving home from an Elks lodge meeting early in the morning of May 6, 1928. He died from his wounds nearly four months later.

"No liquor was found in Hansen's car, no charge of violating the liquor laws had ever been made against him and the universal testimony is that he had an unimpeachable record."

PROTEST TO HOOVER

Congressman Tinkham's demand was made in a letter to Hoover. The letter declared that the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments were placed in the Constitution in conformity with its principles, while the Eighteenth had taken away from citizens the right of governing their private conduct and had given it to a "political system which daily becomes more corrupt and brutal."

The letter said the Fourteenth Amendment, which makes Negroes citizens and gives them representation, and the Fifteenth Amendment, which prohibits states from giving preference in suffrage to citizens on account of race, color and former servitude, "are now wholly and grossly nullified in many states."

$300,000,000—225 LIVES

Another development in the prohibition fight was the revelation that Federal enforcement has cost the government nearly $300,000,000, as well as taking at least 225 lives.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldon have a new opportunity which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income as distinguished from earnings on capital, and since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation to our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

4-CENT GAS TAX FIGHT GROWS BITTER

By W. I. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 8.—Final action in the Senate on the proposed increase of the gasoline tax to 4 cents, and the administration motor code, which boosts operator and vehicle license fees a total of $4,750,000, probably will be delayed until after a meeting of the roads committee of that body tomorrow.

If State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis who has been leading the fight against the increased tax levy, and Secretary of Highways James L. Stuart, who insists that the additional funds are needed, attend the meeting to present the radically different sets of figures, it will be one of the most interesting gatherings of the 1929 session of the legislature.

According to reports, the public—including newspapermen—are to be barred. Administration and organization leaders insisted today that, regardless of the outcome of the debate between Lewis and Stuart, they can drive sufficient senators into line to pass the gasoline boost, the administration highway program and the increased operator and vehicle fees.

The session promises to be a busy one that will run through Thursday for the first time since the opening in January. Unless all signs fail, it will start tonight with two battles—one to discharge the Law and Order Committee from consideration of the Wettach bill designed to modify the blue laws of 1794 to meet modern conditions, and the other on the Haws bill requiring compulsory automobile insurance.

BLUE LAW FIGHT

That measure is a special order of business for 10 o'clock tonight. The high-handed manner in which the Law and Order Committee refused to even grant a hearing on the various bills designed to modify the blue laws, is the cause of the effort to discharge that body tonight. The motion, according to present plans, will be made by Representative Joseph G. Steedle, Allegheny County. The committee voted 19 to 10 against granting a hearing on the measures, the reason being the desire of many members of the body to keep their attitude a secret. They do not want to be put on record for or against the blue laws, because they, as well as practically every other Pennsylvanian who is not bedridden, violate them every Sunday.

ISSUE CLEAR CUT

The issue tonight will be clear-cut, although it is understood various speakers will attempt to becloud it. It is held that those voting not to discharge the committee are voting in favor of the 1794 blue laws. Those voting to discharge the committee are expressing either their opposition to the high-handed manner in which a hearing was refused, or their approval of the move to bring the obsolete statutes up to date.

The Pittsburgh Metropolitan district charter is on the second reading calendar in the House. Additional amendments probably will be made, mostly minor in character, which will delay its passage one day. The Marcus bill continuing the metropolitan district charter has been sent back to committee.

VOTE MACHINE BILL

The Harris voting machine bill is on the third reading calendar in the House and probably will be sent to the Governor before Wednesday. The Grenet bill, providing for the establishment of a state narcotic farm, is on first reading in the House.

The Davidson bill, placing the appointment of county detectives in the hands of the president judge of the Quarter Sessions Court, instead of the district attorney, also is on first reading.

The Rhodes measure, making the minimum pay of Allegheny County officials $10,000, is on third reading in the Senate. It already has passed the House.

The Musmanno and Mansfield bills, restricting the operation of coal and iron police, are held in House and Senate committees.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Colorado Saturday morning moved northeastward. Yesterday morning it was over Minnesota, and this morning it is centered over Eastern Ontario and Quebec, and a trough formation extends southwestward over the Ohio Valley states and the southern plains states to another center over Southern Texas. Showers and thunderstorms were general throughout the low pressure area, the rainfall being moderately heavy in Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

High pressure continues over the southeast, and relatively high pressure overlies the northern plains. The plains states high is causing cold weather in the Dakotas and Montana, and a decided drop in temperature over the central and upper Mississippi Valley states.

KELLY ALIGNS G. O. P. NINE FOR CONGRESSIONAL FRAY

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(AP.)—The warm weather of Washington's spring and early summer is expected to induce members of the House during the extra session of Congress to add another matter to their farm relief-tariff program—baseball.

The members of the House annually engage in a "political" baseball contest, Republicans versus Democrats, and Representatives who are diamond enthusiasts already are discussing plans.

In presidential election years these baseball games have an added zest because of a Capitol Hill saying that "As the baseball game goes so goes the election." The authority of that adage was roughly joited in the last election, for the 1928 game, played just before the national conventions, was won by the Democrats by a 30 to 4 score.

The Democrats' captain and catcher, Representative McMillan, of South Carolina, formerly played with the Charleston, S. C., South Atlantic League club, and led that circuit in hitting and base-running in 1913, and their pitcher, Representative Douglas, of Arizona, was once an Amherst College star twirler.

The Republicans, on the other hand, have had more bad luck but have hopes, according to Representative Clyde Kelly, of Pennsylvania, their captain and a former star of semi-pro and college baseball in Ohio and Pennsylvania. Two former minor leaguers, Updike, of Indiana, and Morin, of Pennsylvania, have left Congress.

Kelly hopes to gain some talent from the new Republican representatives. In Carter, of Wyoming, he has a former Catholic University and Fordham player, who a few years ago pitched Cheyenne, Wyo., to the Rocky Mountain championship.

Carnegie Pensions For Professors Cut

NEW YORK, April 8.—(INS.)—To meet the strain placed upon its resources, the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching plans to make drastic reductions in old age pensions paid to retired professors, effective May 1, it was reported here last night. This action will be taken, it was said, because of the unforeseen increase in the total amount of pensions payable under the foundation's plan since the establishment of the pension system in 1906. The maximum pension of $3,600 to professors retiring at 70 and $2,400 to those retiring at 65 will be lessened considerably, according to the report, but the minimum pension of $1,000 will be only slightly reduced.

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP.)—After being stuck on the mud flats off Brooklyn for 26 hours, the French liner Paris was freed by 15 tugs and continued her interrupted voyage to Europe yesterday afternoon.

The steamer went aground at 2:53 a. m., Saturday, during a heavy fog.

The passengers, numbering more than 1,000, were given the opportunity on Saturday night to leave the vessel, but few availed themselves of it.

WOMAN HURLS HERSELF INTO FIRE, DIES

MEADVILLE, Pa., April 8.—(AP.)—Throwing herself into a blazing fireplace for the second time, after she had been rescued once by her nurse, Mrs. Kathleen White, 35, of Conneautville, received fatal burns yesterday.

The woman had recently returned from a hospital where it was said she was treated for nervous disorders.

The fire was kindled by Mrs. White's husband, a Conneautville undertaker, at the woman's request. White was absent from the house when his wife leaped into the fire.

In addition to the husband, a daughter, 5, survives.

FRIEND BLAMED IN MICHAELSON SMUGGLING

CHICAGO, April 8.—(AP.)—A "mysterious stranger" today had entered the case of Congressman M. A. Michaelson, of Chicago, under Federal indictment in Florida on charges of smuggling, possessing and transporting liquor.

The congressman made his first public statement yesterday, denying all the government charges.

DENI CARRYING LIQUOR

He said his trunks and baggage transported to the United States from Cuba "did not contain any intoxicating liquors of any sort or character;" that he committed no offense against the government of the United States; that "I am not guilty of any charge contained in the indictment," and that "at the bar of justice I will establish beyond the possibility of a doubt the truth of this, my statement."

Reporters sought to question him, but were referred to his attorney, Benedict Short.

NON-MEMBER BLAMED

The lawyer said he was told by Congressman Michaelson that he had gone to Panama as a member of the Waterways Committee of Congress and that the party stopped in Cuba on the return trip.

"There was one man in the party," Short said, "who was not a member of Congress. Mr. Michelson kindly gave him his congressional frank. It was this man whose trunk held the liquor."

The attorney said he could not divulge the man's name at this time.

"STRIP" TRIALS POSTPONED

The Strip rum ring conspiracy trial scheduled to start in Federal Court today was postponed until tomorrow. Two defense attorneys had other important cases to attend to in Criminal Court.

Orie, former police magistrate; Police Inspector Joseph Elsner, and Lieuts. John Dye and John H. Schnurr are named in the Strip indictments. In the Twenty-seventh Ward cases, Police Inspector Charles Faulkner and Lieuts. John J. Lynch and Edward J. Arthurs are named as defendants.

FRANCE HAILS DAVIES FILM

PARIS, April 8.—With lively enthusiasm such as was expected of the nation which last year decorated her "for her talent, achievements, and distinction in the world of cinema art," France at this past week end welcomed Miss Marion Davies in her latest production, "The Cardboard Lover."

Hailing the vehicle—which is known here as "Dans sa Candeur Naive"—as "Une comedie delicieuse," French critics acclaim Miss Davies' work, which is being shown at the republic's greatest movie center, Gaumont Palace.

Speaking of Miss Davies, France's foremost artistic, literary and theatrical journal, Comedia, says:

"It is no stranger who comes this week to pay a visit. All the world knows the affection of Marion Davies for France, which she regards somewhat as her second fatherland. In America she never fails to receive French people with good grace which her charm makes without equal.

"The French government has already decorated this exquisite comedienne. Her latest film makes all greatly desire that she will cross the ocean again that they may be able to feel they are nearer to this brilliant star."

Paris Soir says:

"Marion Davies, lively, spontaneous and gay, records an amusing achievement."

Figaro finds particular satisfaction that Miss Davies has chosen the delicate comedy by the French author, Jacques Deval.

180 Brook Trout Cost Anglers $1,875 Fine

RENOVO, Pa., April 8.—(AP.)—Fred Jackson, his son, George, and H. E. McGonigal, all of this place, after being arrested near Keating Saturday afternoon with 180 brook trout in their possession, were fined $625 each. The justice fined the defendants at the rate of $10 for each fish and $25 for fishing without licenses.

The fish varied in size from three to 12 inches. They have been turned over to the Lock Haven Hospital.

Two Die, Trapped By Forest Fire

DAMASCUS, Va., April 8.—(INS.)—After battling a gigantic forest fire for hours, a crew of 50 men early today came upon the charred bodies of Robert Cornett, 44, and Robert Keys, 23, both of Damascus. The men were a part of another squad that was fighting the blaze in the government forest reserve near here. They were cut off from their comrades and trapped in the flames.

Husband Kills Wife And Ends Own Life

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 8.—(INS.)—James Carpenter, 27, shot and killed his estranged wife, probably fatally wounded her friend, Mrs. Jewel Matuscki, 20, and then committed suicide.

Carpenter went to the Matuscki home looking for his wife. Encountering Mrs. Matuscki he opened fire on her and when his estranged mate fled to the street he followed her and fired five shots into her body.

WIFE MAKES HOBO KING FOREGO ATTIRE OF ROAD

Life for J. Eads How, "millionaire hobo" of Los Angeles is made merry on the road by dodging newspaper photographers.

It is his wife's demand that he dress and act like a gentleman, but when he is away from the family fireside he can't resist traveling and dressing like a "respectable hobo."

So it is with an unshaven face and wrinkled suit that How is putting in a busy day visiting friends and dodging the cameraman here before speaking on "Prosperity and Unemployment" tonight in the Engineers' Lodge Room, 607 Webster avenue. The meeting is sponsored by the International Brotherhood Welfare Association for the purpose of getting opinions from the unemployed and electing delegates to attend an "unemployment conference" in Washington April 27 to May 1.

"Pose for a photograph? No, no, I couldn't do that," How explained in his quiet voice. "It would only stir up trouble for me at home. You see, Mrs. How dislikes my associations in the ranks of the hobo. When I am at home it is a case of keeping dressed and shaven like a gentleman. So if she would see my picture as I look at this minute, there would be no end of trouble.

"But I must be hurrying. I want to meet the Mayor and some of my very good friends here. How do I travel? Well, very few use the big freights any more. Only once in a while in the spring. It's hit the road on foot and then if you can get an autoist to give you a lift, that is the way to travel. The best way to get a lift, as most of the 'boes' do, is hang around a service station. People won't pick you up on the road very often. But at the service station you can strike up a conversation with the motorist, most times a salesman, and he'll take a chance hauling you. I got in last night from Columbus and Cumberland will be my next stop on the way to Washington.

"Who's financing this movement for the unemployed? Well, we put out the Hobo News from the association headquarters in Cincinnati. That sells for 25 cents and it sells fast. Of course, my share in the estate of James Eads is devoted to the brotherhood's cause. I figure I did not earn this and it really belongs to the people."

How would not say the amount he got as his share of the estate except to evade the question by stating his mother must have received close to a million while his brother, Louis How probably got $250,000.

Kinloch Disaster Inquest Thursday

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 8.—(AP.)—An inquest in the Kinloch mine explosion near Parnassus in which 46 men were killed on March 21, will be held here Thursday morning, it was learned here today. Coroner James Harkins said he would call approximately 12 witnesses, six of them state mine inspectors who investigated the blast.

"COINCIDENTS" COST $400

Joseph Soukop, who was ordered by Judge Nelson McVicar, in Federal Court, today to pay a fine of $400 when he entered a plea of guilty to the transportation and possession of five gallons of moonshine liquor, related a story of strange coincidents.

On the night of February 23, Soukop told the court, he was driving in East Ohio street and was hailed by a motorist whose car was stalled. The car contained a five-gallon can which the stranger asked to be transferred to the Soukop car. To oblige the man, Soukop said, he put the can in the tonneau of his machine and almost immediately his own car stalled. Just then federal prohibition agents turned up and arrested Soukop. The stranger disappeared.

Nathan Greenberg, serving a six-month jail sentence for contempt in violating a Federal Court padlock order on the building at 2410 Webster avenue, appeared before Judge McVicar and pleaded guilty to possession and the sale of intoxicating liquor on December 10, 1928. A fine of $500 was imposed on Greenberg.

Clerics Oppose Sunday Flying As 'Amusement'

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 8.—(AP.)—Whether flying is an amusement or a means of transportation is a question that the Mecklenberg County commissioners may be called upon to decide.

Ministers have complained that an amusement business is being operated at the Charlotte Airport on Sunday to such an extent that it violates the Sunday closing laws and interferes with church attendance. J. Dudley Withers, manager, countered with the contention that the passenger traffic conducted at the airport is vehicular transportation and as such is legal. He promised to stop stunt flying on Sunday, but the ministers have not indicated yet that this concession will satisfy their demands.

Missouri Rum Cases Go Under Jones Law

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 7.—(INS.)—Out of 43 indictments returned last week by the Greene county grand jury, some of the cases probably will be turned over to the Government for prosecution under the Jones law, it was said here today.

The grand jury investigated several raids, among which was the searching of the home of a prominent citizen for liquor.

Names are withheld.

COOLIDGE VIEW OF CHURCH PRAISED

"Former President Coolidge teaches us that it ought to mean a great deal to be a member of the church and that church membership is not the flimsy, careless obligation most people think it is," the Rev. George N. Broening said in a sermon on "President Coolidge and Church Membership" yesterday at the Greenfield Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Coolidge's statement in his recent articles that "Among other things, I had some fear as to my ability to set that example which I always felt ought to denote the life of a church member," Mr. Boening characterized as a fine tribute to the church, its greatness, its truth and its dignity.

"The ex-President," Mr. Broening continued, "has placed a very distinct valuation upon church membership. We need men like Mr. Coolidge to tell us what it means to be a member of the church. His thought gives us an inspired idea of the church. He shows us that character is essential to church membership. We are paying too much attention to increases in membership and too little attention to the spiritual culture of membership."

Mr. Coolidge's suggestion that there ought to be something different about the life of the church member elicited this comment from the preacher:

"Church members ought not to be inhuman, super-human, eccentric, odd, queer. The church does not need any oddity or eccentricity. The church member needs to show that he has something that the man of the world does not have."

Extolling the character of Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Broening concluded:

"He is an embodiment of virtue and character. No stain or tarnish attaches to his name. Yet, the man of great office and pure character feared the responsibility of church membership to be too great for him. When will we realize with the former President that the responsibility of church membership is greater than the responsibility of government?"

One Way to Wear Stone Marten

Here, a single, little scarf of it gives a neat and flattering finish to the neckline.

Another way is to join two scarfs, and let them drape the shoulders.

A third way, very new and extremely effective, is to join three skins, making a long scarf which goes around the neck in a side-fastened choker and then extends to the hem of the costume.

WILLARD MACK -:- PUTS GUN PLAY -:- ON TALK SCREEN

Willard Mack, actor and playwright, makes his debut in "The Voice of the City." He also wrote and directed the production.

Mr. Mack, as a detective in "The Voice of the City," 100 per cent Cosmopolitan talk picture, comes in at the death of a notorious gang leader, played by John Miljan. In the presence of Beatrice Banyard and Sylvia Field, he hears the gangster's dying confession.

TUNES, MIRTH, VARIETY ON STAGES

In the Alvin tonight "Good News," collegiate musical comedy, begins an engagement of a week, which will include the usual matinees. Will Ahern and Margaret Breen are featured in this company, which is not the one seen here earlier in the season.

Pursuing his policy of presenting plays that have never been seen in Pittsburgh, George Sharp tonight will give a Pitt audience its first view of George Middleton's comedy, "The Big Pond." It is a play which contrasts the relative values of business ability and romantic love.

The final week of the present season of vaudeville in the Davis, beginning today, features Leatrice Joy, popular movie star, who presents action bits and vocal selections.

Ziegfeld's popular musical comedy, "Rio Rita," which scored such a terrific success in the Nixon Theater in September, is again to be presented in that playhouse the week commencing Monday evening next. The same cast and production that was on view here previously will again be in evidence. Seats are on sale.

"Hello Yourself" comes to the Alvin for an engagement of one week, opening next Monday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Waring's Pennsylvanians are featured. The cast includes Carl Randall, Virginia Watson and Florence Hedges in the leading roles.

ALICE WHITE DESIRES SECRET SORROW AND GRETA PLAYS TENNIS

By MINNIEHOKUS
(Per Dorothy Herzog)

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.

MINNIEHOKUS was late. She was an hour late, to be accurate. No copy. The mere thought of having to write a colyum exhausted. But a colyum had to be written, else one threadbare scribe would be on her ear.

Exactly two hours late, Minniehokus arrived, as scrambly a portion of half-baked papoose as ever littered up an apartment.

"Where in the name of three asterisks have you been?"

"Heap big night," tonelessly.

"What!"

"Head hurt. No can write."

"Why you—"

"Me tell," interrupting. "You writum."

Groups of songs by Miss Ponselle will include "Amarilli mia Bella," by Cassini; A Pastoral, by Veracini; Traume, by Wagner; Hymn au Soleil, by Alexander Georges; Songs My Mother Taught Me, by Dvorak; Invocation to Eros, by Kursteiner; Lullaby, by Sadero, and "Come Unto These Yellow Sands," by Frank La Forge. The aria, "Ah Fors' E Lui," from the opera La Traviata, also will be included, as well as other arias from operas in which Miss Ponselle has been the principal star.

AMAZING RELIEF ON ONE BOTTLE OF NEW KONJOLA

Pittsburgh Lady Hardly Able to Do Housework—Famous Medicine Ends Stomach Trouble.

"Konjola is the medicine I should have had in the first place." That statement has been made countless times in the indorsements of men and women in telling of the splendid success they had with this new master medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs.

MRS. ELMER MORGAN

Being a comparatively new medicine, Konjola is every day put to the supreme test in those cases that have baffled all other treatments. And how Konjola triumphs! It is a wonderful record that this master medicine has made wherever it is known. The fame of Konjola grows, not through promises and claims made for it, but because it actually does what sick and afflicted people want a medicine to do. Those who suffer seek health, and they are learning daily from the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, this city, just what this modern medicine is actually accomplishing. The Konjola Man brings a message of hope and encouragement. His object is not primarily to sell Konjola, but to point out what it means to all who are ill with troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, or with rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. What encouragement there is to be found in the experience of Mrs. Elmer Morgan, 2216 Almont Street, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man just last week:

"Some time ago my kidneys went back on me, with the result that my general health was greatly affected. I lacked energy and strength. My housework became a drudgery and I had to force myself to do the little duties around my home. I did not sleep soundly and would arise each morning as tired as when I went to bed. Medicines of all sorts failed to give me either strength or relief. Due to the kidney trouble my ankles were swollen and very stiff. They pained greatly at times and often prevented me from walking. Headaches made my head feel like it was splitting open. I was at a loss to know what to do for relief.

"I read and heard so much about this new Konjola that I began to wonder if it would help me. I was not long in finding out, for the first bottle of this master medicine showed me that Konjola was the medicine I should have had in the first place. It seemed that just the one bottle relieved the kidney trouble. Of course, I did not stop the treatment but continued until I was sure it had lastingly ended that ailment. In every way Konjola toned up my entire system and made me feel just like a different person. I am sleeping soundly and working with greater energy and vigor. It is a glorious thing to have my health again and I shall treasure it always. No wonder more than a million bottles of such a medicine were sold in four months."

It is the same old, splendid story—success—wherever Konjola is tried. No matter how long the suffering, no matter what has failed, Konjola proves its powers wherever put to the test.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of Konjola.

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Complications to Be Feared In Illness

MOST diseases, in and of themselves, are rarely fatal. One man could hardly win a battle. It requires an army to carry on a successful war.

DR. COPELAND

One germ couldn't get far in producing disease. A whole crowd of one kind of germs rarely accomplishes terrible things. It is a mixture of germs, a sort of allied army of germs, that works havoc with our poor bodies.

To put it another way, it is the complications of disease that we most dread. It is these we must avoid.

When, O! when, will men and women learn that the way to escape the dangers of sickness is to give attention to the disease at its onset!

We have had another epidemic of influenza. We had a serious epidemic in 1919. We had a dreadful one in 1918. There have been lesser epidemics during this 10-year period.

What have these experiences taught us? So far as the layman is concerned, I fear he has learned little, except to be scared at the mention of the word "epidemic." The doctors have learned that almost nobody dies from influenza. The deaths are due to the complications of the disease.

On the day I am writing this I had a telegram that a friend of mine had been taken to the hospital for an operation. First, he had a mild attack of influenza and, because he has a strong body, did not consider it worth while to go to bed, or even to stay home.

The disease "went down on his lungs." First he had bronchitis and then pneumonia, involving one lung. This got better and then the other lung was involved.

Now, like King George, he has an abscess in the chest cavity. To the original germ of infection has been added a pus germ of some sort.

No matter what the disease is, I beg of you not to neglect your trouble. The seriousness of the ailment will make certain that there will be no neglect when the aching ear, abscessed lung, or other complication arrives. There is such pain then that everybody is sent on the run for the doctor.

It is true that many calls are made on the doctor for advice about trivial ailments. But it is also true that there are many, many failures to consult the family physician at the times when he could be of positive assistance.

By the way, it isn't fair to your friend, the doctor, to overlook his importance at the moment when he can speedily and successfully relieve you of your disease. You should not regard him as you do the fireman, to be called on after the building is on fire. Take time by the forelock and use the doctor when he can keep you from serious trouble.

The way to escape the complications of disease is not have them at all! That is an awkward way of putting an obvious fact.

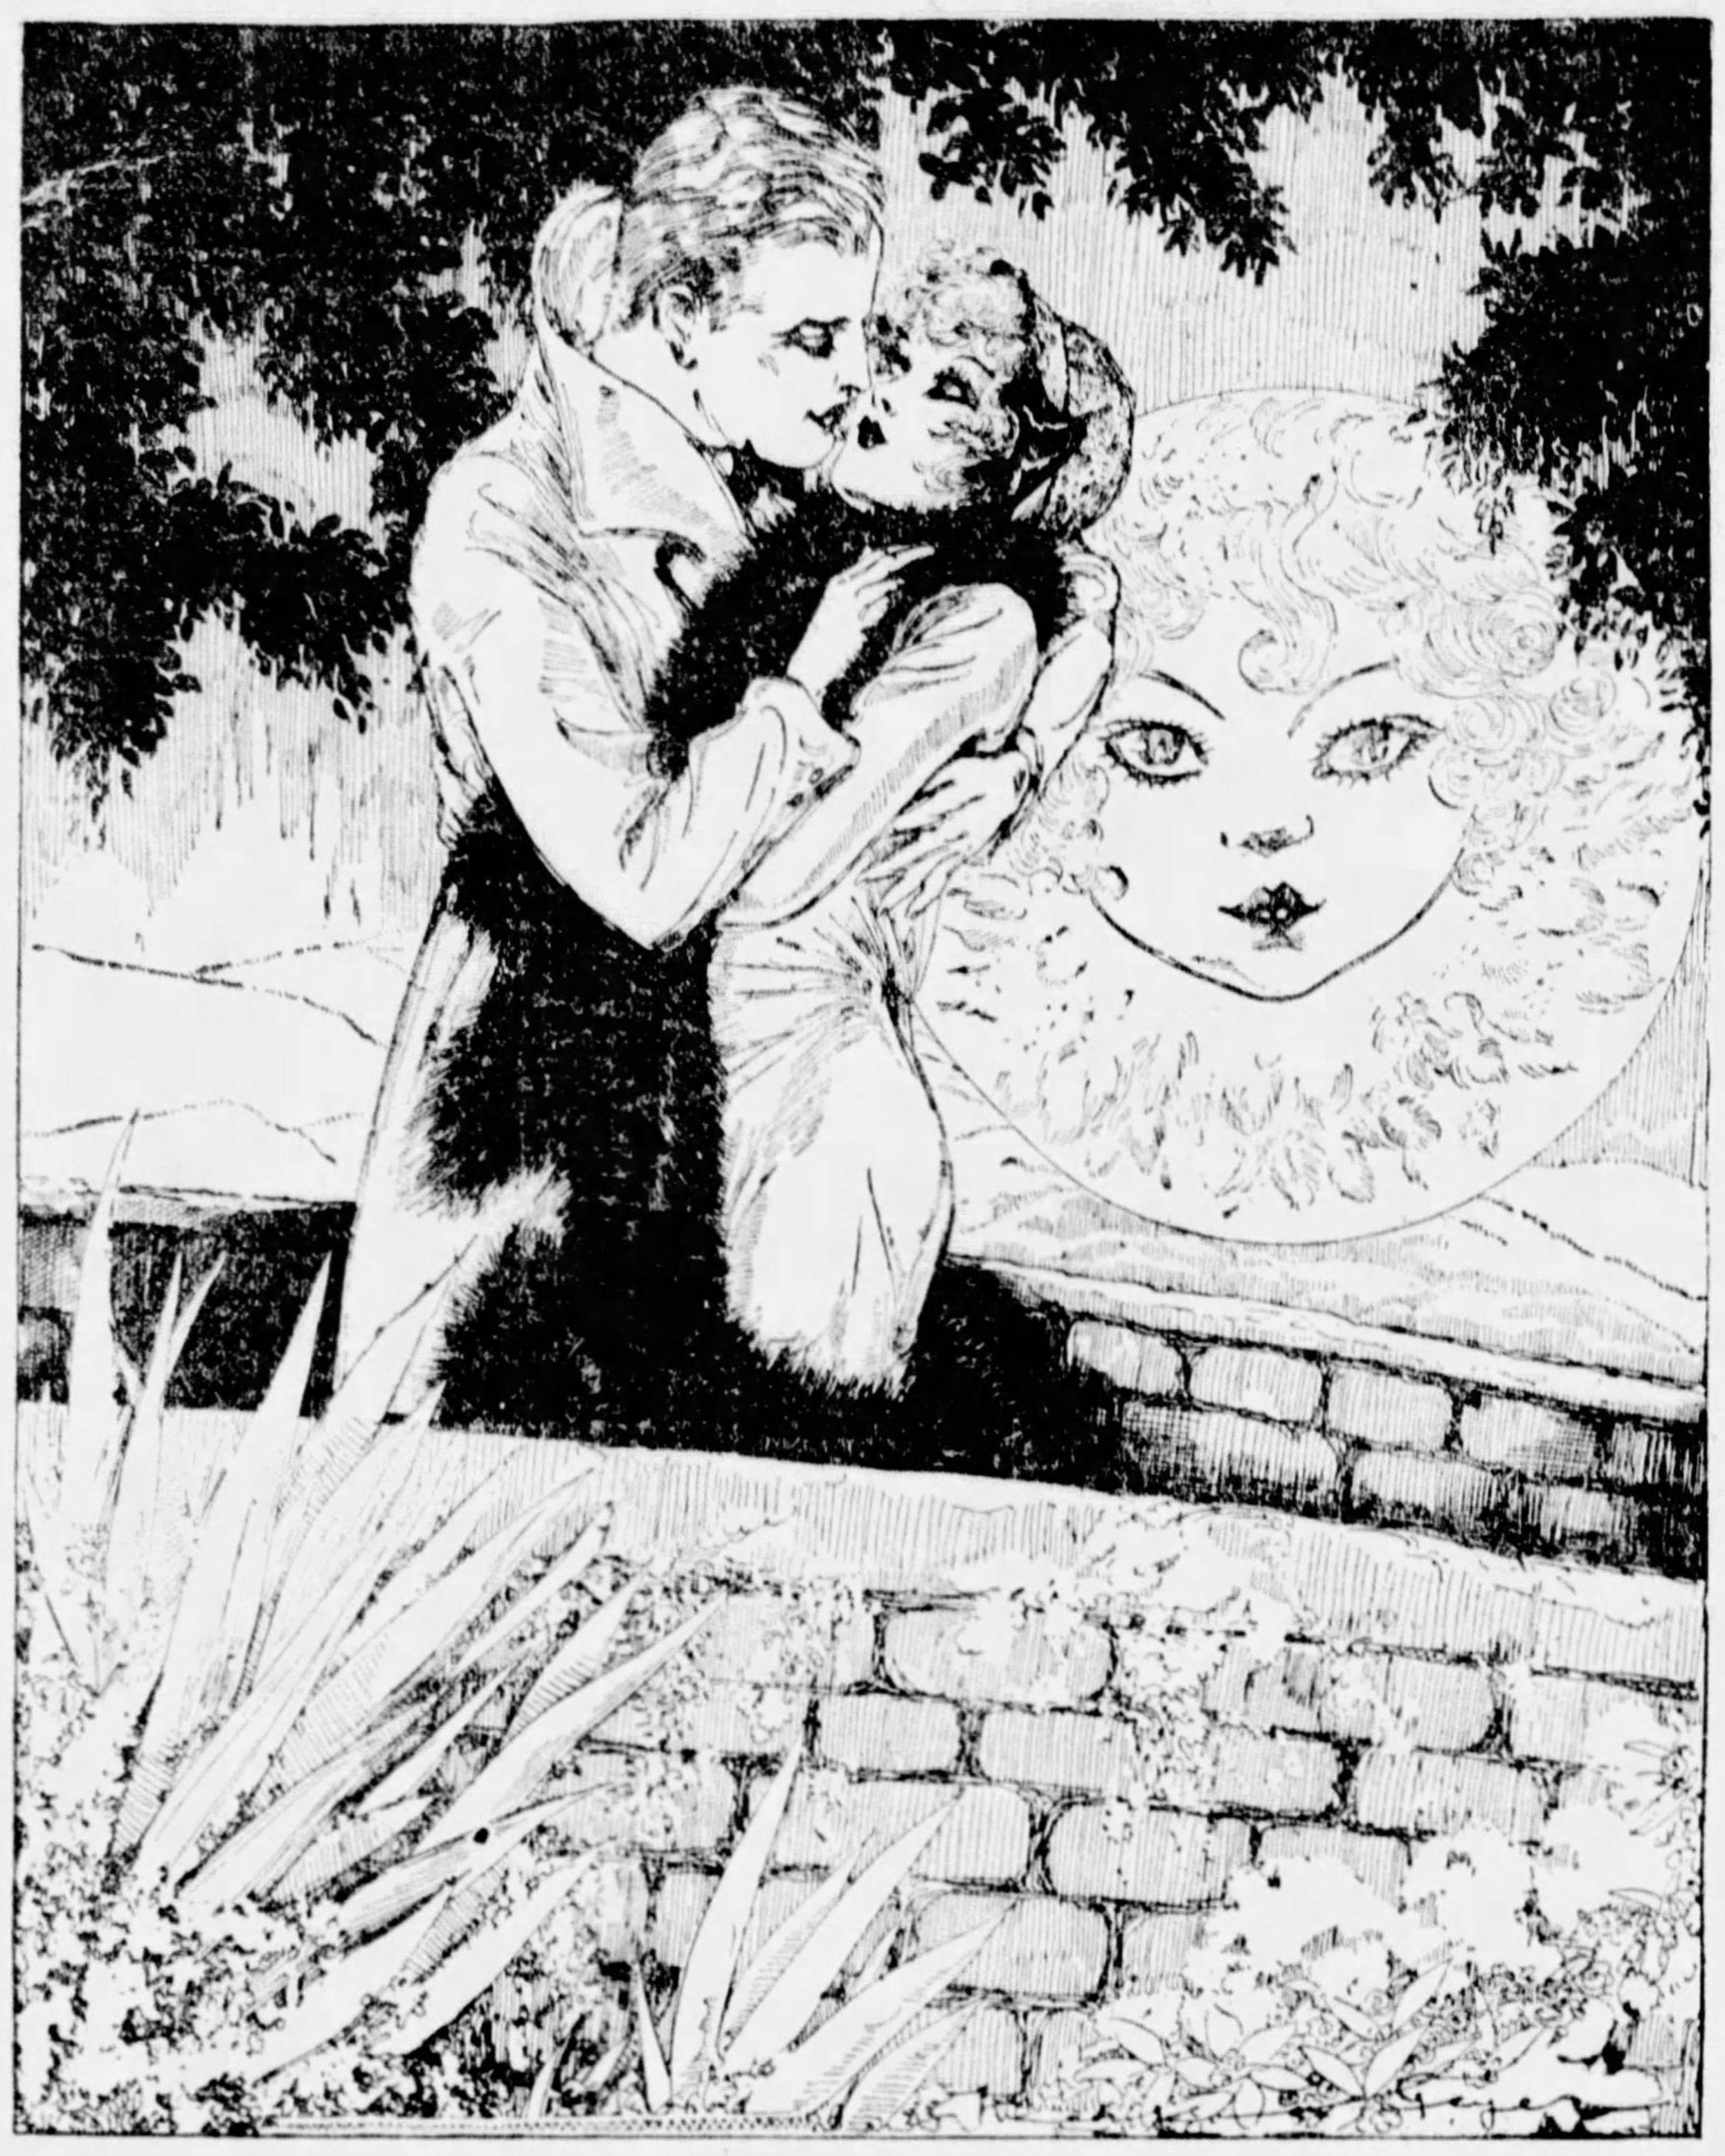
Au Claire de Lune -:- By Madge Geyer



BY THE light of the moon! How many things has the man in the moon seen in his long career? Long, perhaps, but not so lonely, for he sees all the lovers of all times as they whisper their vows of undying love. And he chuckles, the mischievous thing, as he listens.

But if you look closely, you'll find that the Man is Daniel Cupid, Esq., himself, who hides there that he may watch the progress of the many romances which he started. And, too, he stays there, for from his high perch he can see all over the world and keep an eye on all the lovers.

"Au Claire de Lune!" The song of lovers, for lovers. For the love story is the sweetest song that was ever written or told, and particularly so when it's haltingly whispered "au claire de lune."

Katie's Bulging Suitcase Opens, Revealing Funeral Clothes

AS Katie, carrying the bulging suitcase, saw me standing in the kitchen, she made a quick dodging movement toward the door behind her. But the big suitcase was too much for her. It caught on the lock, jerked open, and there tumbled out, almost at my feet, a curious collection of articles. I had time to note only a large black hat with a crepe veil pinned around it, a long black coat which I never had seen before, a black dress and a pair of black shoes, before she was upon the scattered things with the intent fury of a terrier after a rat, and was stuffing them back into the suitcase.

"Me, I'm going to funeral," she stammered as she rose, her face crimson, her eyes looking in every direction except the place where I stood.

It was the only possible explanation, and yet something in her manner told me that it was far from being the correct one. Besides, the ebon garments which had tumbled out of the suitcase were too outre even for Katty's flamboyant ideas concerning the correct garb for mourning.

But I told myself grimly, it was distinctly not my cue to doubt her by even an inflection, so I murmured a perfunctory:

"Oh! I'm sorry, Katie," and, turning away, pretended interested in a vase of flowers which stood upon the kitchen cabinet, until I was sure that she had safely secured the treacherous suitcase.

"Yah! eet too bad," she said at last with an attempt at dolor which almost upset my risibles. But I fought back my amused grin and said casually:

"Madam Graham is not coming down to luncheon. Will you leave her servings of your hot dishes over hot water on the stove, so that Mrs. Rickett may get them for her when she wishes to eat?"

"Aha!" Katie's utterance of the ejaculation was impudently dramatic. "I tink tie old vomans no like shange loonch hour; so she keeck oop row. All right. I feex Ma-dam Graham oop some loonch, leave hot."

"Katie!" I began sternly, but with the realization of how futile and stereotyped my reproof had become during the years of my little maid's faithful service. "You must not speak of Mr. Graham's mother in that manner and you must not pronounce her name that way."

The last part of my protest was unintentional, for years ago I gave up the struggle to teach Katie to say "Madam Graham" in any other manner than that of her own choice, which makes it sound ludicrously like a profane expletive. With the feeling that I was making a distinct sacrifice of dignity, I turned away as I uttered my reproof and left the kitchen. But though I pretended that I did not hear it, I was painfully aware of Katie's impudent comment upon my mandate, which, however, she had the grace to mutter almost inaudibly:

"Vot you vant me call her, leetle kid, or new style flapper?"

I knew that she did not intend me to hear the impertinence, but it roused my anger, nevertheless, and not for the first time in my relations with the little maid I almost yielded to the impulse to go back and discharge her summarily.

But it was only "almost." The remembrance of Katie's loyalty and efficiency joined in pleading for her with the prudent, if cowardly, reflection that anyone in her place might be just as impertinent, and certainly would not be nearly as valuable to me as my tempestuous little maid, who was so used to my ways, and so devoted to our household.

But the little incident annoyed me inordinately, probably because my nerves were yet raw from my encounter with my mother-in-law, and when late in the afternoon Katie returned from her drive looking as if she were near the bursting point with excitement, I took particular pains to keep out of her way, for I felt in no mood to listen to her chatter.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Why Should a Man Marry?

WHY should a man marry?

* * *

"What could a wife do for me?" asks Beverley Nichols, who boasts that no woman has got him—yet! "If I choose I can get on board a steamer tomorrow, and sail to Hawaii and start a trade in illicit drugs. I can grow a beard and screech anarchy in Hyde Park. I can stay in bed and eat macaroons . . ."

* * *

Yes, yes, Beverley. And you can go out in the garden and eat worms. Not just spinach-worms—but any kind of worms you LIKE! You can faw down the cellar steps and go boom. You can even wear white spats on a muddy day—and no woman can stop you! No woman can say, "Now Bev!"

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

It's a grand, free life! Why SHOULD a man marry?

* * *

Not for a home and housekeeper, surely. No home could possibly have all the comforts of a bachelor flat. And "maid-service" is far cheaper than a wife. Besides, a hired maid doesn't leave her hair in the comb, or cry if you forget to kiss her goodby, mornings.

* * *

No man need marry, in order to get a good cook, these days. The best cooking in the world is served in a bachelor flat, by a Japanese butler or a Chinese cook; and they are good he-meals, not reducing-diet snacks. Besides, there are all the chop houses!

* * *

Does a man, then, need to marry, just for love and kisses? Don't make me laugh! He may far more likely have to marry in order to ESCAPE from love and kisses. These commodities are so plentiful now, that marriage is a man's only sanctuary from ardent and pursuing women.

* * *

The happiest day of the attractive man's life is that in which he can stand behind some brave little woman's back with his fingers crossed and DARE the women to kiss him!

* * *

WHY then, should a man marry? Why should he give up his bachelor comforts and luxuries, his freedom and his place in the sun, just in order to be "somebody's husband?"

* * *

Why should he exchange the flattery and attentions of all women for the criticism and inattention of just one?

* * *

I'll tell you why! Because, until a man marries, he is not ORIENTATED! He has no objective in life.

* * *

Until he has a woman and a home to work for, he is no part of the scheme of things. He is just a piece of driftwood, going aimlessly nowhere! Nothing that he does, or has, or is, MEANS anything. He is reckless and detached and bored—and constantly in danger of following his own impulses, to his own destruction.

* * *

A man needs a wife to STEADY him—to act as compass and ballast, accelerator and emergency brake! As a guiding force, an inspiration, and a stabilizer! A man may not want a wife—but, oh how he NEEDS one! Just to keep him from growing a beard and eating macaroons in bed—if for nothing else!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, April 9

ACCORDING to the fairly harrowing array of afflicting planetary forces this day may be one to call for courage and hold initiative rather than the indulgence in the sordid and ill-natured predispositions incited by certain lunar figures. Although there may be a fortunate advancement, yet there is danger of a sudden change, affecting the life. This will require coolness and wisdom to navigate the shoals and reach the place of safety, with the emoluments foreseen.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to have a year of conflicting situations, with good opportunities involving a radical change. But all it not plain sailing and may only be attained by calm and controlled demeanor under all trials, attention to physical and property safety, and a degree of wise counsel and wisdom.

A child born on this day may have a vivid and spectacular life, with many vicissitudes. Honors and success are possible, but these are to be won only by self-control, caution and general good judgment and sagacity.

Courage, the highest gift, that scorns to bend to mean devices for a sordid end.—Farquhar.

Onion Removes Rust

To remove rust from a knife, plunge the blade into an onion and leave there for an hour or so. Then polish it in the usual way.

CORRECT MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

When to Say Thanks

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When my husband and I are invited out to dinner, he thanks the hostess directly after leaving the table. I think it is correct to thank for the dinner and the evening's pleasure when one leaves. Will you please advise me which is correct?

2. If my husband thanks first, what would be correct for me to say?

3. What is the correct way for me to sign my letters—Mrs. George Neeling or Mrs. May Neeling? READER.

1 It is quite correct for your husband to make some comment on the charming party as he leaves the party. He would not thank for the dinner—one never thanks for the dinner—but might, with an especial graciousness that would make any hostess happy, say, "This is a beautiful party that you are giving, Mary and I am enjoying every minute of your fine hospitality" (it would be terrible taste for him to say, "Thank you so much for the excellent dinner, Mary. It was very fine.")

However, this mention of his appreciation of the "charming party" after the dinner would not be instead of his thanks when he is leaving, but added to this. When you and he leave, your husband stands back to allow you to say your goodbye and your thank-you-for-the-delightful-party, and then he says his thank-you.

You say, for instance, "It has been a glorious party, Mary, and you are a wonderful hostess. Thank you so much for asking us."

3. Neither form is correct, in the direct signature. For business letters or letters to those who are to be informed of your formal name (as you would write in a letter to me), this is the correct signature:

Yours very truly,
MAY BROWNE NEELING
(MRS. GEORGE NEELING)

"Pardon My Glove"

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I need your advice. It is about "Pardon my glove." Is this remark ever right or always right? Is the law to take off your right glove whenever convenient, otherwise to apologize? Should one remove the glove outside the door so one can shake hands with the hostess when she opens the door, with a free hand? When you meet someone on the street what do you do about gloves?

SOCIALLY EMBARRASSED.

THE expression "Pardon my glove," has been relegated to the limbo of not-to-be-said things. If a gentleman meets a lady and she extends her hand to shake hands and he has his glove on, he quickly removes his glove. He does not ask pardon for a rudeness; he obeys the law of good from that is demanded of him. The lady is not required to remove her glove when she shakes hands.

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

NEW ZEALAND'S DRYS LOSING GROUND

Robert Bell, newspaper publisher and president of the Press Congress of the World, Christchurch, New Zealand, when on a visit to the United States, was interviewed, in California, on prohibition, for the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest.

Mr. Bell's views are a reflection of those of thousands of Americans and are of especial interest because of his opportunities for making comparative observations. He said:

"Sentiment against prohibition is gaining ground steadily in my country, as has been evidenced by recent election returns. Feeling runs heavily in favor of the country remaining temperate.

LICENSE SYSTEM

"New Zealand is a license country. Every three years a license poll is taken on the same day that the general election for members of the House of Parliament is held. At the license poll taken last November, the temperates defeated the prohibitionists more decisively than at any time since the World War.

"We in New Zealand are a sober, sane community as a whole. We believe in liberty on the subject of liquor, but there is little hard drinking and less drunkenness. Drinking is rather general. That is, the average citizen takes a drink now and then, but drunkenness is not common and I have never seen a woman buy a drink at a public bar.

"Temperance is a different matter from prohibition. A man may take a drink now and then and still be temperate if he keeps his appetite for liquor under control. That is the situation as it exists in New Zealand.

SEES FAILURE HERE

"I have been asked by Americans if prohibition laws such as the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act were passed in New Zealand, would or could they be enforced. My answer is that if one great country with its mass of population will not accept the law of prohibition, then human nature being human nature, why would you expect the people of any other country to do it?

"There is a well organized national prohibition party in New Zealand, but it was smashingly defeated at the last election in November, 1928. In 1919 the prohibitionists nearly won. The vote was 273,511 for temperance and 270,250 dry—a difference of only 3,000 votes.

"But the temperance margin has been gaining steadily since the World War and the figures last November stood 438,776 in favor of license, and only 294,458 for prohibition.

SOLD ONLY IN HOTELS

"Under the license system in effect in New Zealand, liquor is sold only in hotels. There are no saloons and no liquor can be purchased in restaurants or in any place other than hotels. The hotel bar is open only from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night. In addition, a hotel may be licensed to run a bottle store. Bottled liquor may be purchased at such a store but may not be consumed on the premises.

"The licensing committee meets yearly and grants or denies licenses to the various hotels on recommendation of the police as to whether the hotel has been conducted in an orderly manner.

"No liquor may be sold to minors. In case a man shows that he is becoming addicted to liquor, he himself or his family or a relative may have a prohibition order taken out against him, after which he may not purchase liquor for a year. The onus of obeying this order is on the hotel rather than on the man."

Concert by Pupils Scheduled Friday

The object is to acquaint the public with school musical work.

Rum Suspect, Who Wouldn't Talk, Freed

Judge Josiah Cohen today ordered release from the county jail on habeas corpus proceeding of Joseph Angelo, 1540 Clark street, charged with violating the Snyder act.

Angelo was ordered held Friday by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, in the Center Avenue Police Court, at the request of police who said he refused to tell the owner of a still found at the Clark street address. The court held Angelo should have had the option of a fine.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Country Clubs Scenes Of Entertainments Of Springtime

THROUGHOUT Pittsburgh's residential districts, forsythia that lovely flowering bush sometimes called golden rain, conveys the very essence of the piercing beauty of our northern springtime. Everywhere one finds this lovely gift of spring, and most abundantly on the grounds of nearby country clubs.

Now that April is here, the scene of entertainment has been transferred to golf clubs and country clubs. Dinners, teas and bridges are being held on their spacious porches, from which one has a view of acres and acres of verdant landscape.

Mrs. William Singer Moorhead, of Northumberland avenue, entertained on Saturday with a dinner at the Pittsburgh Golf Club in honor of Mrs. Worthington Newbold, of Washington. Mrs. Newbold, who has been the house guest of the James M. Magees, of Forbes street, left late Saturday night with her hostess for the capital.

Mrs. Magee entertained with a dinner in her home Thursday evening for Mrs. Newbold.

FROM time to time we hear of more plans for next winter. I've heard of another prospective debutante for next season. Mary Maccoun, daughter of the A. E. Maccouns, of North Braddock, probably will make her bow next winter, I've learned. Like her sister, Martha, who came out last winter, she'll be presented in Baltimore, the former home of the Maccoun, of Baltimore, was a sis-Maccount, of Baltimore, was a sister debutante of her sister, Martha.

Mary's older sister, Carolyn Maccoun, now Mrs. Edward J. Croker, of Baltimore, also made her debut in the Oriole city. Her wedding took place last Tuesday, you know.

The Maccoun family will spend the spring and late summer, I understand, in their summer home in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Pennsylvania.

* * *

DOWN at Aiken the outstanding event of the week-end was the Fermata School Horse Show on Saturday afternoon, held in the Hitchcock Woods. And a very young Pittsburgh sub-deb won two first prizes and one second. I'm referring to Nancy Lee Byers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Byers, who is known at home as an accomplished horsewoman. She won first prize in the first and second class for open hunters, and second prize in the class for best side-saddle riders.

* * *

HOT SPRINGS always attracts folks from Pittsburgh in the springtime. Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon spent the week-end there with his son, Paul Mellon, undergraduate of Yale.

William G. Costin has gone down to Hot Springs, too, where Mrs. Costin has been for some time.

* * *

MRS. J. HANSON ROSE and her young daughter, Gretchen, of Bennington avenue, have been in New York for a few days, did you know?

* * *

ALTHOUGH most of our wanderers will return to Pittsburgh for the spring, some will go abroad this month and next. The Charles D. Armstrongs, of Lexington avenue, their son, C. Dudley Armstrong, and Mrs. Stewart N. Pool will sail Wednesday on the Mauretania for Europe. They'll spend the next two or three months traveling in France, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Spain, England and Scotland.

TUESDAY, April 30, is the date chosen by Miss Helen Louise Cousley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cousley, of Denniston avenue, for her marriage to James Irwin Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin, of Wilkinsburg. The ceremony will be performed at 7:30 o'clock in the Third United Presbyterian Church. Miss Jane Cousley will be her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Ruth Cousley, Miss Elinor Martin, Miss Eleanor Brown and Miss Helen Blackmore. Constance Cole, cousin of the bride, will be flower girl. Dr. Bruce H. Sisler is to be best man and the ushers will include Stanley Cousley, Robert Eckhardt, Edwin Robinson and Frank Fischer. Mrs. Nevin T. Brenner, of Emsworth, entertained with a bridge luncheon recently for Miss Cousley.

MISS MARY BACHOFER will be in charge of dancing at the spring reception and card party which Court Swissvale No. 990, Catholic Daughters of America, will give Wednesday night, April 17, in the K. of C. Council House, Braddock. Mrs. Kathryn Morrison is general chairman.

* * *

THE Greenfield Community Club will hold its first annual dance and card party tomorrow night in the Morrowfield Hotel. S. R. Ladley, Lew Tovey, William Grounds, C. Dolan and John Kelly comprise the general committee. There will be both old-time and modern dances and euchre, "500" and old maid will be played. Thomas A. Welsh is president of the club.

MISS ALICE M'AFEE, president of the Panhellenic Association of the University of Pittsburgh, will lead the grand march at the association's dance to be held Friday night in the Hotel Schenley. Miss Gertrude Starr is chairman, assisted by Miss Mary Weaver, Miss Sara Munsen, Miss Olive Cole, Miss Tillie Mertzer, Miss Emma Brown, Miss Lucile Frost and Miss Mary Munsch.

* * *

BERT TUCKER will be guest of honor and one of the entertainers at the Homestead Religious School benefit dance and card party to be held Wednesday night in Stahl's Dance Gardens, sponsored by the confirmation class of 1929. Max Applebaum is superintendent of the school and Saul Perilman is faculty adviser, while Miss Gertrude L. Magram is general chairman for the dance.

AT a luncheon, Saturday, the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Woodburn, of Petrolia, Pa., announced the engagement of their daughter, Lois, to Carroll Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. M. Cross, of Bruin, Pa. The honor guest at the luncheon was Mrs. Dayne Kelly, of Scotch Plains, N. J., a sister of Mr. Cross. The wedding date will be announced later.

THE Purdue Alumni Association of Pittsburgh will hold an informal dinner dance and bridge party Saturday night at 7 o'clock in the Norse room of the Fort Pitt Hotel. Mrs. C. R. Fay and Frank B. Tucker are chairmen of the committee in charge.

GETS JOB BACK IN 'LOVE QUIZ'

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 8.—(AP.)—The full board of curators of the University of Missouri yesterday upheld dismissal of Dr. Harmon O. Degraff, assistant professor of sociology, for his part in the circulation of a "love and marriage" questionnaire among students, and granted reinstatement to Dr. Max F. Mayer, suspended professor of phsychology.

Dr. Meyer, however, was ordered suspended for one year. Degraff's permanent discharge takes effect today.

The board of nine members which deliberated nearly two days in a "trial" of the faculty members, did not mention G. H. Mowrer, student assistant instructor in psychology, who was ordered dismissed by the executive board of curators March 20 along with Dr. Meyer and Dr. Degraff.

The three faculty members had sanctioned circulation of the questionnaire among 1,000 men and women sttudents. The row that followed stirred the entire state and even reached the floor of the State Legislature.

Mowrer is permanently ousted from the faculty as the full board approved the executive board's action, except as it affected Dr. Meyer.

Northesk to Marry Tennis Star's Cousin

LONDON, April 8.—(AP.)—Lord Northesk, whose marriage to Miss Jessica Brown, American actress, was dissolved last year, has become engaged to Miss Betty Vlasto, daughter of Anthony Vlasto of Bracknell, Berkshire, and a cousin of the well known tennis player, Mlle. Didi Vlasto.

75,000 BLESSED BY POPE AMID WILD DEMONSTRATION

VATICAN CITY, April 8.—(AP.)—From a window in his private apartment in the Vatican, Pope Pius yesterday bestowed a pontifical blessing upon 25,000 veterans of Italy's famous Alpine Guards, who assembled in St. Peter's Square with at least 50,000 other persons.

After the mountaineer visitors attended mass in St. Peter's, they assembled by companies in the great open space and waited patiently for the sun to break through the low-hanging clouds and dispel the slight drizzle. Almost at the moment the first rays of sunshine came, the great window was thrown open and the white-clad figure stood revealed with his right arm raised in a gesture of benediction. A tremendous ovation greeted him and his holiness who was himself an Alpine climber in youth, seemed greatly moved.

CROWD SEA OF COLOR

"Eviva papa! Eviva la conciliazione!" repeatedly went up from the 75,000 throats. Through field glasses the pontiff was seen to close his eyes for a moment as if to register for memory the scene below and then raise his right hand again.

Five times he blessed the assembled multitude with the sign of the cross and as the vivas, hat and banner-waving continued, his stern features relaxed in a smile. Finally, as if caught by the enthusiasm of his flock below, the pontiff took up his big broad-brimmed red hat with its golden tassels and waved it vigorously.

The crowd was a veritable sea of color. Intermingled with the Alpine veterans in their jauntily upturned peaked felt hats, with red feathers stuck in the ribbon and gray-green uniforms, were detachments of Roman police afoot and mounted, dressed in shiny black helmets, dark blue uniforms, gold fourrageres, buttons and ornaments.

REPRESENT ALL ARMS

There were representtatives of all arms in the Italian service, little clusters of clerics whose costumes ranged from severe black to the white of Dominicans and the brown of the Franciscans, relieved here and there by brilliant colored sashes of students from the various colleges.

The throng was thus a cross section of the entire Catholic world. It gathered well before 7 o'clock, despite a cutting wind and cold and was content with music from the many bands and the singing of the Alpinist choirs. Above the heads of the crowds fluttered standards of the Alpine regiments—flags of Piedmont, homeland of Italy's king—flags of Milan, home province of the pope and many more.

This is the second time Pope Pius has shown himself to a crowd in St. Peter's square since the signing of the Lateran Treaty between the Holy See and Italy on February 11, and the third time since 1870 that a pope has appeared overlooking the great square to bestow a pontifical benediction.

A PRACTICAL PLAY GARMENT FOR A SMALL CHILD

This is an excellent model, comfortable and convenient. The front is gathered below a square yoke. The body portion of the back is buttoned to the waist portion under the belt, which holds the fulness of the front at the waistline. The sleeve may be finished in wrist length with a band cuff or short above the elbow. Legbands confine the fulness of the leg portions. Pongee, rep, cotton prints, Peter Pan cloth, madras and cotton broadcloth are suggested for this style.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 1 years, 2 and 3 years. To make the garment for a 2 year size will require 2 yards of 32-inch material. To make collar, belt, sleeve bands and legbands of contrasting material, will require ⅝ yard, 32 inches wide.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SYRIA MOSQUE

PROGRAM.

Overture, "Rosamunde"	Schubert
Concerto No. 4 in C Minor, Op 44	Saint-Saens
Alexander Brailowsky.
Rakoczy March	Berlioz
"America"—An Epic Rhapsody in Three Parts	Bloch

Part I—1620—The Soil—The Indians—England—The Mayflower—The Landing of the Pilgrims.
Part II—1861-1865—Hours of Joy—Hours of Sorrow.
PART III—1926—The Present—Speed—Noise—Material Prosperity—The Future—Reconstruction—The Call of America to the Nations of the World.

The Pittsburgh Symphony Society closed another successful season with a rousing concert in Syria Mosque last night. The constant improvement in the quality of performance from these players, together with the fine enthusiasm of the audiences—and this is most important—seems to assure us that the orchestra will live. Its policies were well demonstrated last evening when it played one of the most widely discussed and newest of American works. It means to educate as well as entertain us, and so we must be heart and soul for our players.

Willem van Hoogstraten was guest conductor, and is a stranger to Pittsburgh. He had little to demonstrate his abilities in the early part of the program, but proved himself a leader of vigor and imagination during the symphony.

Interest naturally centered on the symphonic poem "America" of Ernest Bloch, a prize composition with unanimous approval of worthy judges. After Bloch's marvelously original music on Hebrew traditions, this work is a great dispointment. His symphonic works have avoided Hebrew folk music as basic material; but the composer has found within himself an idiom which expressed the magnificent qualities of his race. Just that is what Bloch has missed in "America." It is fragmentary in spite of its fluency; and for this reason the music soon sounds like a catalog of tunes from every quarter of America and from every epoch of its history. Only in the last movement does the composer find an original expression for our country. Here, in spite of a catalog of sounds from the klaxon to the anvil, and in spite of recapitulation of the previously stated tunes, he manages an original form that ends in a broad full-throated hymn. The music is very comprehensible. It has but little of what we know as modernism to disturb our ears. There is a touch of jazz, but otherwise little that intrigues in the way of orchestration. The symphony was well planned but not glorious'y inspired.

Alexander Brailowsky was soloist, playing the Saint--Saens C Minor concerto for piano. Ecomiums have been heaped on this player through this column, and last night he proved once more how worthy he is of all praise. If piano playing for its own glory is to survive the mechanical age in which we are playing and listening, then it is to an idealist like Brailowsky that we shall owe it all. He has the fingers, the brain, and the heart, and last night he imbued the dull trills, scales and arpeggios of Saint-Saens' music with a wealth of poetry that will remain a delight for all time. He was received with great cordiality, and responded with Chopin's "Minute Valse," and the Liszt "Campanella" as encores.

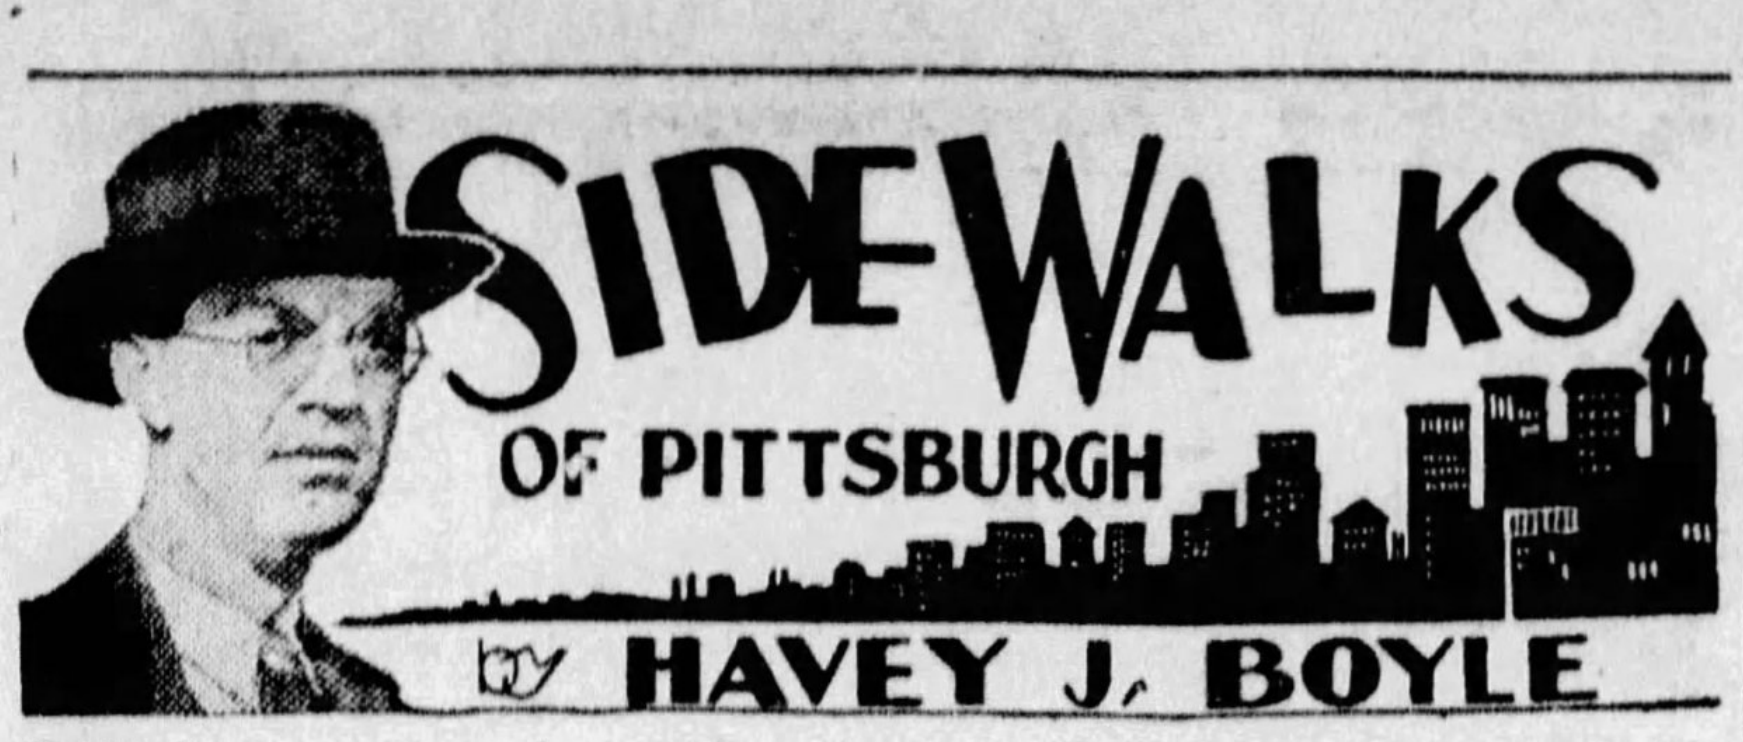
LINCOLN BOARD RENEWS TROLLEY FIGHT



SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

I WAS about the only one in the broker's office this day who didn't care what figures they put up on the board. I knew the baking stock couldn't go any lower unless they invented a new system of numerals, so I just watched what was going on.

* * *

There were four women seated and one woman standing. The rest of the room was crowded with men. The woman who was standing was forced to stoop to converse with her sisters favored with chairs. They watched figures that slide along a panel of glass. The women players were comfortably dressed, but not elegantly attired. In fact, it would appear that when one gets to that point where one worries about Potato Salad, common, or what Lightning Rods, Pfd., will do one just puts the bonnet on without consulting a mirror.

* * *

A FEMALE clerk in a half balcony had to have a good voice to call down to a co-worker on the main floor. She wanted to know the latest about Apple Sauce and the clerk would call up: "84⅞," being 93 4/16 ON APPLE SAUCE !

AND I THOUGHT IT WOULD GO TO 93 5/16 !!

a particular fellow. I thought he split hairs a little too much. Why not say around 90?

* * *

The expressions on the faces of the men assembled were familiar as they watched the figures moving across the panel. I recalled that at the Kentucky Derby I saw such faces looking over at the board which tells, after each race, what prices the winners in the first, second, and third positions pay. Too, I have seen gentlemen yearning for an 11 or a 7 on small cubes wear the same expression and once I recall seeing a man peel back four playing cards and search, ever so carefully, for the outer edge of the pip on the fifth card who suggested the gentlemen in the broker's office.

* * *

WHAT I imagined was an attache of the office, a man who was without his hat (and he didn't look like a college freshman) moved here and there, serving either as a morale booster, possibly, or just keeping himself in readiness to offer what was asked for. He had a professional air and viewpoint, something like that displayed by the surgeon after he has given the patient the ether: interested but not a fanatic.

ANYTHING YOU GENTLEMEN WISH !
ASK HIM !
I THOUGHT HE WAS A COLLEGE BOY !

* * *

There was a constant buzz in conversational under-tones, which was interrupted from time to time by a voice through a loud speaker. No one seemed to pay much attention to this voice, as the low conversation was resumed. The bulletin I heard had something to do with the interest on money. This was a little vague to those of us who know that you get 4 per cent on money deposited and that you pay 6 per cent on the money you borrow.

* * *

FOUR boys walked a plank, making figures on a black-board. Getting the habit from hearing the figures called, I should say that the first boy stood five and a half feet high, the next one five and seven-eighths, the third five and three-quarters, with the fourth reaching a new high of six and three-eighths.

* * *

It was a slow day, generally, for I didn't see anyone going up to the window marked "Orders." The boys were just shopping, either feeling they had enough of what they once thought was good, or possibly too much. And it is just possible that a few of them had no money.

* * *

ANY moment I expected to hear someone announce: Weather clear; track fast.

BELLEVUE BUS LINE BEGINS

Bellevue residents had their choice of three means of transportation today—bus, trolley and train.

Bus service was instituted at 7:30 a. m. by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company. Many took advantage of the new mode of travel to reach their places of employment. Residents along the route on the North Side added to the patronage of the buses on the first day's trips.

Five coaches were in use today with 12-minute service during rush hours and a 15-minute schedule at other times.

MT. OLIVER ASKS MORE LIGHTS

Brownsville road will have the appearance of a "white way" if plans urged before the Mt. Oliver borough council are adopted. A committee from the Mt. Oliver-Knoxville Business Association appeared before council and urged that body to improve the above named thoroughfare by the installation of additional lights.

At the present time it is contended the lights illuminate the roof tops and not the streets. To adequately light Brownsville road it is estimated 29 lights will be needed. The present candle power of the lights is 250, while the new plan urged the candlepower be raised to 1,000.

Society to Hold Birthday Social

The Zion Missionary Society will give a birthday social at the Zion Lutheran Church, Brentwood, Thursday evening. Each table will represent a month of the year and will be decorated accordingly. An extensive program has been planned. Mrs. Louis Klein is president of the society.

GOVERNOR FISHER LAUDS RADIO IN SCHOOL PLAN

"I believe that radio could be the means of placing before the pupils of our public schools matter of public interest and of undoubted educational value if properly applied," says Gov. John S. Fisher, of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Stanley-Warner Brothers' campaign to put a radio in every Pittsburgh district school.

This indorsement of the campaign from the Governor of the state adds weight to the many other indorsements already received from men prominent in many fields of endeavor and from noted educators in the Pittsburgh district.

Gov. Fisher

Gov. Fisher is well-known for his intelligent attitude toward anything affecting the educational institutions and methods of the schools. It has long been his aim to preserve the schools from immature and undeveloped changes while indorsing such changes as he felt would be beneficial to the educational leadership of the state. His interest in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Stanley-Warner Brothers' campaign is obviously a valuable one.

While these many indorsements continue to reach the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, action on the campaign is rapidly becoming organized and efficient. In Wilkinsburg the school children are responding heartily to the call for subscriptions and, while the Wilkinsburg students are acting somewhat later than those of many other districts, it is said that such vigor has already been shown in their attitude that installation of the first set should occur in a short time.

One of the most efficient manners of attacking the problem of obtaining sufficient orders to secure installation of this fine $138.50 eight-tube Atwater Kent electro-dynamic self-contained radio receiving set is said to be for groups of students to band together in concerted effort.

SPEAKERS SUPPLIED

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will send speakers to tell these groups about the campaign at any suitable place outside the schools and will lend every effort to aid them in their work. One hundred and twenty-five 13-week orders are necessary for installation of this set.

It has been pointed out that students are already going to neighboring friends and tradespeople in their efforts to secure subscriptions. Such methods have been remarkably successful up to the present time. Some organizations are finding that, if each student in a room of 40 pupils sets out to get four orders, over-subscription is practically assured.

The campaign is well under way and bids fair to be a huge success. It is hoped that the boys and girls of every school in the district will participate.

SQUIRREL HILL TO SET SCHOOL MEETINGS

The Squirrel Hill Board of Trade will meet tonight in the Morrowfield Hotel at which time it is expected action will be announced on the movement for a new grade school in that district.

George M. Dowler, chairman of the committee on the needed additional educational facilities, will announce the date it is believed, for the mass meeting which it was decided to hold on the school question.

Many prominent Squirrel Hill residents have indorsed the movement as being the only solution leading to the elimination of school children of the central Squirrel Hill district, being compelled to walk long distances to school.

"PIG OF PUGET SOUND."

The "Pig Story of Puget Sound" provides the historical basis for the broadcast tonight.

About the middle of the last century, the San Juan Islands in Puget Sound were occupied jointly by English and Americans as a result of the treaty of 1846, which left the boundary between the United States and Canada somewhat doubtful in the Puget Sound region.

During this period, an American named Tucker raised a potato patch on one of the islands, of which he was especially proud. But an Englishman named Griffin had a pig of which he was equally proud, and the pig rooted up the potato patch. Tucker shot the pig and offered to reimburse Griffin for the animal.

Griffin refused to accept the money, and sent to Victoria for a British gunboat, which was dispatched. American troops were sent from the mainland, and hostilities were narrowly averted.

The incident, which at one time bid fair to have international importance, was culminated peacefully by fining Tucker $100 for shooting the pig. Thereafter both English and Americans lived peaceably under the one protection of their government.

Holdup Men Using Corncob as Gun Get Terms

UNIONTOWN, April 8.—Use of a corncob in holding up Charles Decorse, of Outcrop, resulted in a sentence of from four to eight years in the penitentiary for Harry Smiley and Bruce McIntyre. They secured $2 and a penknife from their victim.

As an alibi the men stated that they didn't have a gun, but frightened their victim with a corncob.

ADMITS $300,000 THEFTS; FILM STARS ARE VICTIMS

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—(AP.)—The confession of Walter M. Deutsch that he had gleaned more than $300,000 worth of valuables in 100 burglaries during the last six years, was being checked here today by police.

The confession, made public by police detectives after Deutsch's arrest, declared that he had burglarized the homes of many motion picture actors, including those of Jackie Coogan and Jack Pickford. About $80,000 worth of jewels were said to have been taken by Deutsch from the Coogan and Pickford homes.

Diamonds and jewelry worth about $5,000 were recovered from a sewer at Deutsch's home when he was arrested.

Deutsch declared he had operated as a jewelry broker by day and a jewelry burglar by night.

Earlier in the day four other men had been arrested in his rooming house on charges of robbery. O'Donnell's arrest was believed to have resulted from information furnished by the four.

NEW FEDERAL COURT INDEX COMPLETED

Work of re-indexing the records of the office of United States Attorney John D. Meyer from a card system to an up-to-date filing system, similar to that used in the county courts of record, has been completed.

More than 60,000 names in criminal cases have been transferred to the new index, and the equipment is adequate to care for 100,000 names. A special force of clerks was engaged in the work.

The improved index and filing system was greatly needed, it was said, as most of the card indexes were so badly thumbed that names were hardly legible, and the dilapidated condition of the cards delayed the work in the government attorney's office.

AVIATION CORP. GETS FAIRCHILD

The Fairchild Corporation, through its subsidiaries, manufactures airplanes, aerial cameras, airplane engines and motor boats and does an extensive business in aerial surveys. Sherman M. Fairchild, head of the group, said the change in control will not affect the present management.

A Man of Rare Professional Attainment

The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the late Ray V. Pierce, M. D. At first he practiced medicine in Western Pennsylvania and his unusual ability and success were soon recognized there. Then he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where his famous remedies have ever since been made.

Each succeeding year the sale of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has geen greatly increased. Evidently people appreciate the fact that it increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, helps to enrich the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young. It contains no harmful ingredient.

Ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, tablets or liquid; or send 10 cents for a trial package to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

The BROADWAY MELODY by Jack LAIT

Hank Tells Eddie She Is Worried About the Way Queenie Is Acting

(From a Scenario by Edmund Goulding.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Eddie Kerns, song plugger, has written the music for "The Broadway Melody," a big revue to be produced by the famous Zanfield. For two years Eddie has been engaged to "Hank" Mahoney and now he sees his way clear to marry her. She and her younger sister, Queene, are playing in vaudeville and Eddie summons them to New York and tells them he has managed to place them in the revue. They are overjoyed, but Eddie suddenly discovers that he's lost his heart to Queenie who has developed into a startling beauty in the two years since he saw her last. He keeps his secret from "Hank" and the girls turn down a long vaudeville contract for a chance to make good in the revue. Zannie, after seeing the "Mahoney Sisters" perform, decides that he could only use Queenie. She, however, appeals to him to also give her sister a chance in the show. He consents. "Hank" believes that she put it over. During a dress rehearsal Eddie shows the sisters the big ad in the newspaper announcing their coming to Broadway. When Hank kisses Eddie, Queenie cries. Zannie gives Queenie a place in the revue. She makes an impression and the two "angels" of the revue invite her out to dine after the show. Dore, one of the show girls, tells Queenie to watch her step with Worthington. Eddie questions Queenie about "Warry" and tells her to keep away from him. Ignoring Eddie's protest she goes out with Warriner. When "Hank" arrives home with Eddie she discovers Queenie in. The two "angels" are disappointed when Queenie wouldn't play their game. However, "Warry" sends the other half of the $1,000 bill to Queenie. Just as she is talking to him over the telephone, "Hank" returns and finds the torn $1,000 bill.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII.

AS Hank went into the bathroom to prepare the usual cold-creaming process preliminary to bedtime, Queenie snatched up the two halves of the $1,000 bill, over which she had told her sister the first out-and-out lie that ever passed between them. Hank believed it was stage money.

Queenie hid the treasure, and next morning she slipped away and opened a checking account with the "grand" which the teller pasted together, wondering curiously how such an accident could have happened to a note of such dimensions. He scrutinized the torn note under a magnifying glass. The edges dovetailed to a hair. The bill was bona fide enough. He asked no questions.

Money had never meant much to Queenie. She rarely had any, and never handled more than the few cents she needed for a newspaper or a soda. Hank "did the business" for the team, collected the salary, paid all the bills and banked what was left over, which wasn't much in spite of the thrifty scale of their lives.

Now a strange sense of recklessness possessed Queenie. She was the mistress of a thousand dollars! Not only was it hers, all hers, but she couldn't share it with Hank if she wanted to, because after her falsehood, her simple and true explanation of how she got it and why would be highly implausible. She felt downright wicked, with her secrets and the consciousness of deceit.

Rehearsals for "Broadway Melody" were ended. But, as is customary with dancers, the individual members of the troupe kept on running through their steps daily to keep in trim and rhythm. When Queenie joined Hank at the theater there were a dozen performers already there. The stage crew still had plenty of eleventh hour work to do and there was hammering and the scraping of heavy props in the air.

Hank was busily scratching ridges into the metaled toetips of her stage shoes to give that rubby sound which is the essence of the modern toe-dance, amplified by sand-paper rubbing from the trap-drummer.

There was no music to be had, and had there been it would only have thrown off all the other rehearsers, each of whom was doing his or her own routine. A couple of stand-lamps plugged into wall boxes cast a garish yellow glow and made eerie arabesque shadows that leaped grotesquely as the troupers danced.

On the "apron" of the stage, timing himself by clapping his hands and slapping his thighs, was Eddie Kerns, executing his soft-shoe steps. He had his derby hat on, but his coat and vest off.

A conscientious, ambitious ham was this youth. He regarded himself as the greatest in the profession and had an amusingly optimistic confidence in his future. But he was willing to give to his work as much as he expected it to yield him. Nothing lazy about Eddie.

He ran his program through several times before lightly perspiring, he knocked off, put on his coat, set his hat at civilian angle (about 45 degrees was his style) and strolled, whistling, to the girls' dressing room. Queenie was changing to her "practice clothes," so Eddie could not come in. But Hank came out and joined him.

"There's something up, Eddie," she said.

"How come—what?"

"When I left you last night and came back to the hotel I let myself in with the key. Queenie was on the phone—I didn't hear what she was saying, but I heard her say 'Ouch—here she comes now'—and she hung up."

"Well—did you ask her?"

"H'm—no. For the first time in my life I couldn't. I felt something, Eddie. I still feel it . . . darling, something is gnawin' at me like a toothache in my heart—I can''t help feelin' that I'm—we—that Queenie an' me are bein' pulled apart—by somethin'—an' oh, Eddie, you don't know how I love that kid!"

Eddie stroked his clean-shaven chin meditatively.

"You s'pose it's Warriner?" he asked. "Could it o' been him on the wire?"

"Most likely. But I don' see how he could have split us so fast."

"He's got a reputation as the swiftest worker on Broadway."

"He should have if he could change Queenie from the sweet baby I've always known her to be into something that's strange an' weird—all in three minutes backstage here yest'day morning' an' maybe here an' the hotel, an' one talk by 'phone. She never met the man any other time...no, that may have somethin' to do with it, but there's another angle somewheres."

Eddie, who had better than a suspicion of what the other angle could be—the third angle of the triangle which had never been mentioned in words by anyone — found nothing to say. And just then Queenie, looking jauntly and childish in her bloomers and jersey waist, joined them.

"H'lo, Eddie," she chirped. "Come on, Hank—let's go."

Hank slid her arm around Queenies trim waist. They took a spot well upstage and Eddie stood by, clapping in split-beat time for them, watching critically with professional eye. None of them saw the stage door open and Warriner enter.

As they ended their fourth time through their bit, they started for their room. Warriner, who had been sitting on a crate, came forward, raised his hat and greeted them.

Queenie, who had met many men and never paid much heed to any of them until she suffered the first mysterious twitching of her love for Eddie, felt herself blushing.

In the back of her brain was a fear that Warriner might mention the $1,000 bill in the presence of Hank—and Eddie. But that wasn't the main cause of her embarrassment. She knew, of course, that Eddie resented Warriner and that Hank loathed him. She knew Warry had come there to meet her.

As one of the angels of "Broadway Melody," he had legitimate entree to the sacrosanct backstage precincts of the theater, and so his presence was not pointed at her directly. But the four of them knew and the four of them were right. Warry had left word to be called as soon as Queenie arrived, and the door-tender had tipped him, for which courtesy Warry had tipped the door-tender.

Queenie didn't know whether to step out of line and speak with Warriner, or to go past him with just a bow and a smile of acknowledgment, or to stay and speak in the presence of Eddie and Hank. Warriner adjusted the difficulty for her by addressing her, but with no attempt to single her out of the trio.

"What's this I hear," he asked, "about someone having a birthday?"

"Queenie wondered where he had heard of it—she was to be 19 next day.

"How did you get the big news?" inquired Queenie.

"Oh, one of my secret service spies ferreted it out . . . no, it was quite simple and accidental. One of the other girls told me yesterday. We were discussing you and your age; one girl said you were 18—going to be 19 tomorrow—she had overheard you and your sister discussing it."

"Well, it's true," said Hank. "I guess I ought to know. I raised her since she was in rompers."

"She's in rompers yet," said Warry, with a smile. "But let me compliment you on the excellent job you did of raising little Queenie. She is a girl you can be proud of . . . and I should know a little about girls, especially girls on the stage."

"I should hope you would," interposed Eddie.

"I'm not ashamed to admit it. I am a bachelor. I don't have to work, I enjoy the companionship of attractive girls. Broadway is my playground. Many of the things said about me are entirely false. I am rarely seen alone with a girl—"

"Rarely seen is right," snapped Eddie, rather hostile in his tone though hesitant to openly offend the man who had thousands in the revue. "You're too wise for that, but that doesn't mean that you're rarely with a girl alone."

"Oh, come now, Kerns—aren't you riding me a trifle? How about yourself? They whisper that you're a bit of a go-getter, yourself."

Hank threw Eddie a puzzled and quizzical look.

"Who? Me?" Eddie defended himself. "Say—I'm an airedale, I am. I'm engaged to Miss Mahoney, an'—"

"Congratulations. To which Miss Mahoney, if I'm in order?"

"To this Miss Mahoney," answered Hank for him. "An' you can pass that on to the wide an' wonderin' world."

"Well, well—isn't that fine? I wish you every happiness."

"Thanks," said Hank. "We ain' gettin' doubled up yet for a while. If the show clicks and Eddie's songs go over an' we're set cute an' pretty, then we'll tell it to the judge."

"And you, Queenie," asked Warriner. "Don't tell me that you have an Eddie Kerns in the distance."

Queenie felt the blood rush up into her pretty cheeks.

"No—no—I have no one—in the distance," she stuttered.

Her eyes and Eddie's were fixed in a glance between them.

"I—I think we have to go now," Queenie mumbled, to break the situation. "I have to get a water-wave an' a dancin' lesson."

"What celebratin' we're goin' to do, Mr. Warriner," spoke up Hank, "is comin' off in our little livin' room at the Princeton. You would not be seen there on a bet."

"I'd be only too delighted."

"Well, sorry, but there ain' goin' to be no party. The show opens the nex' night, so we got to punish a whole lot o' hay . . . come on, Queen."

There was a broad smile on the handsome face of Francis Warriner as he watched them go; and on the features of Eddie Kerns there was an ugly scowl.

"I'm goin' to have to sock that guy in his good-lookin' kisser if he keeps on makin' a play for Queenie," growled Eddie.

Dakota Justice

Daily Short Story

TEXAS TOM shook the snow from his buckskin coat as he paused in the low doorway of the cabin. Pierre, the half-breed who had shared the cabin with Texas Tom for weeks, sat, like a Buddhist idol, looking with forlorn gaze into huge fireplace where burning logs were stacked high. In a corner Jack, the wolf dog, gaunt and melancholy, dozed.

"Well!" drawled Pierre, without taking his gaze from the fireplace, "well, what luck?"

"The game seemed to have vanished from this section," said Texas Tom as he closed the cabin door. "I've searched the whole valley and spent a night in the foothills over near the Montana line. The deer and the elk have vanished and the smaller game are so well hidden in their burrows in the deep timber that we will have a hard time finding sufficient meat to keep us alive until spring."

"If it wasn't for him," snapped Pierre.

Texas Tom was silent. But he observed with forbidding calm Pierre's stiletto pointed stare at the dog crouched in the corner. Texas Tom read that stare on Pierre's face for the half-breed's eyes spoke in a language stronger than words.

The partners were quiet for several minutes.

"That dog eats as much as either of us," Pierre asserted, breaking the silence, "and he's a worthless brute, Tex, a no-good dog, that's all. . . Ever since you bought that wolf of a dog over in Deadwood ill luck has trailed us. Wish you had let the Canuck take him to Alaska for a team dog. He offered you twice his price. Tex, you are a fool to keep that dog and let him eat his head off while we face starvation!"

Texas Tom replied in Jack's defense by walking to where the dog crouched and patting him several times on the head. Jack responded by licking Tom's hand.

"You are a fool. . . I say, Texas, you are a fool!" growled Pierre as he rolled into his bunk and went to sleep.

Texas Tom and Pierre DeNette faced starvation. They were trappers out in the wild stretch of country known as Dakota territory. It was before the division of that giant territory into North and South Dakota and years before statehood. The trappers had carried with them only a limited supply of food, figuring on killing a sufficient amount of wild game before the coming of winter to last them until spring. They built a cabin of cottonwood logs beside a small creek with a ridge of high ground just back of it. The cabin was to be their shelter against the ruthless Dakota winter.

But winter came with unusual suddenness, driving before its fury the game that frequented the western sections of Dakota. Deer and elk raced to the foothills for shelter. Bison, in this section, were scarce due to the ruthless tactics of the buffalo hunter. Texas Tom and Pierre DeNette faced death. They had been trapped by winter's icy breath.

Texas Tom's love for Jack, the gaunt wolf dog, was the cause of a quarrel between the man from Texas and the man from the Northland. Tom had bought the dog from a Sioux who claimed the beast had in him the wolf strain. Tom doubted this story, but he admired the huge creature, whose wolf-like appearance he knew to be derived from an ancestry that was German shepherd.

At length the quarrel between Texas Tom and Pierre reached the breaking point. When only a few days' supply of food remained Pierre demanded that the dog be driven from the cabin or slain.

"I'll never agree to kill that dog!" said Tom, "if he goes out in the blizzard to starve . . . well, I'll go with him."

"But the grub," groaned Pierre, "there's maybe enough to keep us from starving! We must do something or we will starve!"

Texas Tom was silent for a moment. Then he drawled in an easy voice that told of the rolling hills of Texas: "Listen, Pierre, that dog ain't going to die as long as I live, if I can keep him alive. There is one box of cartridges left and there is sufficient food to last one man for several weeks. Now, Pierre, I'll give you your choice. Take the cabin and the grub or take the trail with rifle and box of cartridges."

Pierre's face brightened. He knew a bargain and seldom missed one when it came his way. He hesitated only a moment, and that for effect. Then he said: "I'll take the cabin . . I'll try to make the grub last till next spring when the deer come back."

Into the blizzard went Texas Tom. And beside him trotted Jack, grim and silent with the reality of life and gray like the powerful timber that raced over the vast wilderness of Dakota territory.

Behind, in the cabin, Pierre was delighted. He had no cartridges for his rifle but he had shelter from the cold and food. And that dog was gone. Pierre was happy!

"He's a fool!" soliloquized Pierre, "he can't live in that blizzard. Texas Tom will never reach Deadwood. But he can't blame me. It's a case of looking out for yourself . . . it's the survival of the fittest!'

There was a growl at the door. A growl, menacing and forbidding, that talked in the blood thirsty language of the wild.

Pierre hesitated for a fragment of time. He glanced at his rifle in a corner of the cabin. Then he remembered taking food in preference to cartridges.

Black night crept over the wilderness.

Pierre walked to a window. He shrieked with terror. The wolf pack, whipped by hunger's cruel lash, crowded near the cabin door. The scent of meat in Pierre's grub box pierced the nostrils of the wolves and the whip of hunger drove the beasts on their ruthless mission. It was the survival of the fittest!

A big wolf, snarling and threatening, plunged against the door. Pierre shrieked in horror. A second later he grabbed his rifle. Then he thought!

"No cartridges!"

A window gave way when a huge wolf plunged against it. Pierre struck the creature a terrific blow with his rifle, rendering him temporarily unconscious. Other wolves, gone mad with hunger's pain, leaped through the window. Pierre was overwhelmed. A fang found its mark and Pierre sank to the floor and was devoured by the pack.

* * *

Texas Tom, weak with hunger, gambled with death as he plunged through the snow toward Deadwood. The blizzard swept down from the Arctic with the sting of a slaver's lash. Hunger, born of many days of scant rations and of some days when there was no food, tore constantly at Texas Tom's vitals with the ferocity of a gnawing rat. Jack, faithful pal of the trail, trod beside his master.

When night gathered over the wilderness Texas Tom built a fire in the bed of a small creek and spread his blanket against the bank. He was weary and hoped to refresh himself with a good night's rest. Years spent in the wild places of the West had so accustomed him to cold and hunger that he could wrap himself in blankets and sleep soundly in the open, although the temperature was far below zero.

Texas Tom had been sleeping an hour or more when he was awakened by the barks of Jack. Tom recognized in the nervous bark of the dog an event of unusual importance. Jerking up his rifle, Tom trudged through the deep snow toward the dog.

"A wolf! A lone wolf!" Tom had said as he approached a turn in the creek where Jack was circling around a monster beast and barking in an excited manner.

Tom found some difficulty in taking aim. His arm was unsteady and his whole body was bordering on a state of collapse. But the bullet found its mark. The wolf leaped into the air and crumpled to the ground, still in death.

An instant later Texas Tom's eyes glowed with astonishment. Beside the dead wolf was the carcass of a deer! The creature, a straggler from vast herds that had fled to the foothills for protection from the blizzard, had been slain by the big wolf. And Jack, scenting the meat, had roused from his sleep and later given the alarm the only manner he knew.

Texas Tom had escaped death. He and Jack dined that night on venison. First, they ate the meat raw for men will cast aside many of the formalities of civilization when faced with starvation.

The way to Deadwood was easy.

The blizzard still raged but Texas Tom's body was made strong by the deer meat. And Jack also gained strength from the meat his courage had won from the wolf.

In the years that passed Texas Tom and his dog were familiar figures on the streets of Deadwood. But the fate of Pierre DeNette remained one of the mysteries of old Dakota territory.

HE SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief in 2 Months — Doctor Recommended It

Constipation is dreaded not only for its own insidious self, but because of the many serious conditions and diseases it causes. Mr. Lind was a sufferer—but read how he found relief.

"For the past 10 years I have suffered from piles. At times I have been unable to work. I have tried suppositories, ointments, etc., but to no avail.

"Two months ago my grocer called my attention to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I began taking it regularly. Immediately the pain and annoyance from the piles was relieved. I found that it requires very little ALL-BRAN to give nature a fair chance to effect a cure."—WALTER J. LIND, R. 2, Box 137, Appleton, Wis.

Don't neglect constipation. At any time its poisons may take terrible toll from your health and well-being. Protect yourself. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN brings sure, natural relief. It is what doctors call a bulk food. ADAMS RETURNS TO SHORT FOR BUCS

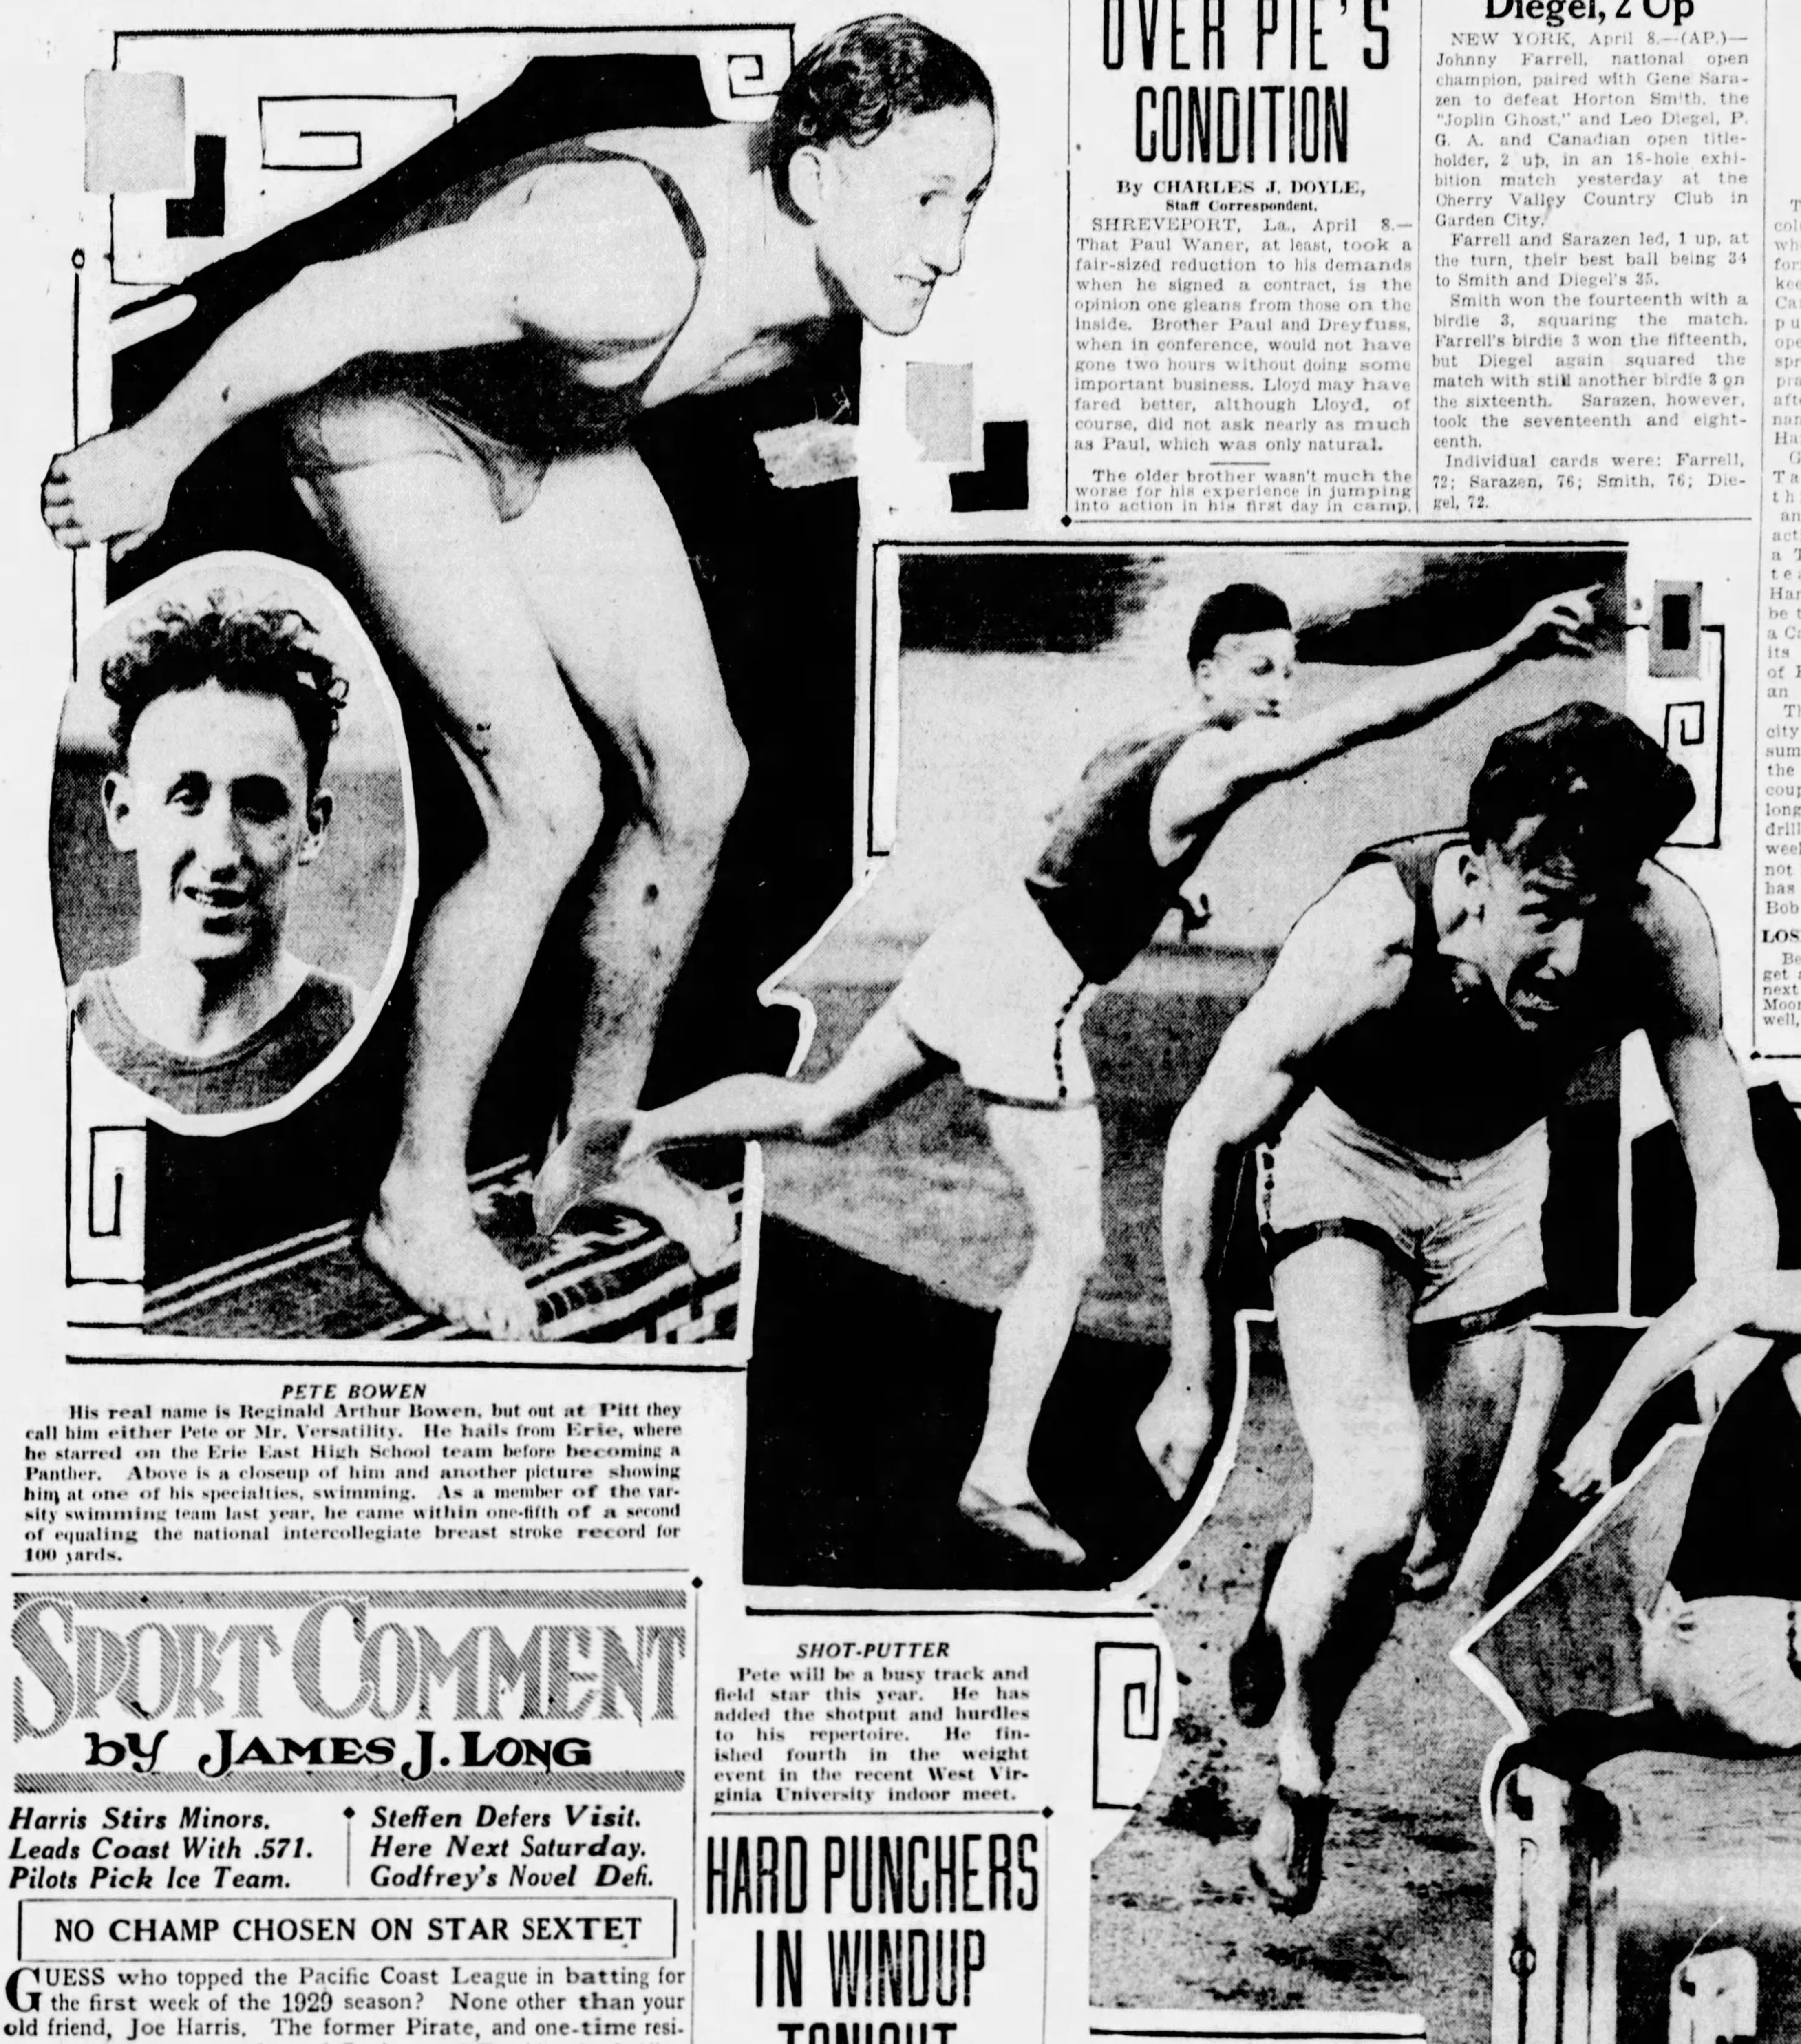
MEET MR. VERSATILITY BOWEN



PETE BOWEN

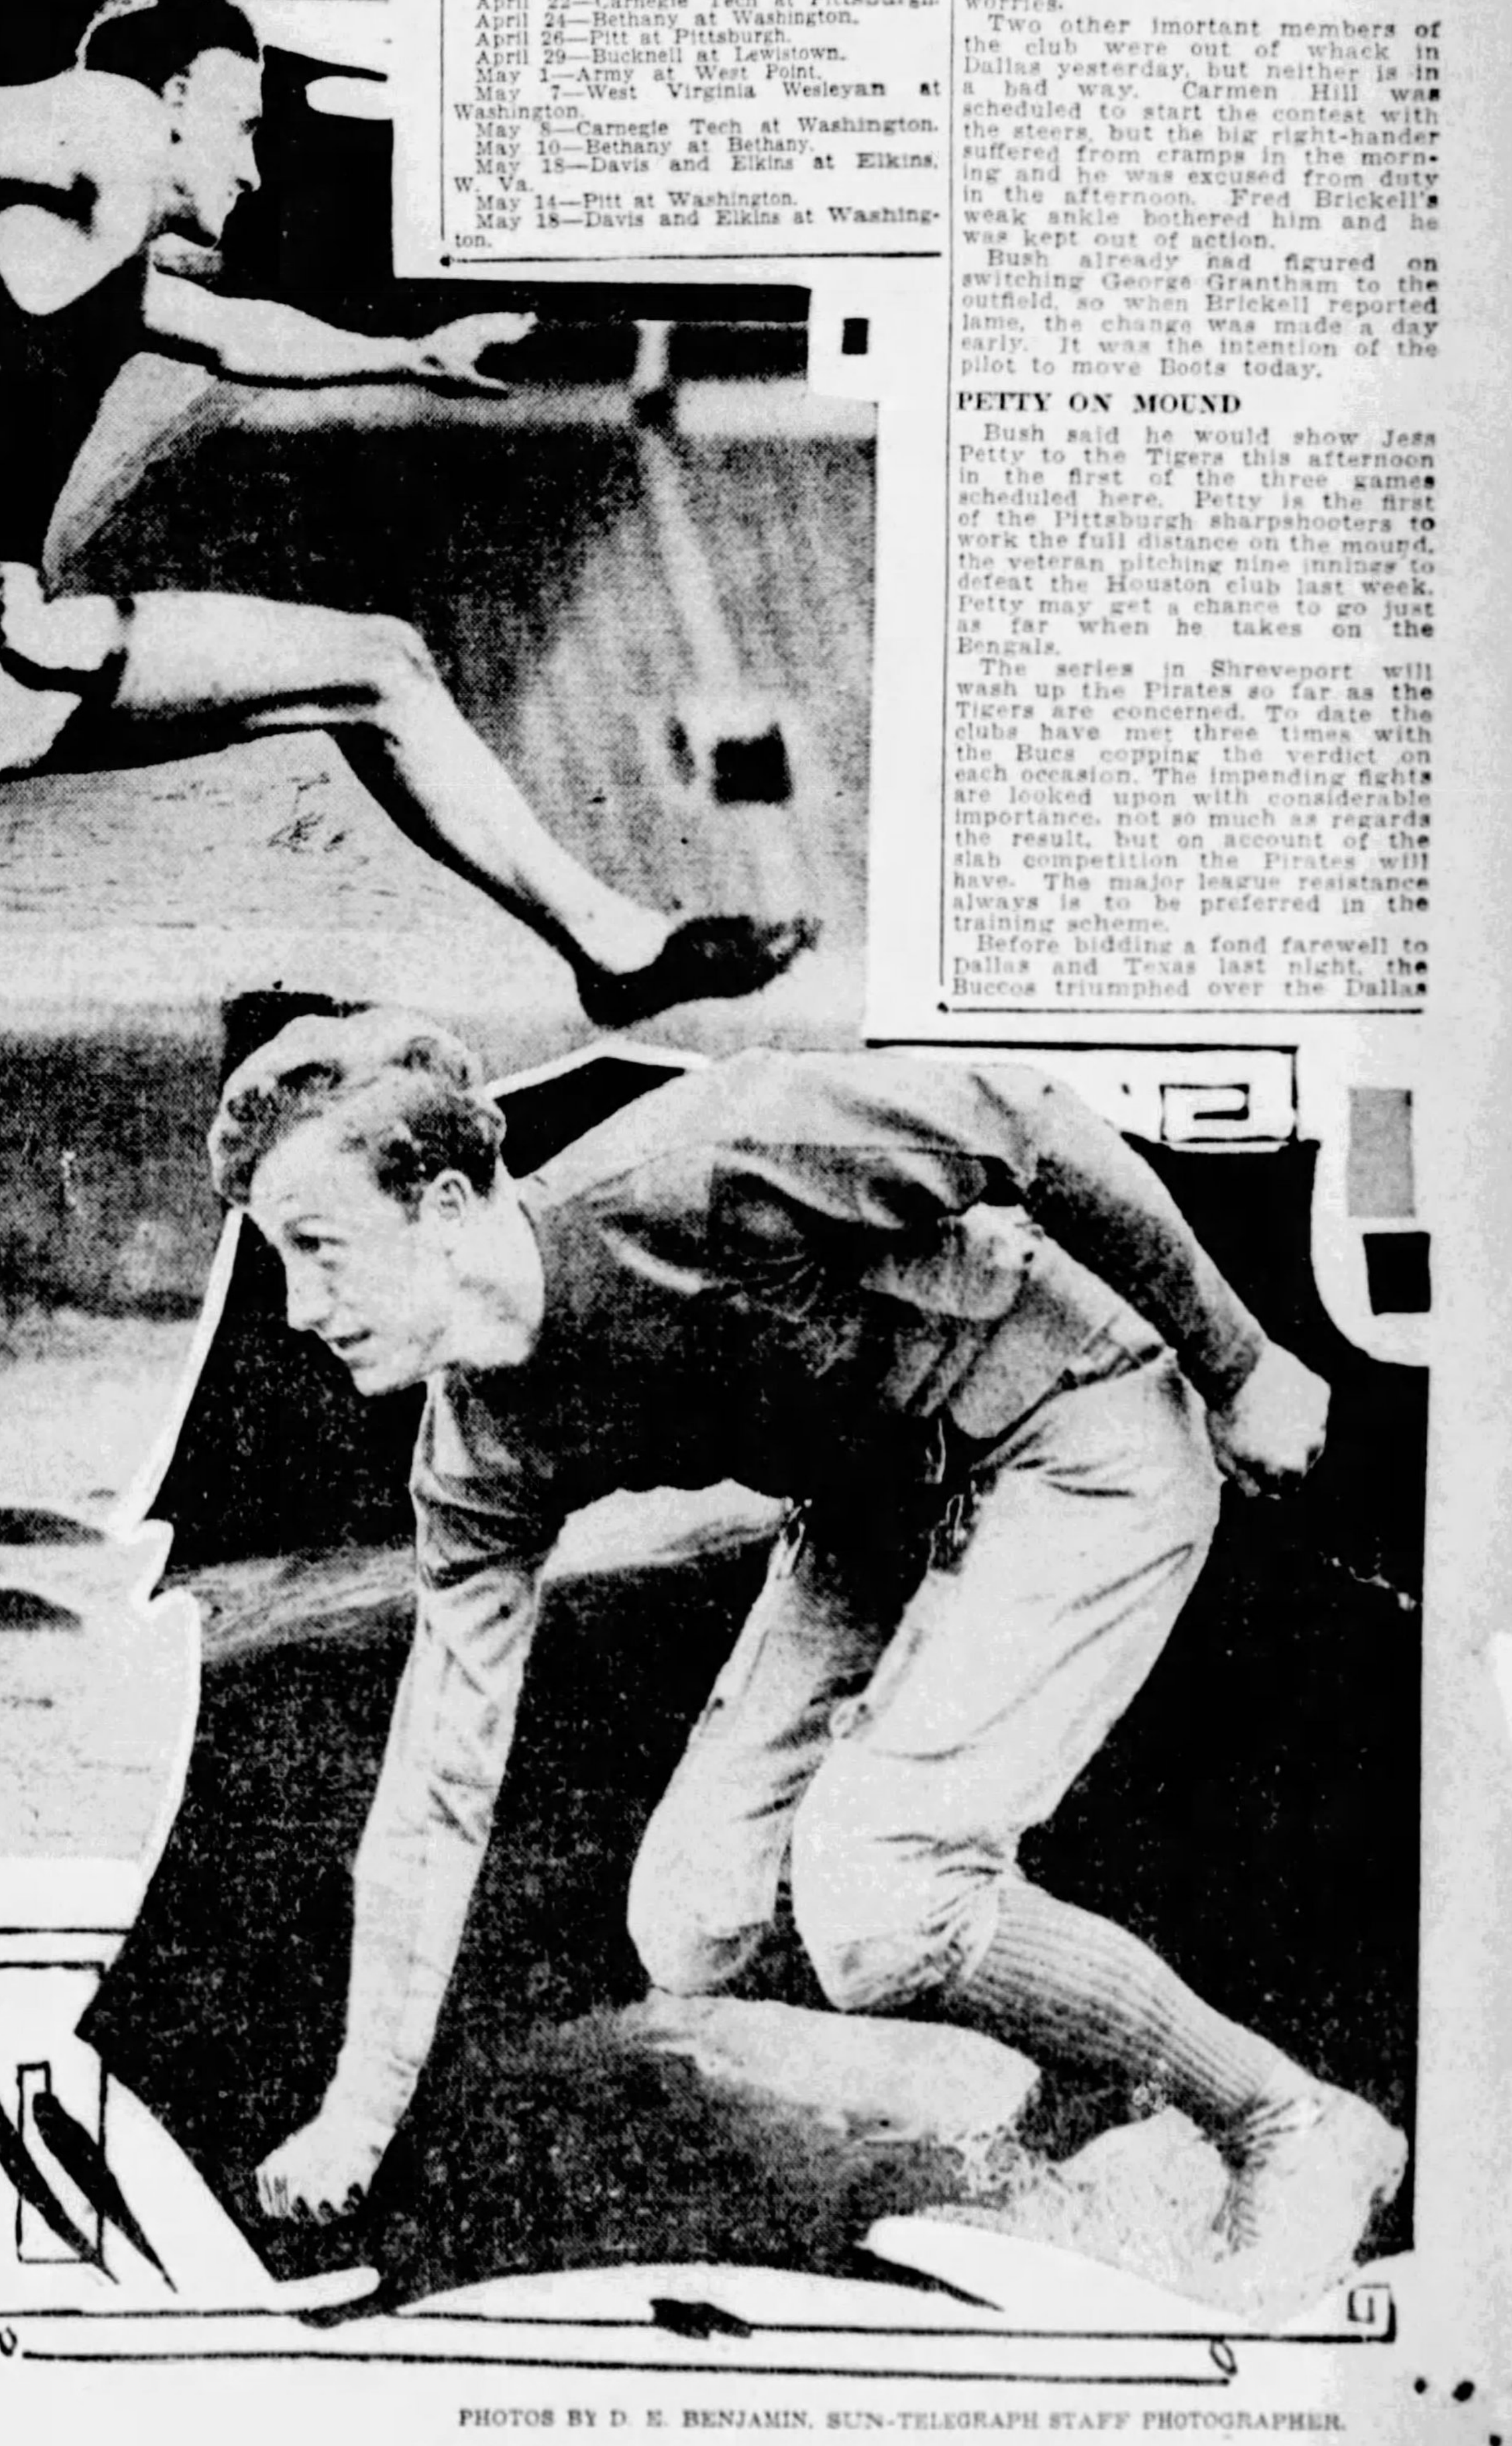
His real name is Reginald Arthur Bowen, but out at Pitt they call him either Pete or Mr. Versatility. He hails from Erie, where he starred on the Erie East High School team before becoming a Panther. Above is a closeup of him and another picture showing him at one of his specialties, swimming. As a member of the varsity swimming team last year, he came within one-fifth of a second of equaling the national intercollegiate breast stroke record for 100 yards.

SHOT-PUTTER

Pete will be a busy track and field star this year. He has added the shotput and hurdles to his repertoire. He finished fourth in the weight event in the recent West Virginia University indoor meet.

SPRINTER

It is in the dash events that Bowen shines. He runs 'em all from the 100 to the 440 and ranks among the outstanding quarter-milers of the country. He was clocked in the fast time of 47 4-5 seconds for the distance last year.



HURDLER

Pete is coming right along as a hurdler and will give Pitt's timber-topping opposition plenty to fret about during the coming season.

HALFBACK ON VARSITY ELEVEN

Bowen made the grade as a reserve halfback on the Pitt varsity eleven last fall and Coach Jock Sutherland used him for pinch purposes on account of his speed. He will be out on the squad again next fall. He never played football until his sophomore year in college.

NO CHAMP CHOSEN ON STAR SEXTET

GUESS who topped the Pacific Coast League in batting for the first week of the 1929 season? None other than your old friend, Joe Harris. The former Pirate, and one-time resident of Coulter and Franklin, is holding down an outfield job for the Sacramento club this spring, and the manner in which he has started out in his new company indicates that he is going to treat the coast fans to some tall hitting.

Joe Harris

In his ninth season of major league play last year Harris fell out of the .300 class for the first time. He hit only .268 as a Pirate and a Robin, whereas he had never previously batted lower than .301, his average ranging to as high a point as .375 in 1919.

They thought Joe was done when he slumped so badly in 1928, but the coast climate or something else appears to have rejuvenated the veteran, now almost 37 years old, for in his first seven games he cracked out 16 hits in 28 times at bat for the fairly healthy average of .571.

THAT Harris was not aided by any short fences in building up his average is shown by the fact that he does not hold the leadership in so-called big hits. Dave Barbee, of Seattle, for instance, made four home runs during the first week and other batters also surpassed Harris in extra-base drives.

But in the matter of consistent hitting, Joe has surpassed all the remainder of the field to such an extent that no one is nearer than 71 points to him. Walter Rehg is second with .500, Ray Jacobs is third with .478, followed by Buzz Artlett with .474, and Gordon Slade and Bill Rumler with .444 each. The much-touted Smead Jolley hit only .280 in his first seven games. They'll all have a tough time keeping old Joe from copping the year's crown if the climate continues to have a beneficial effect upon his health.

VARIOUS other sorts of all-star teams having been selected in hockey, now, comes the most important of the lat. It is the one picked by the managers of the National League outfits, which is looked upon generally as being akin to the all-America ranking in football. Roy Worters at goal is the only player selected who ever was connected with the Pittsburgh team.

This year only nine managers took part in the mythical team building. Chicago was not represented in the picking, as when the schedule came to a close no one appeared to know whether Herb Gardiner or somebody else was running the homeless Black Hawks.

Roy Worters

WHEN the nine managers cast their votes for the players they adjudged best for the various positions, it was with the restriction that none could name a member of his own team. For goaltender the choice, as stated above, was the acrobatic Worters, of the New York Americans; King Clancy, of Ottawa, and

HARD PUNCHERS IN WINDUP TONIGHT

Pittsburgh gets its first peek at Ray Newton, the sweet young socker of Mansfield, O., tonight.

The smiling youngster, who crashed his way into the limelight by knocking out Terry Lingo, Batling Gizzy, George Meenehan and others and beating Eddie (Kid) Wagner, and then lost to Lingo and Johnny Mellow in bouts at Washington and McKeesport within four nights, goes to the post against an improved Phil Goldstein in the main bout of an all-star card of four eight-round battles in the Motor Square ring. Goldstein, who hails from the Hill district, but makes his fighting headquarters in New York, has just come through a stirring battle with Jackie Brady, of Syracuse, at Albany, N. Y., in which he floored the rugged Brady three times, twice in the first round, indicating that he also has developed a devastating punch.

With so much dynamite in the same ring, nothing short of a few fistic explosions may be expected.

NEWTON IMPRESSIVE

Newton is the type that looks good even in defeat. In his return bout with Lingo he conceded considerable weight to the lad he had knocked out in their first meeting, and he caught the fancy of the fans even while bowing to the expert boxing of the veteran Mellow at McKeesport.

Three fine supporting battles round out the Motor Square card. Dan Billick, of Duquesne, stablemate of Goldstein, is back from New York to meet Mickey Dugan, Jimmy Dunn's featherweight, of Cleveland, in the semi-final; Leo Kyburski, of Swissvale, and Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, rugged heavy welterweights, box the second bout and Ken Hargrave, of New Kensington, and Paddy Mahan, of Charleroi, and formerly of Chi-

BUCS WORRIED OVER PIE'S CONDITION

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 8.—That Paul Waner, at least, took a fair-sized reduction to his demands when he signed a contract, is the opinion one gleans from those on the inside. Brother Paul and Dreyfuss, when in conference, would not have gone two hours without doing some important business. Lloyd may have fared better, although Lloyd, of course, did not ask nearly as much as Paul, which was only natural.

The older brother wasn't much the worse for his experience in jumping into action in his first day in camp.

Paul was surprised that he was able to hit the ball so well—but his mates were not. The rightfielder asked only for a little going over by Trainer Chambers and he is as fit as a fiddle.

GLAZNER SCORES

Score a bull's eye for Whitey Glazner, former Pirate pitcher, who now is with Milt Stock in Dallas. Whitey was among the players made free by Judge Landis a few weeks ago, and Charles didn't do a thing but coax 7,500 berries out of the Dallas club merely for the formality of signing. Moreover, it is said he will get $700 per month, more than $11,000 for a minor league pitcher, in not exactly a panic year.

The worry of Capt. Traynor's condition is quite easily detected in Owner Dreyfuss and Manager Bush. The Pittsburgh officials have a deep realization of the possible consequences of Traynor on the bench. Pie will work out with the team today. If he feels well, he may swing into action tomorrow.

With a little more than a week to elapse before the fireworks flare, the most impressive pitchers on the Pittsburgh squad—and somewhat in the order named—are Kremer, Grimes, Dawson, Swetonic, Fussell, French and Petty.

DAWSON CONSISTENT

Joe Dawson seems to have been the most consistent flinger of the training season with Kremer and Fussell close behind. Grimes is a wise gazabo, holding back until recently. In his last start the veteran looked like his real self; indeed, he seems to be running close to Kremer for the honor of facing the Cubs in the opener.

Larry French has been spectacular in spots, but the young lefthander has tried so hard he may have thrown himself a bit off balance. Larry, however, says he likes to bear down all the way. He is leaving no stone unturned to make good his first year in the majors.

Meadows and Hill, they of the spectacles, are a problem, especially Florida Lee. His old back injury that started him off poorly last year has been bothering him this spring, yet he seems to be attaining a good form.

Farrell, Sarazen Top Smith and Diegel, 2 Up

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP.)—Johnny Farrell, national open champion, paired with Gene Sarazen to defeat Horton Smith, the "Joplin Ghost," and Leo Diegel, P. G. A. and Canadian open titleholder, 2 up, in an 18-hole exhibition match yesterday at the Cherry Valley Country Club in Garden City.

Farrell and Sarazen led, 1 up, at the turn, their best ball being 34 to Smith and Diegel's 35.

Smith won the fourteenth with a birdie 3, squaring the match. Farrell's birdie 3 won the fifteenth, but Diegel again squared the match with still another birdie 3 on the sixteenth. Sarazen, however, took the seventeenth and eighteenth.

Individual cards were: Farrell, 72; Sarazen, 76; Smith, 76; Diegel, 72.

TARTANS JOIN PITT, DUKES IN DRILLS

By JESS CARVER.

The gent whose photo adorns this column today is one of the gents whose absence as a varsity performer will be noted with extremely keen regret as Carnegie Tech puts on its opening act of spring football practice this afternoon. His name is Howard Harpster.

H. Harpster.

Go out to the Tartan Bowl this afternoon and get the reaction of seeing a Tech football team without Harpster in the backfield! It will be the first time in three years that a Carnegie varsity has gone through its paces minus the guiding hand of Harpy. The reaction should be an odd one.

The Tartans are the last of the city football family to get their pre-summer drills under way. Pitt and the Dukes have been at it for a couple of weeks, Duquesne a bit longer even that that. The Skibo drills will last for exactly two weeks, provided bad weather does not interfere with the schedule as it has been outlined by Head Coach Bob Waddell.

LOSE EIGHT STARS

Besides Harpster, the Tartans must get along this spring, and of course, next fall, without Cy Letzelter, Glenn Moorehead, Pete Stauffer, Don Lovewell, Saul (Himself) Mielziner, Tony

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 8.—W. & J.'s net schedule for this spring is practically complete, with 11 matches definitely carded and negotiations under way for three others. TRAYNOR STILL OUT; PETTY FACES TIGERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

SHREVEPORT, April 8.—Donie Bush's Pirates were close to full war strength today as they reached this Louisiana town to resume hostilities with the the somewhat tamed Tigers. Bush announced that Sparky Adams would return to the shortfield with Dick Bartel moving over to second. Pie Traynor, therefore, is the only absentee of the nine regulars slated to face the powerful Cubs one week from tomorrow.

Jess Petty

The Pirate captain was among those present here today. He came over with the others from Dallas. Pie finished up with his specialist in Fort Worth and hastened to Dallas to join his mates. He will not swing into battle action today, but he will work out to test the troublesome spot. Meantime, Harry Riconda will continue at third.

Traynor's status naturally is a matter of grave comment in the Pirate camp. With Glenn Wright and his big bat and slingshot missing, it is felt that the Bucs have to have their captain in action to stay in the flag race. Manager Bush and President Dreyfuss both are anxious to see the third baseman back on the job, realizing that the teamplay of the Buccos requires his immediate presence.

SPARKY REGULAR

Adams, to all intents, is ready to play regularly in the short field position. Sparky has been nursed along carefully by Trainer Mike Martin since he injured his knee in a jam play at the plate in Phoenix. The close application probably has hurried Sparky's recovery, and his return will lift some of Bush's worries.

Two other imortant members of the club were out of whack in Dallas yesterday, but neither is in a bad way. Carmen Hill was scheduled to start the contest with the steers, but the big right-hander suffered from cramps in the morning and he was excused from duty in the afternoon. Fred Brickell's weak ankle bothered him and he was kept out of action.

Bush already had figured on switching George Grantham to the outfield, so when Brickell reported lame, the change was made a day early. It was the intention of the pilot to move Boots today.

PETTY ON MOUND

Bush said he would show Jess Petty to the Tigers this afternoon in the first of the three games scheduled here. Petty is the first of the Pittsburgh sharpshooters to work the full distance on the mound, the veteran pitching nine innings to defeat the Houston club last week. Petty may get a chance to go just as far when he takes on the Bengals.

The series in Shreveport will wash up the Pirates so far as the Tigers are concerned. To date the clubs have met three times with the Bucs copping the verdict on each occasion. The impending fights are looked upon with considerable importance, not so much as regards the result, but on account of the slab competition the Pirates will have. The major league resistance always is to be preferred in the training scheme.

Before bidding a fond farewell to Dallas and Texas last night, the Buccos triumphed over the Dallas Texas Leaguers in another close ball game, the score being 5 to 4.

OFFENSIVE WINS

As on the previous afternoon, when the steers trimmed the Buccos in extra rounds, the contest brought out some fine baseball. The game was tied tighter'n a drum in eighth round, but at that point the big leaguers began to do their stuff, two runs going over, just enough to insure victory as the home team scored a tally in the last round.

Grantham, Jones, Riconda and Sheely merged a bright offensive to turn the trick. With the score 3-all,

PIRATES SELL TAUSCHER

SHREVEPORT, La., April 8.—When the Pirates reached Shreveport this morning their roster showed just three players over the alloted 25 limit as the result of the sale of Pitcher Walter Tauscher to the Dallas club. The Pittsburgh officials announced the outright sale of Tauscher last night.

It was with considerable regret that the Pittsburgh strings were severed as Wallie left the team, but Tauscher already had been farmed out twice and under the laws of the game, the youngster could not be put out again under a Pirate option.

Both President Dreyfuss and Manager Bush spoke well of the big pitcher, and they figure he may climb to the big show soon. Tauscher himself let it be known that he wanted work and Pilot Donie could not see where he could use him this season, owing to the wealth of pitching material owned by the team. In Dallas, Tauscher probably will be a regular starter.

Carl Frey left yesterday morning for Portland to join the Coast League club of that city, and on the previous evening Glenn Spencer departed for Wichita, so that the Pirates now show only 28 active players. The athletes are sub-divided into 12 pitchers, four catchers, seven infielders and five outfielders. Two more pitchers and one catcher probably will be placed within the next week.

Athens Captures National Crown

CHICAGO, April 8. — (AP.) — A team of young giants from Athens, Tex., with a distinctly futuristic style of play, today holds the most cherished prize of high school basketball, the National Interscholastic championship.

The title fell to the sturdy Texans Saturday night as they capped a spectacular week's campaign in the University of Chicago's eleventh annual tournament by a 25-to-21 decision over Classen, a fast, scrappy team from Oklahoma City.

BLACKBURNE SMILES

DALLAS, Tex., April 8.—(AP.)—Manager Lena Blackburne of the White Sox is smiling again. The recent "insurrection" has quieted, his team has won three straight games, and First Baseman Art Shires, who was sent home for publicly complaining about his discipline, has repented and requested permission to return.

WHEELING STAR ROLLS 1,274

Compiling counts of 471, 402 and 427, F. Born and C. Galbraith, Bay City, Mich., took eighth place in the doubles with 1,300.

W. Will, Chicago, hung up totals of 605 in the five-men event, 650 in the doubles, and 660 in the singles a grand total of 1,915, to land in ninth place in the all-events.

Other keglers rolled good scores, but were unable to wedge among the big ten in the various events. Will and C. Jones, of Chicago, scored 1,280 in their doubles attempt, and would have taken a leader's berth if they hadn't slumped with a 313 in their first game.

C. Foose and O. Nolte, of Wheeling, W. Va., scored 1,274 in their doubles attempts.

The Hale Builders, of Youngstown, O., toppling pins for a 2933 total, featured the five-men team performances last night. Second place for the day was earned by the Black Steve combination of Louisville with a 2,873 score, while the Lewis Mitchell Jewelers of Louisville, and the Young Novelty entry of Detroit tied for third honors. None was good enough to change the "big ten" standings.

FLYNN TO COMPLETE CARD

Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple Club, will try to complete his preliminary card today for his show next Friday night which will be featured by a meeting between Tommy Milton, of New York, and Jackie Rodgers, North Side Negro flash, bantamweights. He has matched Kid Crutchfield and Charley Broad, 135-pounders, for the semi-final.

McKeesport offers an open amateur tournament Wednesday and Thursday evening instead of the usual Thursday professional show this week.

Ed Fritz, matchmaker of the New Castle Jolly Bowl, is planning some topnotch shows for the summer season. He is in touch with the managers of a number of star boxers and hopes to have a few important announcements to make shortly. His next feature will be presented next Monday night, when Willie Davies and Midget Wolgast will clash for the fifth time.

BRITT BATTLE RECALLED

The angling for a 45-round return bout between Tommy Loughran and Mickey Walker reminds Hype Igoe, New York fistic writer, of the scheduled 45-rounder between Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson at Colma, Cal., years ago. Britt had beaten Nelson in 20 rounds and Nelson demanded a longer bout. They were matched for 45 rounds and Britt, worrying about whether he would be able to travel the route, was unable to gauge his pace and finally was worn down and knocked out by Nelson—IN EIGHTEEN ROUNDS.

The chances are that Britt, a clever boxer, would have been able to repeat his victory in 20 rounds, boxing well within himself, but the thought of having to go more than twice that distance against the man-mauler proved his undoing. Instead of being able to rate himself along for a comparatively short distance, he had to worry throughout about holding something in reserve for the rounds that never came. A 45-round Loughran-Walker battle might prove the same sort of a mix. Loughran, the cleverer boxer, would be apt to blow up around the halfway mark, and, once his speed was gone, he would prove a mark for the hard-belting Mickey.

An amateur boxing show will be held at the Y. M. H. A. April 18.

Zack Wheat Quits Baseball for Farm

KANSAS CITY, April 8.—(AP.)—After being in organized baseball since 1908, Zach Wheat, formerly a Brooklyn and Philadelphia outfielder, has definitely announced he is out of the game. He will retire to his 160-acre farm near Polo, Mo.

Zack Wheat.

Wheat, whose future plans had been a mystery, began his baseball career on the sandlots of Kansas City, Kan., and made his professional debut with the Shreveport club in 1908. A bruised heel which developed complications last summer forced him to quit the Minneapolis club of the American Association before the season was completed, but despite this handicap his batting average was .300. The year before he was with the Athletics and was in the .300 class.

FIRST NO-HIT SANDLOT TILT IS PLAYED

By TOM BIRKS

The summer-like weather of yesterday served to bring out the sandlotters in force on the local diamonds. Portsiders and real pitchers worked to get the winter kinks out of the souper, and together with dozens of practice sessions, one no-hit game of nine innings was played at Mt. Washington, where McCollum, crack twirler of the East End Cardinals, defeated the Hemsley club, 4 to 1.

NARY TO RETURN

Pleasant Valley held a big meeting in the afternoon and out of the session came the news that Mart Nary would be back with the Smilers. Nary was the star pitcher of the Smilers last season, but so far this year every club in the district seems to have had his name on the list.

However, Nary will be with Johnny Dunsky and from other little things that popped out, it would seem that the Smilers are going to provide plenty of competition for the City League title contenders.

O'SHEA UNDECIDED

Dropped around to Frazier street grounds and watched Pat O'Shea and some of the Oakland boys getting into shape. O'Shea lines up as one of the best third basemen in local sandlot baseball, but still is undecided where he will play. Cruickshank, the star pitcher, was on hand, but did not work out.

O'Shea passed the word along that Quigley, former Cathedral Chapel star pitcher, is not with the Tampa club in the Florida State League. Quigley was given an unconditional release without even a trial, which is nothing new for Pittsburgh boys. However, he has accepted a berth with the Winston-Salem Club of the Piedmont League, and this boy, who has a world of stuff, should make the grade.

Taberski, Greenleaf Open Match Today

NEW YORK, April 8.—(INS.)—Frank Taberski, pocket billiard champion, and Ralph Greenleaf, who with Taberski has monopolized the title since 1916, start their widely-heralded "grudge match" here today. The winner of the 12-block match will collect $1,500 plus a share of the gate receipts. Taberski's title is not at stake, however.

Ill feeling between the pair was engendered in the title tourney in Chicago last December, the play-off being marked by considerable friction.

British Amateur Tournament Postponed

LONDON, April 8.—(AP.)—British golf authorities announced today that the amateur championship would be set back two weeks, starting June 10, instead of May 27, in the event of conflict of the earlier date with a general election. The possibility now is that the election will be held during the week of May 27. The tournament will be played on the Royal St. George's course at Sandwich.

CARNEGIE HOLDS GRID DRILL

Sweet and Earl Kousman. These boys have all completed their years of varsity competition.

Whether it sets well with Jock Sutherland or not, I'm going to tell you that the Panthers are looking pretty good as they go about their daily gridiron chores on the hill.

The boys went through a long, hard workout on Saturday, scrimmaging for better than an hour and scrimmaging as though they were looking forward to a ball game within the week. The linemen went at their business as though it was September, not April.

When they hit 'em, they stayed hit.

BEN TELLS ONE

Here is one that Dan Benjamin tells, and when Ben tells 'em, you can believe 'em.

He stopped off to see his brother in Canada on his way back from California where he had gone with our Pirates. Arriving in Winnipeg, Manitoba, on a Sunday, he found he had all day to lay over between trains.

Being a religious young man, despite his being a newspaper photographer, Ben went to church. After the services, he was met by the minister of the flock, who made it his business to shake hands with and welcome all strangers.

The minister learned that Ben was from Pittsburgh, and imagine Ben's surprise when the cleric asked him:

"By the way, my good man, do you happen to know Rosy Rowswell?"

"I sure do," Ben answered, "why, I had a letter from him only two days ago."

Ben wishes it to be understood that the surprise he was occasioned was not that a minister should know Rosy, but that he should go clear to Winnipeg to find said minister.

FROTH

Ordered ice cream in a well-known Pittsburgh restaurant Saturday and imagine my embarrassment when I found a hair in the cream . . . The kick to the waiter did little good . . . He wanted to know if I wanted a transformation and a permanent for a dime . . . Such a guy . . . Enjoyed a bit of cards with Whitey Fyock, Reggie Bowen and Maxie Hannum . . . Nice fellows . . . They'd bluff you for your eye-teeth . . . And if they won, take same . . . How about holding a pair of threes in jackpot with it costing two bucks to get in and catching three ladies on the draw! . . . That is what you get for living right.

George Voigt is the defending champion. His leading rivals included John Dawson, of Chicago; Phillips Finlay, of Harvard, and Eddie Held.

Panthers Invited To Play Cage Game May 6

Dr. H. C. Carlson, head coach of the Panther squad, while attending the annual coaches meeting in Chicago last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, was invited by William G. Bratten, promoter at the new Chicago Stadium, to bring his Pitt team there for a game with a Western Conference team on May 6.

If the game is played, various rule changes recommended by the coaches will be tried out and coaches and officials from all over the country will be invited to attend. The Pitt coach announced himself as being in favor of the project, inasmuch as he will have his squad out for spring practice at that time.

Officials to Punish Rowdy Soccer Stars

TRENTON, N. J., April 8.—(INS.)—Officials of the New Jersey State Football Association were expected to take action today against several members of the Newark Portuguese soccer team who are alleged to have kicked Trenton players and beaten them with fence palings during a wild game in the state cup competition here yesterday. Hundreds of spectators, some of whom drew knives, participated in the free-for-all battle. Many of the players were bruised.

The Trenton players, who were leading 2 to 0 when the riot started, were awarded the game when the Portuguese declined to resume play.

McGraw Marks Birthday by Releasing Seven

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8.—(AP.)—John McGraw celebrated his fifty-sixth birthday here yesterday by wielding the ax on the New York Giants squad, releasing seven players to smaller leagues.

Those disposed of were Herbert Pyle, pitcher, to Chattanooga, Tenn.; Arthur Veltman, outfielder, and Eddie Marshall, infielder, and either James Chaplin or Henry Boney, pitchers, to Bridgeport, Conn.; Joe Witry, catcher, and Floyd Johnson to Springfield, Mass., and Baxter Jordan, an infielder, to Buffalo.

ADAMS RETURNS TO SHORT

Boots walked and moved ahead on an infield hit by Jonesy. Riconda's sacrifice was a smashing wallop that crashed against the centerfield fence. It just missed being a homer, but the hit was held to a single under the tagging-up movements of the other runners. The bases were thus filled for Sheely, who singled to drive in two of his mates.

BOOTS GETS HOMER

Grantham put his club in the ball game in the third with a fine homer over the rightfield fence. The Buccos counted twice in the second, but the Mavericks piled up three in their half. Boots connected for the full distance a few minutes later to effect a draw. Larry French, Coast graduate, and Ervin Brame worked the game for the Buccos. They were called upon to compete against an old pal in the person of Charles (Whitey) Glazner, who recently was taken away from the Washington Club and made a free agent by Judge Landis. Whitey is the same old fox on the mound, he seeming to have retained most of his cleverness. Joe Martina, another veteran of the slab, finished for Manager Stock.

Admirers 'Mob' Ruth; Yankee Game Halted

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8.—(AP.)—Yesterday's game here between the New York Yankees and the Oklahoma City Western League team was called in the eighth inning when several thousand admirers rushed Babe Ruth in right field and defied efforts of officers and umpires to clear the field. The score at that time stood 13 to 5 for the world champions.

Ruth failed to hit more than a single in his two-day stay here and struck out yesterday on the offerings of an Oklahoma City sandlotter. Twenty-five thousand persons saw the two games.

British Expect Reigh Count To Improve

LONDON, April 8.—(INS.)—Despite his poor showing in the Lingfield handicap, most of the newspaper experts on horse flesh here believe that Reigh Count, famous American horse, will do much better than come in eighth in his future starts.

Reigh Count has been entered for the Newbury Cup at Ascot next Saturday, together with Caballero and Yoho, who placed in the Lingfield Handicap last Saturday.

"Reigh Count's stock has not been seriously discounted by his showing Saturday," the Daily Express experts said today.

The Daily Star observer thinks "Reigh Count will prove a good proposition when he is better acclimated to English weather."

"Reigh Count is not lacking in character and may prove better at Ascot," was the Evening Standard's expert's opinion.

Penn Fullback Hurt In Auto Accident

SCRANTON, Pa., April 8.—(AP.)—Two persons were killed and eight others, among them Walter Opekum, 24, University of Pennsylvania fullback, injured in the heavy automobile traffic here yesterday.

Alan Jones, 18, of Springbrook, and John E. Canfield, Jr., 17, of Moscow, lost their lives when the motorcycle on which police claim they were riding at an excessive speed sideswiped an automobile near Daleville.

Patrick E. Higgins, of Dover, N. J., driver of the car, was uninjured.

Opekum was injured when the car he was riding in figured in a collision with another vehicle at Dickson City. Opekum was cut about the head and face and removed to his home after hospital treatment.

SCHOOL TUTORS IN FIGHT

BEAVER FALLS, April 8.—Antagonism, which has been smouldering since football season, between two Beaver Valley High schools flared up Saturday night when O. H. Heckathorne, Beaver Falls coach, and coach Nate Lippe, of Aliquippa, came to blows at an amateur basketball tournament at the New Brighton State Armory.

The fight took place after Tony Paulsey, Geneva College star and member of the Reed Barbershop team, which Lippe was coaching, had been ejected from the semi-final game of the class A division of the tournament. Referee Charly Bohren claimed the Geneva forward guilty of abusive language to the officials and refused to let him play.

Following the forfeit victory Heckathorne's Berkman five swept through the final round to win the Class A division.

The Rossman Industrial League Class B team copped the honors in the Class B group, defeating the Heckathorne Cubs, 25 to 11, in the final. Following is the summary of the semi-finals and finals:

PICKING CLUBS IS A JOB FOR THE PRO OR CLUB MAKER

How can an amateur pick out a club with a good shaft?

Answered By

BOB CRUICKSHANK

Winner of Los Angeles, San Antonio, Hot Springs, North-and-South Open Championships, 1927. Maryland Open, 1928.

To know a really good shaft one has to be working among them for years. A good clubmaker can tell right away. Therefore I would advise the amateur to go to the pro or clubmaker and explain to him that he wants a really good shaft. The best way to try out the shaft is to take the club by the grip and press the sole or toes of the clubhead on the ground. Do it smoothly till the shaft bends slightly and it should spring back equally smoothly to its original position. Do not take a shaft with a very heavy head, as it makes the shaft too "whippy." It will warp or send quickly nine times out of ten. Just "feel" the head on the shaft so that the shaft has that spring feel about it. If the average man would go to his pro and tell him exactly what he wants he is almost sure to get real service any time.

Long's Sport Comment

NO ALL-STAR team picked in any game ever won unanimous approval, and it might have been expected that the selections of the hockey managers would come in for considerable criticism. Certainly the pickers have left plenty of openings for those on the sidelines to question their selections. In Montreal they are asking why George Hainsworth, of Les Canadiens, was not selected above Worters, and followers of the Rangers insist that Johnny Riach is at least equal to Worters.

But the greatest surprise of all is the fact that no member of the Boston club is named on the all-star aggregation. One might be pardoned for asking how in the world the Boston team won the championship of its loop, then trimmed Les Canadiens three straight times in the first-place play-off series and finally downed the Rangers twice in succession for the Stanley Cup, if they didn't have a player good enough to be listed among the best six in the league.

FROM one angle that may be figured out as a tribute to the all-around strength and class of the Boston team and to the wisdom of Manager Art Ross in putting such a combination together. For all-star teams rarely get very far in any sport. There is too much individual play.

The real championship outfit is one that does not have outstanding individual stars, a club that is rich in team work because no member tries for individual glory but strives always to be merely a cog in the machine play that always brings success. But even at that it is hard to see how the Bruins did not get at least one representative on the mythical team, in the person of Eddie Shore, defense man.

Judge W. P. Steffen

JUDGE W. P. STEFFEN, of the Superior Court, of Chicago, who, when he casts aside the dignity of his office, is Wally Steffen, advisory coach in football at Carnegie Tech, did not come to Pittsburgh last Saturday, as had been planned, to make final arrangements for the opening of spring gridiron practice by the Skibos today. Instead he postponed his trip one week. He will come here next Saturday to look over the squad in its workout, and will probably pay particular attention to the Plebes in the group, in order to get an early line on the kind of material the varsity will draw next fall from the yearling team of last year. Meanwhile Coach Bob Waddell will direct the practice.

SPEAKING of spring football practice, the early drills of the Fordham University squad, starting today in New York, will present an unusual feature in the fact that a father will be coaching his own son. Dave Cavanaugh, one of the candidates for next fall's eleven, is a son of Major Frank W. Cavanaugh, head coach.

Last fall, the younger Cavanaugh was a member of the freshman squad under Coaches Dave Morey and Joe Kozlowski. Therefore, as a sophomore, he will be eligible for the varsity next fall and thus comes under the direct coaching of his father. Like his father, who played for Dartmouth in the late 90's, Dave is an end.

INASMUCH as the New York Boxing Commission is so unfair as to deprive George Godfrey, Negro heavyweight, of the chances he deserves to take part in the big title eliminations, it is safe guessing that it won't let him go through with a novel challenge in which he now offers to make good.

Godfrey offers to fight any two heavyweights (Dempsey barred) on the same night in the same ring, with five minutes' rest between bouts, and whip them both. "The only man barred is Jack Dempsey," says James J. Dougherty, manager of Godfrey. "George will bounce the rest of them like so many rubber balls. If anybody thinks I'm spoofing, I stand ready to put up $50,000 as a side bet."

George Godfrey

OF COURSE it is well-known to Dougherty, Godfrey and everybody else, that such a match would not be permitted any place in America where boxing is legalized, and that there is no chance of it being brought off. But just the same there are many persons not dumbbells in the boxing game who believe that the big Negro could make good on his proposition if such a match could be arranged and George were allowed to enter the ring without being handcuffed, as other dangerous Negro fighters have been handcuffed in the past. By the way, it is related that Godfrey gave an unusual exhibition in Florida two nights after the Sharkey-Stribling affair, when he fought two other Negro heavyweights at one time and knocked both of them out before the end of the first round. Of course, they were only palookas, but even at that there is nothing soft in having two pairs of fists punching away at you at the same time.

A. A. U. WOULD PATCH UP DIFFERENCES

CHICAGO, April 8. — (AP.) — A movement, which may change the complexion of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and its policies toward amateur and professional sports, has been started by Avery Brundage, of Chicago, president.

Brundage has addressed a lengthy questionnaire, including every possible phase of amateur and professional sports, to the 157 governors of the A. A. U. and when their answers are in, he expects to see a change in the constitution, which hasn't been altered materially since it was adopted in 1888.

At least five results are expected from the questionnaire, Brundage said. They are:

FIVE RESULTS EXPECTED

Consummation of close harmony between the A. A. U. and the National Collegiate Association.

Formation of a high judiciary commission of five or more men to be supreme in all matters of amateur eligibility, the commission to function for amateur athletics as Commissioner K. M. Landis does in baseball.

Creation of a better understanding and keener appreciation of the A. A. U. by the public.

Recognition of the A. A. U. by kindred organizations as the governing body in all amateur athletics, excepting that which is strictly collegiate.

Revamping of the A. A. U. constitution and rules to fit present day needs and to accomplish fulfillment of the foregoing objectives.

GOES TO NEW YORK

After issuing the questionnaire, Brundage departed for New York, where he, with a committee of A. A. U. officials, will confer tomorrow with Maj. John L. Griffith, executive vice president of the National Amateur Athletic Federation and an executive member of the N. C. A. A., both rival organizations of the union, in an attempt to patch up differences and effect a working agreement with American colleges.

"There has been considerable complaint about the A. A. U. and its policies lately," Brundage explained. "We want to show everyone we are open to constructive criticism and are willing to correct any defects, if there are any."

GARDNER NEARS LEADER IN PYLE RUN

HANCOCK, Md., April 8.—(AP.)—Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, his black skin gleaming in the sunlight as perspiration soaked his body, crept closer to the lead in C. C. Pyle's Bunion Derby yesterday, when he won the lap from Frederick to Hancock.

The Negro covered the 52 miles through midsummer heat in 7 hours 58 minutes and 1 second, and approached to within 21 minutes of John Salo, Passaic, N. J., policeman, the leader in elapsed time. Salo finished second, completing the distance in 8 hours 27 minutes and 45 seconds.

Salo staged a bitter duel with Gardner over most of the course, but the dusky runner pulled away during the last 15 miles of the jaunt, which marked the start of the second week of the cross-country run. The runners all had difficulty surmounting the steep hills leading to Hancock, while the hot sun, beating down on them all day, made the going more grueling.

Arthur Newton, of South Africa, was the third man into the control point. Voight Houfstate, of Manistee, Mich., was fourth, Pete Gavuzzi, of England, and Sam Richman, New York, fifth, and Guisto Umek, of Italy, sixth.

Four runners who completed the day's run from Baltimore to Frederick did not start yesterday. They were Karl and Pual Cools, Belgian runners; Thomas B. Ellis, of Hamilton, Ontario, and Martin Johansen, of Rockford, Ill.

The first 10 in elapsed time follows:

1. John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 44.25.17.
2. Ed Gardner, Seattle, Wash., 44.46.25.
3. Peter Gavuzzi, N. J., 46.50.02.
4. Arthur Newton, South Africa, 47.43.24.
5. Voigt Houfastatter, Manistee, Mich., 48.45.10.
6. Giusto Umek, Italy, 49.11.56.
7. Herbert Hedegman, New York, 49.18.38.
8. Sam Richman, New York, 49.18.40.
9. Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., 49.23.08.
10. Olli Wantineu, New York, 51.02.02.

HUNTER BEATS TILDEN

NEW YORK, April 8.—(INS.)—Frank Hunter today has the jump on William T. Tilden, his only superior in the national tennis ranking, as the two veterans begin their northern campaign. Hunter defeated the former national champion in four sets yesterday in Brooklyn in their first outdoor appearance of the local season. The score was 9-7, 4-6, 10-8, 6-2.

THUMBS DOWN ON RACING

The Arkansas Legislature defeated a bill to authorize horse racing and parimutuel betting under the supervision of a racing commission in Little Rock.

Hakoahs Capture National Soccer Championship

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP.)—The New York Hakoahs won the national challenge soccer cup yesterday, defeating the Madisons of St. Louis, 3 to 0. It was the Hakoahs' second straight victory over the St. Louis team.

Play was very even for the first half hour. Then the Hakoahs got their short passing game into working order and held the upper hand from then on. Schwartz, Gruenwald and Haussler scored for the Hakoahs. The work of the rival goalies, Fischer, of the Hakoahs and Lebarge, of St. Louis, was outstanding.

The Hakoahs succeed as national soccer champions the New York Nationals, who were not entered in challenge cup play this year.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

I. R. T. Slumps on Decision.

New York traction stocks collapsed this afternoon when the Supreme Court ruled against the Interborough Rapid Transit Company in its seven-cent fare case. I. R. T. was hardest hit in the slump which followed the decision, the stock suffering a precipitate drop of about 25 points with no support evident in that issue and very little in the other subway shares. Brooklyn-Manhattan crashed with its sister issue. The incident had an unfavorable nfluence on the general list also, coming at a time when the trading sentiment was highly unsettled as a result of the uncertainties regarding the credit situation. The market had been a puzzling affair all day with strength apparent in certain quarters and persistent selling in others. The call money market was comparatively easy with the renewal rate at 7 per cent and this figure being maintained throughout the day despite the withdrawal of about $15,000,000 from the call market. Sharp criticism of the Reserve Board's browbeating policies were heard throughout the Street again but, while this attitude on the part of many commenters encouraged the bull traders somewhat, the latter were pretty well frightened, especially as some of them regard the money squeeze as a fanatical effort to justify an erroneous contention and are fearful that the obviously misplaced authority resting in certain hands may be used with destructive results not only to securities investors but to general business as well.

Coppers Under Pressure.

Leading copper shares were under steady selling pressure most of the day and several of them reached new lows for the current movement. The apparent lack of support was rather mystifying to the Street, but was partly explained later by publication of a report than an official of an organization known as the Mineral Research Corporation had predicted a readjustment of copper prices that would bring the selling price of the metal closer to the production cost, which he placed at around 9 cents a pound. Copper is now selling for domestic delivery at 24 cents. The official of the research corporation stated that no one could say at what level the price of copper would be established, but he ventured a suggestion of something under 17 cents. Of course, supply and demand will determine the level of prices for this and other commodities, but the Street is nervous at this time and the unfavorable interpretation placed on the remarks had the effect of stifling any bargain hunting, a form of support expected to show itself in the copper group now that the stocks are selling anywhere from 10 to 35 points under their highs for the year.

London Copper Opinion.

Notwithstanding Wall street's prediction of 25 cents for copper during April, the London Financial Times thinks the peak of activity in the metal has passed. It nevertheless warns everybody to go slow and admits possibilities of wide fluctuations pending appearance of statistics of output. Regarding tin, lead and zinc, which tumbled during the week with copper, the Financial Times thinks the decline was overdone because speculators were frightened by President Hoover's refusal to sanction the oil conservation plan.

No Time for Hasty Action.

"The Trader," in Barron's weekly, says: "The increased frequency of market breaks since early February and the reiterations of Federal Reserve warnings plainly suggest that constructive market operations are encountering this year more serious opposition than for many months. A 9 per cent time money market is an important milestone. It is no time for hasty liquidation nor for impulsive buying. But on the whole, the part of wisdom may be, later on, the search for selling rather than buying opportunities."

May Support Leaders.

A private wire to H. S. Edwards & Co., from Josephtal & Co., says: "We look for continuance of inactivity in the market with trading highly selective. Reports for the first quarter should begin to be published and find some reflection in the steel, rubber, automobile accessories and possibly automobile stocks. It seems likely that the market will receive support if necessary while the United States Steel, Am. Telephone and Anaconda financing are under way and, everything considered, we believe a conservatively bullish attitude toward the leading stocks is justified."

STOCKS ZIG-ZAG IN FIGHT FOR CONTROL

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP)—The stock market alternately blew hot and cold today as control of the price movement shifted between "bull" and "bear" forces. Neither faction was able to gain a decided advantage, due to the apparent disinclination of the outside public either to add to their commitments or to sell those already owned, with the result that the day's trading was largely professional in character.

The market headed upward at the opening, turned heavy just before midday when heavy selling cropped out in the coppers and then moved higher in the early afternoon under the leadership of the merchandising shares.

There was no change in the credit situation today. Call money renewed at 7 per cent and appeared to be in fair supply at that figure, but Wall Street was anticipating another "squeeze" around the middle of the month. The time money market was quiet, with 9 per cent quoted for all maturities.

COPPERS YIELD

Early selling of the copper shares was based on the speculative belief that the current high prices for the red metal will not be maintained. Federal Mining and Smelting broke 16 points, Greene Cananea 5⅜, Calumet and Arizona, Anaconda and Nevada dropped 3¼ to nearly 5 points and a number of others, including American Smelting, Andes, Kennecott and Inspiration, yielded 2 points or more before sufficient buying support appeared to check the tide of selling.

The rally in the rails was shortlived. Chesapeake and Ohio ran up to a new high record at 229¾ in response to the announcement that the Interstate Commerce Commission had approved the issuance of additional stock, and dropped back to 224 on profit-taking. Other rails turned quiet, pending the possibility of a decision by the United States Supreme Court in the O'Fallon case.

The brisk demand for the merchandising and chain store issues was inspired by reports of record-breaking first quarter earnings. Woolworth ran up 8 points, R. H. Macy 7, Interstate Department Stores 5¾, Julius Kayser 4¾ and Jewel Tea 4½.

AT PEAKS

New high prices for the year, or longer, were established by American Can, American - Hawaiian Steamship Company, Peaick & Ford, Marine preferred, Stromberg Carburetor and Superior Steel. American Express, which sold as low as 169 last year, opened 5 points higher at 400, dropped to 390 and then rallied to a new high record at 409.

The feature of the late trading was the slump in New York City tractions, which broke from 5 to 20 points on the unfavorable decision by the United States Supreme Court on the 7-cent fare case. The entire market was affected somewhat by the selling outbreak in this group and sank to the day's low levels. Greene Cananea and Anaconda Coppers fell over 6 points. Wright Aero 4 and Radio 4½. The closing was weak. Total sales approximated 2,500,000.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 8.—General buying on bullish reports about prospects of farm relief legislation was largely responsible today for about four cents jump in the price of wheat. Offerings of wheat future deliveries were scarce and there was a 453,000 bushels falling off in the United States visible supply, a decrease, however, that was relatively small compared with either a week or a year ago. Meanwhile, export demand today for wheat from North America was firm, but the bulge in prices checked business.

Wheat closed unsettled, 3⅝@4⅝c net higher, corn 2¼@2⅝c up, oats ⅞@2⅜c advance and provision varying from 5c decline to a rise of 7c.

Higher prices attained today in the wheat market here were in the face of lower quotations at Liverpool and despite favorable weather conditions throughout domestic wheat territory. Bearish factors, however, were of sufficient influence to cause Chicago wheat values to average lower in the early dealings. Then the attention of traders appeared to focus on Washington advices that House and Senate committees were planning to provide more than $300,000,000 revolving for operations of a federal farm board with sweeping authority to work out its own problems. It also was asserted the proposed legislation would permit the purchase and storage of grain in any quantity required in the judgment of a farm relief board to be established.

Reports of a widespread cold wave in Europe tended also to lift wheat prices today. According to dispatches at hand, the hills of Central France were covered with snow, and streams again were frozen over. The amount of wheat on ocean passage, although less than last week, was still considerably in excess of the total a year ago.

General Motors' Aircraft Plans.

Plans of Vincent Bendix and his associates, among whom General Motors is prominently mentioned, to form a giant airplane accessory company, were further disclosed with the recent announcement that directors of American Brown Boveri Company had approved the sale of 50 per cent interest in the Scintilla Magneto Company, a subsidiary, to unnamed purchasers for $2,250,000. In well informed quarters it had been understood that Scintilla was one of the properties to be included in the new corporation now being formed and little doubt was expressed that the purchasers of the stock interest were allied with Bendix. Information thus far available indicates that the formative company will be in the $100,000,000 class, but the full extent of its activities is not yet known. It is presumed that activities of the Bendix Corporation, Stromberg Carburetor, Scintilla Magneto Company and Delco, as far as they relate to aircraft, will be co-ordinated under the new company which Mr. Bendix will head. It has been said in reliable quarters that General Motors was active in aiding the Bendix plans and the inclusion of the Delco Company would give General Motors an active operative part as well. General Motors interests have co-operated with Bendix in the past, notably when they acted as agents in the purchase of control of the Eclipse Manufacturing Company, makers of the Bendix drive. How far the alignment of interests has progressed since then is a matter of current speculation and many incline to the belief that under the Bendix name, General Motors is laying the ground work for an organization which in due time will be to the aircraft business what the parent company is today to the automotive industry.

U. S. and German Gold.

In an article appearing in Barron's Financial Weekly, Hartly Withers, the internationally known English economist, supports the contention of Americans who question the need for Federal Reserve anxiety over the credit situation. The Barron's writer quotes Hon. L. T. McFadden to the effect that the main function of the Federal Reserve System is the maintenance of a proper gold reserve and control of the total volume of credit. But the American gold reserve is not in danger, nor are commodity prices rising. There is, therefore, no reason why the Federal Reserve System should be concerned about the condition of the stock market or the security loan market. "So long as the producers and distributors of goods are amply supplied with credit, why should bankers trouble themselves about the extent of speculative activities?" To the world at large, the Barron's article concludes, the question is much bigger than that of speculative excess. "With an enormous gold stock, and with all the world her debtor, America screws up rates and sucks in gold that she does not want. Germany, with a more than ample gold stock, keeps the Reichbank's rate at 6½ per cent and draws on her balances abroad rather than part with gold." In consequence, high money rates hamper business in England and elsewhere, and the gold standard is more and more criticized as obsolete. "If it is condemned as involving hardship to the real producers, heaven knows what half-baked schemes may be adopted by politicians to take its place."

Fourth Reserve District.

The pace of business in the Fourth District in March was at least equal to if not greater than February, after allowing for seasonal differences, says the monthly bulletin of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank. Employment generally was at a high point and operations in most industries were above the level of a year ago. Steel mills in mid-March were having some difficulty in keeping up with orders, even though their output was at practical capacity in numerous instances. The marked recovery in the rail equipment industry continued, with orders for locomotives and freight cars much larger than for months. Tire output was large, and motor accessory concerns were very busy. February sales of new passenger cars were about 50 per cent larger than a year ago. Coal prices in March were a little firmer; domestic demand was good and industrial buying continued steady. Orders for electrical supplies were heavy, being well above last year at this time. Plate glass manufacturers have been receiving large automotive orders. Paint and varnish manufacturers are confident, dealers' stocks are low, and spring business is developing satisfactorily. Unfavorable spots are few, the most important being in the building industry. This trade has continued to run behind last year, building permits in February showing a decrease of 16 per cent. Business in March was slow in the shoe trade; wholesale trade was less than last year in February, and retail clothing sales were irregular as compared with last year.

Anomalous Market Situation.

Notwithstanding its showing of gratifying power to resist and recover from, severe pressure, the securities market continues to show the effects of credit disturbance and of sustained high rates for money, says Henry Clews & Co. There seems to be every reason for supposing that it will suffer in much the same way from time to time, so long as the policies and methods which have brought on the present state of affairs remain in effect. There is, thus far, no indication of early change in them. Notwithstanding most encouraging industrial and corporate developments, the unsettlement of mind among banking leaders and the doubt as to a future course of action which clearly exist, render it difficult for the financial community to know what to expect. The result naturally is to render a troublesome state of things even more trying. Yet the outlook for trade and commerce in many lines was never better, and the public at large apparently feels as much confidence in the outlook as at any time, while some of the obstacles that had been in the way of market advance, as for instance in the oil group, are just at this moment in a fair way to be removed. This makes an anomalous market situation.

$50,000,000 Chicago Offering.

The largest municipal bond offering of the year was the marketing today of $50,000,000 city of Chicago tax anticipation warrants through a nation-wide syndicate headed by Lehman Bros. The notes, bearing interest of 5¾ and 6 per cent, are priced to yield 5.60 per cent for all maturities. The city's taxes are pledged for payment of the interest and principal of the notes. Aside from the offering of the $50,000,000 Chicago notes, new municipal financing scheduled for the week shows a marked decline to $18,475,940, compared with $27,244,492 in the past week and a weekly average of $25,880,857 since January 1. The biggest piece of financing among the offerings of 55 communities seeking funds is the $3,000,000 Pittsburgh school district 4½s, scheduled for award on Thursday. Insurance companies continue to be the most active purchasers of municipal bonds.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP.)—The raw sugar market was steady and unchanged to 3.58c for spots duty paid. There was not much inquiry, however, and the only sale reported was 14,000 bags of Philippines for June-July shipment to an operator at 3.83c, delivered.

The raw sugar futures market opened 1 point lower to 2 points higher on covering and trade buying, promoted by steadier London cables and reports of a better demand for refined. Offerings increased on the upturn, however, and following the call, prices eased off, and at one time all active positions were 1 point below the previous close, under Cuban selling, with the list at midday about net unchanged.

The market for refined sugar was unchanged at 4.90c for fine granulated with a better withdrawal demand reported.

Politics to Hurt Stocks? Prosperity Still Vigorous.

By B. C. FORBES

WITHIN a week Wall Street will have to share public attention with Washington. Wall Street inevitably will receive attention from Washington. Excesses always bring punishment, and politicians are eager to chastise those chiefly responsible for the stock speculation orgy which long thrilled but which litterly has distracted the country.

Can Congress do much damage to the stock market?

THE worst enemy of finance is uncertainty. It was called the "Coolidge Boom," because Coolidge had a pacifying effect upon national sentiment. For years not only Wall Street, but big business and high finance have been little disturbed by Washington. But in the longer past Washington precipitated as many disturbances in Wall Street as even the money market.

Those of us whose experiences antedate the war have vivid recollections of spasms of extreme financial nervousness over actual or threatened political action. Therefore, it is not possible to view the coming session of Congress with entire equanimity in view of recent stock speculation and its effect upon the money market and upon various politicians. Although the session was called for two specific purposes, everything indicates that "Wall Street" will be viciously attacked and, more serious, that bellicose attempts will be made to interfere with our existing federal reserve statutes.

THE writer does not believe that a majority of the Senate and the House will indorse any drastic changes in our banking laws. The possibility, even the probability, is that no amendment whatsoever will be passed. But it would be assuming too much to conclude that looming threatenings at Washington will not have any adverse influence upon confidence, upon stock speculation.

UNDER these circumstances, and taking into consideration the wholly normal condition of America's money market, it would be rash to conclude that unsettlement in the stock market is over.

If past history counts for anything—many claim that it doesn't—a 9 per cent rate for money borrowed for 60 days to six months is extremely ominous. That charge is of more serious import than the violent fluctuations in call rates. Ardent speculators don't worry a great deal about having to pay stiff rates for day-to-day loans over heavy settlement dates, provided they know that an adequate supply will be forthcoming. But a 9 per cent charge for time money, combined with a stiff call rate, becomes disheartening. On top of this is the constant shaking of the big stick by the Federal Reserve Board and also for eerie expansion in "bootleg" loans in Wall Street.

FOR months the writer described the stock market as offering plenty of opportunities for speculation but few opportunities for attractive investment. He would go farther now; he does not believe that the market at the moment is attractive from either a speculative or an investment point of view.

IN a private conversation several months ago, Secretary Mellon foretold that one of the first observable effects of dear money would be the slowing down of building. That has now developed.

Apart from this, however, and the chaos in oil, industry and business in general continue to show very impressive vitality. Motor production is still breaking all records. Railway traffic, despite motor competition, shows a gain over last year. Public utility companies report substantial increases in sales of power. Agricultural conditions, by and large, are on the mend. Unemployment has been loudly complained of this winter and the latest reports are more than normally favorable.

MANY companies, especially large companies, are increasing their dividend payments. March failure statistics are unusually encouraging. Our foreign trade is making an excellent showing and although there will be much talk, few disturbing tariff changes are likely to be made. (Incidentally domestic sugar growers declare they have assurances that their efforts are to receive tariff encouragement.)

Happily, our unusual measure of business activity has been achieved without any unhealthy stimulous from inflation of the general price level—very important.

IF stock speculation would only cease to force its way on the front pages of the newspapers and into Washington's halls of wisdom, the country's prospects would be most inspiring. The popular song says: "It all depends on you." A lot depends on Wall Street and its behavior.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 8.—(AP.)—The curb market encountered considerable liquidation and turned heavy after a fairly strong opening today. Although call money renewed at 7 per cent, the lowest renewal rate in about three weeks, continued firmness of time money at 9 per cent was regarded as still indicating extremely sensitive conditions in the money market.

The Ford Motor issues were again spectacular performers. The new class B stock rose nearly 25 points to a record price at 104⅞ by midday, and the old stock jumped 50 points to a new peak at 1225, then reacted to 1200. Other motor stocks, however, were inclined to heaviness, Checker Cab and Durant both showing fractional declines.

Deere jumped 15 points to 580, but other industrials generally sagged. Irving Air Chute was an exception, showing firmness on announcement of a large order from the Russian government. U. S. Freight lost 3 points, and Zenith Radio, Timken Detroit Axle, Gold Seal Electric and Trans Lux eased.

Oil stocks were buoyant early in the session, but lost much of their gains later. Gulf, Imperial and Humble advanced 2 to 6 points before reacting. In the mines, Newmont rallied to 197, then eased off from the top. Noranda was firm. Utilities were dull and heavy, American Superpower issues, Electric Bond and Share and Electric Investors yielding from 1 to 2 points.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

TWO BURNED IN OIL BLAST

Two men were burned, one seriously, last midnight, when an explosion occurred in the greasing pit of the Apfel and Fehl gasoline station at South Braddock and Monongahela avenues, Swissvale.

The men were engaged in cleaning the pit with gasoline and when a light fell in the pit, causing a spark, the explosion resulted.

Oscar Filer, of 1304 Macon street, is in a critical condition in the Columbia Hospital. John Lang, of McClure avenue, Swissvale, was burned about the hands and body. Filer was in the pit when the explosion occurred. He leaped out with his clothing ablaze. Lang was burned when he rolled Filer in an ash heap to extinguish the flames.

Swissvale firemen, under Chief Peter McGurk, answered the alarm and had a difficult time in keeping the flames from spreading to the service station building and the pumps leading to seven large underground tanks. The firemen extinguished the blaze with a smothering dust. Chief McGurk estimated the damage at $2,000.

W. S. Gifford Denies Merger of T. & T.

NEW YORK, April 8.—W. S. Gifford, president of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, when asked about reports that have appeared involving the company in a merger of communication companies, stated:

"Statements involving the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in a merger of communications are entirely without foundation. The company does not own directly or indirectly any stock or other interest in the Radio Corporation of America, International Telephone and Telegraph or Western Union Telegraph Company. So far as it is concerned it is directing its attentions and energies primarily to furnishing the people of this country at the least cost the best and most telephone service possible, including connection by radio and cable with telephones in Europe and wherever else such connections are practical."

Congress Coal Price Regulation Upheld

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The power of Congress to fix maximum coal prices during the World War was upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court today in deciding the case of Highland against the Russell Car and Snowplow Company.

The case presented to the court the question whether Congress might fix minimum prices for coal during the war period under the Lever act without providing compensation for those who except for the prices fixed by the government might have sold their coal for higher prices.

CHAIN STORES AT NEW POINT IN GROWTH

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

CHAIN stores are entering a new phase of their development. The story of the chain stores from the beginning of the present era of expansion has been one of the constant additions of new units to each organization. The future growth will be in sales in the individual units.

THIS summarizes an analysis of the chain stores made by L. L. Jay, president of the American Department Stores Corporation. "The limit of chain store expansion has not been reached by any means," Mr. Jay stated, "but there are indications that its growth is beginning to approach more normal levels. The expansion of the chain store since the World War has been amazingly rapid, but now it has reached a point where it is probable that growth will be more in line with the increase in general business and prosperity."

MR. JAY'S comments bring to mind the fact that the tremendous increases in chain sales have been chiefly brought about through the opening of new stores. Obviously no business could continue year in and year out, regardless of general conditions, to show sales increases ranging from 10 per cent to 70 per cent, as many of the leading chain organizations have done, without adding a proportionate number of new stores. The growth of individual units has, of course, shown no such persistent progress as this.

THE numerous mergers, completed and projected, seem to indicate that greater attention is being given to methods for increasing profit and there is not as great a tendency towards increasing the number of units in any one chain in Mr. Jay's opinion.

"GREATER stress is being placed on increase in sales volume today than ever before in the chain store business, and it is my opinion that the year 1929 will show increases in sales volume which are far in excess of the increases in units of the chain systems," he said.

"THIS intensification of merchandising already seems to be in progress. The Chain Store Research Bureau estimates that the increase in chain store units during 1928 was 12.2 per cent. The increase in chain store sales volume was considerably in excess of this. Various estimates of chain store sales volume increase for last year have been made, ranging as high as 29 per cent. One study shows that a group of 30 leading chain systems increased their volume 18.1 per cent last year, and individual chains have had a much greater increase in sales, the American Department Stores Corporation averaging 41.7 per cent."

THAT this second period in chain development is likely to result in greater profits for many of the systems without the necessity for new capital investment, was indicated by Mr. Jay. "The chain store in America has established its prestige. Expansion in units for purposes of prestige is no longer necessary. Effort can now be concentrated on increased sales volume, with expansion in units when advisable, and the result must be a consequent increase in prosperity for chain systems," Mr. Jay concluded.

THE Pennsylvania Railroad showed a remarkably good gain in earnings last year but 1929 has been started with even better prospects. During most of 1928 the road had to meet falling traffic with more efficient operating methods. Thus, while gross revenues slumped $14,283,707, an increase in net income after all charges of $14,347,317 was shown.

IN January and February no such problem was faced by the officials of the company. Total operating revenue actually showed an increase of $5,957,706 as compared with the same months of 1928. Expenses were kept down with the result that net, after taxes and rents but before interest charges for the two months, showed a growth of $3,998,119. March was another good month for traffic and the outlook for the second quarter is bright so that the Pennsylvania Railroad is likely to show continued progress during the first half of this year.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 8.—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 7 to 13 points, with active months selling at about 12 to 14 points below Saturday's closing quotations during the first few minutes under liquidation combined with some local and commission house selling. This seemed to be inspired by the indifferent showing of Liverpool and a favorable view of the early weather map as rains reports in the Southwest were considered more beneficial than otherwise.

July eased off to 19.76 and December to 19.72, but there was trade buying of near months at the decline. The market was quiet at the end of the first half hour, with prices showing rallies of four or five points on covering.

Private cables reported liquidation and hedging in Liverpool and complained of a continued small turnover in cotton cloths and yarns.

The market was quiet, but rather steadier late in the morning, with prices working up a few points from the lowest on covering, while there also seemed to be some further trade buying of near months. July advanced to 19.84c and October to 19.75c, or within 4 points of Saturday's closing quotations and the market was steady at net declines of about 3 to 6 points at midday.

PRICES GENERALLY FIRM IN LOCAL STOCK MARKET

Narrow price movements and a curtailed volume of transactions marked the dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange at the opening of the new week today.

There was no definite trading attitude reflected in the quotations during the forenoon, although the majority of changes, small as they were, were in the upward direction. Lone Star Gas came into the market at a large fractional decline, but not much of the stock changed hands. On the other hand, Pittsburgh Plate Glass was fractionally higher with only a moderate amount of stock available at or near current quotations. Pittsburgh Plate will derive considerable benefit from its activities in the automobile safety glass field, along with the du Pont interests, and tariff changes under contemplation are also a factor influencing long-pull accumulation of a more or less cautious nature.

The heavy industrials opened the week with a show of firmness. Standard Steel Spring was up a full point on its initial transaction, but there was no evidence that traders were anxious to push the issue as was the case a few weeks ago. Aluminum Goods scored a moderate gain and Blaw Knox was up a small fraction on light trading. Armstrong Cork held its position around 65 which appears to be the current "peg" price.

There was no change in the attitude toward the Arkansas Gas issues. The common covered a narrow range slightly above the price at which additional shares are to be offered to stockholders, and the preferred was handled around 8, the price at which it has been selling for a month.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow today at the Pittsburgh wholesale produce district. No changes were made in the quotations.

The poultry market was steady, demand fair, supplies nominal and prices remaining about the same.

The butter, egg and cheese markets were easy, demand fair and slight changes in the quotations.

RESERVE BOARD STOCK POLICY ATTACKED

CHICAGO, April 8.—(AP.)—A resolution demanding an investigation of the Federal Reserve Board's policy tending to curb stock market speculation will be presented by Congressman Frank R. Reid, of Illinois, at the forthcoming special session of Congress.

"The present action of the Federal Reserve Board may be as unwise as the drastic deflation policy charged to it in 1920," Congressman Reid said yesterday. "The country has not yet fully recovered from the paralysis inflicted upon agriculture by its policy then."

He charged that the board had exceeded its powers in forcing call money to 20 per cent and that the action was reflected in usurious rates of interest on commercial loans.

The resolution will call for the appointment of a select committee of nine members of Congress, and the committee would be required to report to Congress the answers to eight specific questions of a technical nature.

Congressman Reid proposes to show by the answers that the current stock market speculation is not inconsistent with sound banking.

He asks the committee in his resolution to determine whether the board is unduly influenced by conditions abroad and asserts the Federal Reserve policy has improved British credit conditions to the detriment of the United States.

BOMB ADDRESED TO ROOSEVELT

BOMB FOUND IN PARCEL ADDRESSED TO GOVERNOR

A porter in the general post office, New York, when sweeping accidentally with a broom exploded a percussion cap in this package, addressed to Gov. Roosevelt. A powerful dynamite bomb did not explode and the parcel was soaked in water and opened.

BOMB MAILED N.Y. GOVERNOR FOUND 'DUD'

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 8.—While Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, with characteristic courage, manifested no alarm over the bomb addressed to him at Albany and mailed to him in this city, it developed today that the bomb was more or less a "dud." After careful tests, the police and the postal authorities agreed that "there wasn't one chance in a million of it exploding."

The authorities believe it was intended only as a "scare bomb" and was in line with other attempts to intimidate the executive. The bomb was found in parcel post matter at the main postoffice here yesterday by accident, when a porter stepped on a package and set it afire.

Police determined to run the bomb perpetrator down, however. It was learned that recently a post card threatening his life was sent to the Governor. Also, the police wanted to know more concerning the incendiary fire that destroyed the $100,000 home of the Governor's son-in-law, C. B. Dall, at Mount Pleasant, N. Y.

Several threatening letters have been received by the governor since he took over the reins of the state government on January 1. He paid little attention to them, however, and had them placed in the so-called "crank" file in the executive chamber at the capitol.

Although the discovery of the bomb failed to ruffle the governor, Mrs. Roosevelt has been alarmed considerably by the incident. It is understood she has suggested police protection in the future when the governor is at their New York City home or their country home at Hyde Park.

GIANT PRISONER FELLS OFFICER

Enraged at being questioned in the detention room of Central Police Station today, Samuel Muro, giant Italian, of 627 Sulsmon street, felled one police sergeant and battled another before being subdued.

Muro, who stands more than 6 feet and weighs 250 pounds, seized Sergt. Warren Connors, of Morals Court, by the throat, threw him to the floor and beat him, it is alleged. He attacked Sergt. John McNertney when the latter ran to aid Connors, but the two overpowered him.

Muro and Dorothy Marshall, Negro, of 1545 Wylie avenue, arrested as suspicious persons early today, had been sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse in lieu of $50 fines each by Magistrate A. D. Brandon.

2 FIGHTING FIRE INJURED

Two firemen were hurt slightly today while fighting a blaze at the home of G. E. Lefevre, 5912 Douglass avenue, Squirrel Hill. James P. Pobin received lacerations on the right hand requiring a stitch, and Leonard Spruce was cut on the left hand. Both men belong to Engine Company No. 34, Northumberland avenue, and returned to duty after their injuries were dressed by City Physician James W. Clark.

The fire, which started in rubbish under the rear porch and spread to the kitchen and laundry, caused $2,000 damage, according to Battalion Chief Fred S. Beckett.

J. D. DISTRIBUTES POETRY WRITTEN BY SERVANT GIRL

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 8.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller, who has been known in recent years as a distributor of new dimes, has turned to poetry.

Several dozen cards, bearing a 12-line poem said by the aged millionaire to have been written "by an English servant girl," were in the hands of Lakewood residents today.

Mr. Rockefeller appeared on the steps of the First Baptist Church with the cards in his hands yesterday after services. He handed one to a newspaperman and asked him to read it to the gathering. Mr. Rockefeller broke in with an occasional "Isn't that wonderful?" or "Isn't that beautiful?"

When the reporter had finished reading the poem, he received a 10-cent piece for himself, one for his wife and one for his child. Distribution of the cards followed. This is the poem:

"I do it unto Thee.
"Lord of all pots and pans and things, since I've no time to be,
"A saint by doing lovely things or watching late with Thee,
"Or dreaming in the twilight or storming heaven's gates,
"Make me a saint by getting meals or washing up the place.
"Although I must have Martha's hands, I have a Mary mind;
"And when I black the boots and shoes, thy sandals, Lord, I find,
"I think of how they trod the earth, what time I scrub the floor:
"Accept this meditation, Lord, I haven't time for more.
"Warm all the kitchen with Thy love and light it with thy peace;
"Forgive me all my worrying, and make all grumbling cease.
"Thou who didst love to give men food, in room or by the sea,
"Accept this service that I do—I do it unto Thee."

BUGS BAER Says

WHITE SAILS IN THE HARBOR

(Copyright, 1929.)

"Bugs" Baer

HAVING little to do today, we must protest against the government making a bowling alley out of New York Bay.

While Stuyvesant Fish was rowing his new yacht past the Statue of Liberty, two cannon balls went capering by his boat.

This flowery ammunition was broadcast by an internal revenue boat and as Rear Admiral Billard remarked:

"If that's a welcome to New York, then it's bad billiards."

Stuyvesant, having no staff of diplomats, had naturally not expected any trouble.

What made him angry was the location of the battle. He doesn't mind a fight but he doesn't want the Statue of Liberty to be the referee.

The Fish boat was captured, searched and then allowed to proceed. If this is going to happen to yachtsmen this summer, we do not blame President Hoover for giving up the Mayflower.

We happen to know that the government has great difficulty in stopping the boothootchers from escorting contraband of thirst into New York harbor.

The rumjumpers own fast boats, swift motor cars and very quick airplanes.

But the government will not have anything big to worry about until the boozehoppers buy a railroad.

At the time that the Fish boat was being bracketed by the United States targetters, Mrs. Fish and the children were on the yacht.

A government apology would probably read like this, "We did it for the wife and kiddies."

It looks as if the government was determined to win a naval battle even if it has to fight it on the Erie Canal.

There are some very nice swan boats in Central Park that have been acting impudently lately.

Why doesn't the League of Nations get together and appoint a mandate over the Vesper Boat Club on the Skuylkill?

If the blockade gets any tougher and stricter, a man will have to nail his citizenship papers on his back when he crosses over on a Hudson River ferry and carry an American flag with him into the bath tub.

The Mexicans have a better idea about war than we have. At least, they know where their wars are taking place.

We thoroughly understand that there must be gunplay under present conditions, but why not give us a chance to either enlist or claim exemption?

When you meet a South American, he will say—

"Buenos dias. Como esta usted?" This means, "Well, well, well! Long time no see."

To which you reply—

"Muy bien. How's tricks?"

This means, "Very good. How are they stacking up, Old Timer?"

He will doubtless answer.

Elihu Root's Proposition Is Invitation to League Court to Assume Control Over Our National Life

The greatest curse of the late war was not its cost in American lives and treasure.

Its greatest curse was the production of a race of internationalists in the United States, people who spend their lives working to get us involved in more of Europe's brawls.

They fought to get us into the League of Nations until the people spoke in the Presidential elections of 1920 and 1924.

They fought to get us into the League's World Court and almost succeeded. In 1926 the Senate voted to join the Court, but with "reservations," designed to protect us from some of the more obvious harm that the League's Court could do us.

Chief of the reservations was Number Five, which forbade the League council from even asking the Court to give an "advisory opinion" on any subject in which the United States claimed an interest—unless we consented to it.

The purpose was to prevent a court of 10 foreigners and one American from issuing "advisory opinions" affecting the world's judgment on such subjects as our right to exclude the Japanese, our right to have a protective tariff, and the right of our government to collect from European governments the money owed us.

The Senate saw we could be morally bound to abide by any opinion rendered by a court with an American judge on it. Many real Americans would fall for the internationalists' hue and cry that the United States must take its medicine. The "advisory opinion" was a neat scheme for Europe to run our affairs as it chose. Hence the reservation.

Now we have a new proposition from the League of Nations, framed by the internationalist lawyer, Elihu Root. He went to Geneva at the invitation of the League. Mr. Root has before been called on to accomplish by devious means what big interests could not accomplish directly.

Mr. Root, aided by Sir Cecil Hurst, famous British lawyer, proposes that we give up our right to absolutely prevent advisory opinions. Our representative, sitting in the council of the League of Nations, is to be allowed to protest against the giving of any advisory opinion that displeases us, but the World Court can go ahead and prepare its opinion over our protest. If we do not like it, we can withdraw from the Court. Thereupon the opinion will be published to the world and the United States branded as a quitter.

The obvious expectation, openly expressed in Geneva, is that we will not face the world's criticism, and will never withdraw once we have joined the Court. If we take the Root substitute for Reservation Five, we are expected to stay and hear the Court's opinion and follow it.

The Root-Hurst plan is an abandonment of American interests, an invitation to the League's 10-1 anti-American Court to assume control over our national life.

Elihu Root, a gentleman who is politically known as the Root of all evil, is working as usual for the international bankers and the privileged interests.

Prompt Decision Need On Unjust Bus Rates

The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company today begins operation of an additional line—to Bellevue—for which the same unfair rate of 25 cents per passenger that prevails on the other lines of this company will be charged. A protest has been filed against the proposed tariff, but, as yet, no date for a hearing thereon has been set by the Public Service Commission. In the interest of the public this should be soon. Justice or injustice of a rate that is all out of proportion to that charged for similar service in other cities is something that should be established quickly.

The public is optimistic enough to believe that the Public Service Commission will find the 25-cent bus fare grossly unreasonable. It can be shown that it has given the company an outrageously high return even in the face of an arbitrary depreciation charge against equipment that is far too great, judging by the experience in other cities.

Should the decision be in favor of the public there would be relief for bus passengers of other lines operated in the city by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, since it could not reasonably charge some passengers a higher fare than others.

In spite of revelations of the Sun-Telegraph survey in other cities, showing that 10 cents was the customary fare for service equal to and, in some places, surpassing that given by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, which is a subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the company never has given a reasonable explanation of why it was necessary to charge 150 per cent more here than a rate that is profitable in other cities. Nor even why it has to charge more than another Pittsburgh company, which has a cash fare of 20 cents and a token fare of 15 cents.

In the face of all of these facts, it would seem that the company cares little for public opinion when it begins the operation of another line with 25 cents as the tentative fare.

Let's Clean Up Our City And Then Keep It Clean

Spring cleaning time has arrived. Let's clean up and stay clean. This is not addressed to the housewife, who needs no such urging, but to the city of Pittsburgh. Many of our streets need to be thoroughly cleaned and then to be kept clean.

Our sanitary officers should look into some back yards and vacant lots in the downtown district. Accumulations of rubbish will be found that constitute both a menace to health and a fire hazard, besides being most unsightly. Recently we had a very windy day. Our streets became filled with litter. A great deal of it came from the kind of places referred to.

Rubbish collectors should be warned that they must be more careful about their work. In loading their wagons they allow waste to drop and drive on. The city is paying a good price for having such collections made and it should get good service.

There is no reason why a city should not keep clean. Certainly water is plentiful enough for flushing the streets. Certainly negligent property owners have no right to permit accumulations of rubbish that any wind can carry to another property that is neat and tidy.

LET'S CLEAN UP AND STAY CLEAN.

Limited Language

New Tongue for Commercial and Travelers' Use Might Serve Purpose.

How many words are absolutely essential in a modern language. There are 700,000 in English, but half of them are scientific or obsolete. German has 150,000 and French 210,000 words. In all, there are 3,204 languages and dialects in the world.

So the composition of a new tongue for universal communication with only 500 words may be worthy of limited consideration. Prof. C. K. Ogden, who has arranged it uses operators, names, qualifiers and common things instead of verbs, nouns, adjectives and adverbs.

As a supplemental language intended for commercial and travelers' use this new system, called Panoptic, might serve a purpose, but it never can displace the great, beautiful, complete languages developed through endless years.

Tales That Are Told

By Installments

ALL the morning she had been trying to teach her small pupils the mysteries of simple addition.

One small boy seemed far behind the others at grasping even the simplest ideas.

"Look here, Bobby!" she said, for the fifth time. "Let's suppose your father saves $50 every week for four weeks. What will he have at the end of that time?"

Bobby had his answer ready.

"A new suit, a radio and new furniture for the house," he replied proudly.

Correctly Described

THEY had met again after the week-end, and were talking about the brief respite.

"Met a couple of nice people yesterday," commented Wendell. "A male and a freemale."

His friend looked at him queerly.

"Freemale," he echoed doubtfully. "You mean male and female, don't you?"

"No, replied the other, with a grin; "one was married and the other wasn't, see?"

Obvious

THE street car conductor having a full load on his car, was not in the mood to deal with passengers asking unreasonable or silly questions.

At a certain point a fussy woman, an angry look on her face, rose to alight. Brandishing an umbrella in the conductor's face, she shouted:—

"Stop the car at once! Why didn't you tell me I had passed the fare stage?

"Well, ma'am," replied the conductor. "I should say you passed the 'fair' stage about 20 years ago—or else you never reached it!"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

ED STRATTON'S a remarkable fellow.

Ever since he was a little lad, people prophesized great things for him.

When he graduated with the highest honors in his class, we all thought he had the world by the tail.

But somehow he hasn't landed.

Ed says it's because he hasn't had the breaks.

But perhaps if you followed him around for a day you'd have a different theory.

Ed has ideas about the way things should be done.

They're clever ideas, far more clever than the average chap's.

There's no doubt that if Ed had been God he'd have been a humdinger.

But Ed isn't God.

Nor are his ideas the only ideas in the world.

They are in constant competition with an enormous mass of other ideas, most of which are rather careless and sloppy.

For carelessness and sloppiness Edward has no use.

He won't tolerate it—he won't compromise with it. He wants things done in his excellent way or not at all.

As a consequence they're not done at all.

No one man, however brilliant, can monopolize the whole arena or direct the whole show.

Ed's career, like that of many clever people, is being frustrated because he hasn't learned that fundamental law of adaptability.

Adaptability is the secret of physical as well as mental evolution.

Life on this planet has undergone terrific changes and upheavals.

Ages of intense heat and intense cold, continual wetness, perpetual drought—

Animals survived those changes not by their great strength or by their sharp wits, but by their ability and willingness to adapt themselves to change.

The infinitely remote animal ancestor from which man probably came was a tiny mammal hardly bigger than a rat. It survived the terrific ice age by growing hair which would repel the cold, and by modifying its habits. The great reptiles, who had lorded it over the world before the ice cap came down, did not survive. They had both brains and brawn, but they couldn't change their ways. So evolution went on and left them behind.

No matter how important you are, you are only one small cog in the enormous mechanism of life.

You will get nothing for yourself out of that mechanism unless you adapt yourself to the other cogs.

Whether you like it or not, your fate is enmeshed with the lives of millions of other beings.

Their necessity is your necessity—their opportunity is your opportunity.

You cannot isolate yourself—you cannot strike out and make a separate destiny. You must adapt yourself if you would hope to survive.

All your brilliancy will not avail you if you refuse to adapt.

Life hasn't set her stage for any one man's profit. We are all part of her great plan. Play in with that plan and Life will give you your chance. Refuse to change or adjust and she will leave you behind—to rot in your swamp as the dinosaurs rotted.

Bible Passages

Promise of Godliness

(Proverbs 2; 1-22)

MY son, if thou will receive my words and hide my commandments with thee;

So that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding;

Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding;

If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures;

Then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.

For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding.

He layeth up sound wisdom for the righteous: he is a buckler to them that walk uprightly.

He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preserveth the way of his saints.

Then shalt thou understand righteousness, and judgment, and equity; yea, every good path.

When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul;

Discretion shall preserve thee, understanding shall keep the:

To deliver thee from the way of the evil man, from the man that speaketh froward things;

Who leave the paths of uprightness, to walk in the ways of darkness;

Who rejoice to do evil, and delight in the frowardness of the wicked;

Whose ways are crooked, and they froward in their paths:

That thou mayest walk in the way of good men, and keep the paths of the righteous.

For the upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it.

But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 8.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and came letters from Bluch, the clown, in London, and from an irritated gentleman who dubbed me a square head, a good one on him, for it is the precise shape of an egg. And Maj. Bowes telephoned an offer to become a movietone monologist.

What professorial gentlemen call "pedestrianic psychology" is an interesting study in crowded centers. There is a la-de-dah shop on the avenue with a heavy patronage for years, but its backers decided to swell the dividends. It moved directly across the street and business doubled. A certain type of store will not prosper on certain sides of the street and prosper on the other. There are stores that fail on corner sites and others—like the cigar store—that rarely prosper in any other location.

Nothing is so indicative of the Bowery's decay than the scrofulous fronted old Chinese theater. At night an orange splash of light from feeble gas jets may be seen from the sidewalk, but otherwise it has the abandoned dreariness of a brewery. Inside the depths of gloom and dirt, however, the Chinese drama carries on. To aliens the plays seem acted in a slipshod fashion. Sometimes an actor quits the stage to hop out into the audience to chat with a friend. Patrons talk out loud during tense scenes and nobody appears interested. It is more a meeting place for the lonely, longing for their own people. During intermissions hawkers go through the aisles selling spiced apricots and melon seeds. If a baby cries, the players stop and talk to each other with no show of annoyance until the crying ceases.

It used to be a part of a slumming trip to drop in at the Chinese theater for a scene or so. But the night I was there there were no other Occidentals, and the doorman eyed me, sullenly accepting my ticket.
